LONDON, Oct. 20.—A message has been received at the Foreign Office confirming a report that the Premier of Portugal, Antonio Granjo, was assassinated during the rioting yesterday that resulted in the formation of a new Ministry.

From an announcement made tonight by the Portuguese Minister in London, it appears that the program of the new Portuguese Government will be as follows: Organization of all services of the public administration in order to insure the utmost economy; prompt solution of the problem of the budgetary taxes and custom duties; diminution in all public expenses in order to reduce the deficit; deal with the problem of the excess of public functionaries; definitely fix the economic policy, both internally and externally, carrying out treaties and conventions in harmony with that policy; immediate initiation of a plan of national development and reorganization of the army and navy in harmony with the necessities of the country.

Founder of Republic Killed.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—According to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Paris, several of the Cabinet Ministers were killed in Lisbon during the disorders of Wednesday, including Antonio Granjo, Premier and Minister of the Interior, and Machado dos Santos, founder of the Portuguese Republic and once its President.

A Reuter dispatch from Madrid quotes a Lisbon report as saying that Jose Carlos Maia, former Minister of Marine and of the Colonies, and Carlos Silva also were assassinated, and that Cunha Leal, former Minister of Finance, was wounded.

Colonel Manuel Coelho, as Premier and Minister of the Interior, heads the new Portuguese Cabinet, according to dispatches to the Portuguese Legation. Dispatches from Paris describe Coelho as a Monarchist leader, but the Portuguese Legation here states that he is a Republican and has been associated with the Republican régime.

Minister of Justice, Vasco de Vasconcellos.
Minister of Finance, Francisco Antonio Correi.
Foreign Minister, Viega Simoes.
Minister of Commerce and Labor, Pires Carvalho.
Minister of War, Colonel Oliveira Simoes.
Minister of Marine, Macedo Pinto.
Minister of the Colonies, Maia Pinto.
Minister of Instruction, Joas de Deus Ramos.
Minister of Agriculture, Antao de Carvalho.

Sailors Fire on Crowd.

BADAJOZ, Spain, Oct. 20.—Serious disorders attended the military movement against the Portuguese Government, which broke out in Lisbon on Wednesday, it is said in advices received here. The trouble began when the Café Brasileira, a political rendezvous, was closed, citizens and the Republican guard coming into collision. In the ensuing demonstration there was considerable rifle and revolver firing, but the number of casualties is not known here. Sailors became involved in the street fighting and went to their vessels, seized weapons and fired upon a crowd, wounding a number of persons.

Students and police also came to blows, and many were injured. The police have placed numerous persons suspected of being involved in the disorders under arrest.

LISBON, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—The new Cabinet, constituted on a non-party basis, has annulled the legislative elections of July 10 and all judicial acts of the present Parliament. The President of the Republic signed a decree Wednesday night appoining the new Ministers.

The Foreign, Interior, War and Marine Ministers have already assumed their portfolios. At 3 o'clock this morning the Republican Guard re-entered its quarters.

Seven Premiers Since Jan. 1.

Since the beginning of the year Portugal, which has been a republic since Oct. 5, 1910, has had no fewer than seven Premiers, at least three of whom came into office after incipent revolutions. The base of the trouble has been national rather than personal economics, and this basis has been made the repeated excuse for the overthrow of Governments, because the share of those who had put a ministry in power did not come up to expectations.

Indeed, the condition of affairs was so bad that political and social events which otherwise would have been of interest abroad were not even reported by the news agencies supposed to have correspondents at Lisbon.

The present outburst, which followed a less serious one in May, when it was reported that Machado dos Santos, the founder of the republic, also reported slain, had seized the Presidential power, had its inception then.

The July elections, which are reported to have been annulled by the new and possibly Royalist Cabinet under Colonel Coelho, was a victory for the Liberal or Government group led by Senhor Barros

DE VALERA WARNS POPE ABOUT KING

DENIES ALL ALLEGIANCE

London Times Calls Message Insulting and Will Only Please the Irreconcilables.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

DUBLIN, Oct. 20.—Eamon de Valera has dispatched the following message to the Pope:

"The people of Ireland have read the message sent by your Holiness to the King of Great Britain and appreciate your kindly interest in their welfare and the paternal regard which suggested it. I tender to your Holiness their gratitude.

"They are confident that the ambiguities in the reply sent in the name of King George will not mislead you, as it may the uninformed, into believing that the troubles are in Ireland or that the people of Ireland owe allegiance to the British King.

"The independence of Ireland has been formally proclaimed by the regularly elected representatives of the people of Ireland and ratified by subsequent plebiscites. The troubles between Ireland and Britain have their source in the fact that the rulers of Britain have sought to impose their will upon Ireland and by brutal force have endeavored to rob her people of the liberty which is their natural right and their ancient heritage.

"We long to be at peace and in friendship with the people of Britain, as with other peoples, but the same constancy through persecution and martyrdom that has proved the reality of our people's attachment to the faith of their fathers proves the reality of their attachment to their national freedom, and no consideration will ever induce them to abandon it."

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The London Times, whose attitude with respect to the Irish claims, short of complete separation, has been habitually friendly, scores Mr. de Valera in a severe editorial for his telegram to the Pope, which it imagines "will fill his Holiness with dismay and certainly arouse the indignation of the people of this country and the dominions.

"Toward the Pope himself," says The Times, "it is an act of impertinence, and toward the King, whose solicitude for the Irish people needs no proof, it is unmannerly to the point of churlishness."

The paper asks what value will attach to Mr. de Valera's assurance that he wishes peace and friendship with the British, when he "deliberately flouts their settled convictions upon the only terms on which the peace and friendship of the two peoples are possible."

"If he really speaks in the name of the majority of the Irish people," The Times adds, "the chances of peace are small."

Alluding to "irreconcilable forces in England which are working deliberately to wreck the Irish conference," the paper expresses the fear that they will gather strength from Mr. de Valera's message and, reiterating its desire for peace, says that the issues at stake are far vaster than the general public in Great Britain and Ireland understand and may involve or seriously affect matters of the deepest concern throughout the whole world.

REDS PLOT REVENGE ON ALL AMERICAN OFFICIALS IN FRANCE

OFFICES TO BE BLOWN UP

ATTACK BREST CONSULATE

Paris Police Find Post Office Where Herrick Bomb Was Mailed, but No Trace of Sender.

PARIS, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—A plot by French communists to take retaliatory measures against all American officials in France in the event of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, the two men convicted in a United States court of murder, was revealed tonight when it became known that threats had been made to blow up the offices of the American Reparations Commission and the passport bureau.

Threatening letters, warning of reprisals in the event of the death of the two men, also were received today by the American Consul General, Alexander M. Thackara, and the American Consuls at Marseilles, Bordeaux and Lyons.

In consequence of this, strong forces of police are guarding the new building near the Place de l'Etoile, occupied by the reparations and passport offices, and also the consulate in the Rue des Italiens. The police in Bordeaux, Lyons and Marseilles are guarding the consulates there.

The letters to the passport and reparations officials were not signed, but a letter received by Mr. Thackara this evening was signed by the communist organization in a small town near Lille. It said that retaliatory measures would be taken against American citizens in France if the men were executed.

Find Office Where Bomb Was Mailed.

No arrests were announced up to a late hour tonight by the French police in connection with the explosion of a bomb in Ambassador Herrick's home, and the police say they have abandoned the theory of a plot and believe that the sending of the bomb was the act of an individual communist. They have discovered the district Post Office where the package was mailed, but have been unable to find any trace of the sender. The Post Office is in the workmen's quarter.

The police have one letter they believe may furnish a strong clue in tracing the maker of the bomb. This letter was addressed to the Ambassador personally and was received by him at the American Embassy on Oct. 14. It is said to have contained a threat to kill him "by scientific means," which the writer declared he had in his possession.

These experts today believed they saw a striking similarity between the handwriting of the letter and that of the address on the box which contained the bomb. The experts are now engaged in comparing closely the two samples of penmanship. They are experiencing difficulty, because the letter was written by pencil on cheap paper and the address on the cover of the box was badly blurred by the explosion.

The letter was written in French and in small, uneven letters, indicating that the author was an uneducated Frenchman. At the top of the sheet were the words "Sacco and Vanzetti" in large letters. The letter said: "As the representative of your country you are a party to the persecution of Sacco and Vanzetti, and you are, therefore, jointly responsible for their execution. I have in my power scientific means of sending you to the same destiny together with your whole household." The letter was signed: "A scientific man who will work alone."

Mr. Herrick received forty-six more letters of protest during the day, culminating with the arrival late in the afternoon of another letter threatening the lives of American officials in France.

The Americans do not accept the theory of the police that the sending of the bomb was the work of an individual anarchist. They believe that a widespread plot actually exists to do serious harm to Americans. The latest letter to the Ambassador is signed by the Communist-Socialist and Young Communist organizations of Chalons-sur-

Thrown Out of a Hylan Meeting and Punched For Attempting to Question the Mayor

An attempt to ask Mayor Hylan a question about his promise for subway extension led to the forcible ejection of James J. McMahon of 8 Roman Tvenue, Forest Hills, from a Democratic women's meeting at the Riviera Dance Palace, Jamaica, yesterday afternoon.

"How about your promise about the subway ——" was as far as Mr. McMahon had proceeded with his query, when several men and women crowded around him and he was shoved from the hall. He was then served with a summons on a charge of disorderly conduct by Mounted Patrolman James Touhey of the Jamaica Police Station, and will be arraigned this morning in Jamaica Police Court.

"I wanted to ask the Mayor about a certain promise he made concerning a subway extension from 242d Street to 261st Street," said Mr. McMahon afterward. "Before I had a chance to say more than three or four words several men and a number of women and a policeman grabbed me and threw me out of the room and downstairs.

"One man, who I later learned was the Mayor's bodyguard, punched me in the face. In an effort to save myself I hung on to the banister, but the mob pushed me so fiercely that the bannister broke."

Mr. McMahon said he would be in court this morning and would tell his complete story there.

The meeting was held by the Democratic women of Jamaica and Richmond Hill. Mrs. Elizabeth Doyle of Jamaica presided, and Mrs. Dorothea Courten, Vice Chairman of the Queens County Democratic Committee was hostess. About 800 persons, nearly all women, were present.

The Mayor attacked the "traction, gas and electric crowd," defended his policy on schools and repeated his assertion that New York was a cleaner city than it had ever been before.

"That fare, gas and electricity crowd is not going to run the City Administration as long as I am in office," he said. "The gamblers and their so-called respective friends are not going to run the Police Department, and the Rockefeller Institute and the Gary propagandists are not going to run the schools."

Dempsey Agrees to Willard Bout; Fails to Sign Articles

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Tex Rickard, fight promoter, returned to New York tonight without having signed Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, for a match with Jess Willard, but with the announcement that Dempsey definitely had agreed to fight Willard and that the details would be settled soon.

Asked by Dempsey if he "was getting the big fellow ready," Rickard replied that Willard would be in first-class shape for the fight, which, he said, probably would be held in the East.

YELLOWLEY DROPS TEN MORE AGENTS

This Brings Total to 26 Dismissed for Making False Reports and Accepting Fees.

TWO OTHERS SUSPENDED

Fourteen Permits Withdrawn, Making 176 in Two Months—249 Liquor Cases Called.

Ten Federal prohibition agents were dropped yesterday by E. C. Yellowley, Acting Federal Prohibition Director for this State, because of false reports concerning investigations of drug firms and manufacturers and the acceptance of "petty gratuities" from these concerns. This makes twenty-six agents who have been dismissed by Mr. Yellowley in the last two months for similar reasons. In addition, he suspended two agents a few days ago pending further investigation.

Others will go, Mr. Yellowley said, if any evidence of "grafting" is found against them. His staff of experts from Washington are continuing their investigations regarding "fake" concerns, including druggists, manufacturers of patent medicines, hair tonics, &c.

A total of 176 basic permits to handle liquor or alcohol have been revoked or cancelled since Mr. Yellowley has been here. Fourteen lost this privilege as the result of hearings yesterday. It has been said that there are 7,000 permit holders in this city and that a very large percentage of them are doing an illegitimate business.

The Cardo Drug Company, 1,694 Park Avenue, was one of the firms whose permit was revoked yesterday. The firm was represented at the hearing by Charles R. O'Connor, formerly Federal Prohibition Director for this State, who is now practicing law in this city. Mr. O'Connor introduced employes of the firm to show that the records were proper and that the books recorded all the receipts and deliveries of liquors. Judge Farmer, who heard the case, held that the investigation had disclosed such irregularities as to warrant revocation of the permit.

Others whose permits were revoked yesterday were: Salvatore Mancuso, wholesale dealer at 322 East 114th Street; Thomas Brescia, 495 Autumn Avenue, Brooklyn, manufacturer; William Brown, Myrtle Avenue and Wierfield Street, Brooklyn; Candeloro Venevento, manufacturer, of 2,083 Coney Island Avenue, Brooklyn; Michael W. Rosato, 5,721 New Utrecht Avenue, Brooklyn; Vecio Buono, manufacturer of patent medicines, 463 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn; Jack L. Tilley, retail druggist, 164 Utica Avenue, Brooklyn; Joseph Schepis, manufacturer, 99 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn; Michael Delbaso, manufacturer, 1,434 Bryant Avenue, the Bronx; Joseph Boniti, 2,808 Nostrand Avenue, Brooklyn; Joseph Houseweller, 2 Washington Avenue, Bronx; Ralph Ralo, 57 President Street, Brooklyn, manufacturer; Ferraro Di Allesdo, 49 Henry Street, Brooklyn, manufacturer; Alberto Ferraro, 1,754 Bath Avenue, Brooklyn. The permits were revoked because of alleged irregularities in handling liquors.

New Field Agent Coming.

R. Q. Merritt, a general prohibition agent, recently located at Greenville, S. C., is expected to arrive here today to become Acting Chief Field Agent for this State, to take the place of Ernest S. Langley, who has resigned to take another post in the Government service.

Greene Miller, on the staff of Mr. Yellowley, said that investigation of the operations of Samuel Albrecht, arrested Wednesday on a bribery charge, was being continued. Developments, he said, were expected in one week. Albrecht is charged with paying a bribe of $200 to Mr. Miller to look at the file on M. E. Hunter & Co., Inc., wholesale druggists, and it is also alleged that he had offered Mr. Miller $50,000 to obtain withdrawal permits for him as a representative of "nine distilleries."

It was learned at Prohibition headquarters that offers of bribes had become so numerous that instructions were to stop making arrests in such cases, but to concentrate on finding the irregularities in the businesses. Upward of 100 bribes had been offered to the general prohibition agents, it was said. Only a few arrests have been made, these being in the particularly bold cases.

Charles J. Steinberg, a lawyer of 320 West End Avenue, and Treasurer of the Reliance Distributing Company, with a business in Broome Street, was arrested yesterday afternoon in the office of Hugh McQuillan, head of the Special Intelligence Unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau, in the Federal Building, charged with using stolen and forged withdrawal permits. Steinberg denied knowing anything about the stolen withdrawal permits. He also said that he did not have anything to do with presenting them at distilleries.

249 Cases Called.

Before Justice Henry D. Hotchkiss, in Part II., Special Term of the Supreme Court, 249 cases involving seized liquor were called yesterday. Default was taken in 143 cases and the liquor will be distributed to hospitals or destroyed. Adjournment was taken in eighty-four cases until Oct. 27, while twenty-two of the owners put in answers to show

CURRAN SAYS HYLAN IS PUTTING POLITICS INTO THE SCHOOLS

SEES THREAT IN LETTERS

WIDOWS CALLED TO MEET

Received the Impression They Must Vote for Hylan or Lose Pensions, Candidate Asserts.

In the most vigorous speech he has yet delivered in his campaign for election as Mayor on the Coalition ticket, Henry H. Curran last night accused Mayor Hylan of putting politics into the public schools of the city and into the Child Welfare Bureau which was created by the State to pension widows and their fatherless children.

Mr. Curran cited two instances designed to demonstrate the "campaign tactics" of Mayor Hylan and which he called an "exposure" of the "low stooping methods" of his opponent.

He said that Hylan was the first Mayor to dare attempt coerce the Principals of New York's public schools into voting for him by intimating that if they did not they would be removed.

"But worse than even that," Mr. Curran added, "we find that he is trying to capitalize, for his own personal and political benefit, the mourning and the suffering and the trials and tribulations of the widows and their fatherless children in this City of New York."

The Coalition candidate addressed four meetings in Brooklyn, last evening, all of which were attended far beyond seating capacity. At least 2,000 men and women filled the Palm Garden at Greene and Wilson Avenues, and all applauded and cheered him. He also spoke at the New Assembly Hall, Driggs and Graham Avenues; Congress Hall, Atlantic and Vermont Avenues, and the Sixth A. D. Republican Club, 44 Van Buren Street.

Tells of Letters to Principals.

Mr. Curran charged Hylan with having sent letters to every principal of the public schools of New York, inviting them to become members of his campaign committee and work for his re-election. These letters were sent only recently through one of the Hylan Leagues which have been formed to cooperate with his campaign committee, his opponent declared. Enclosed with the letter, he said, are the words, "Kindly sign the enclosed card and return promptly if you accept, as only those whose written acceptance is received will be appointed."

"Never had I thought that politics had come so low as to do what is being done today. The only thing that amounts to anything with tactics of that kind is getting the votes. Is that putting politics in the public schools or is it not? At no time before has any other administration ever dared to put politics into the schools.

"On this card is a dotted line. On this line Candidate Hylan commands the principals of our public schools to sign away their birthright.

Says It Strikes at Root of System.

"I tell you that this letter strikes at the very roots of our wonderful public school system, and you, my friends, the men and women of New York who vote on election day, are the children's only chance. It is you who can stand between them. It is you who can stand in the path and tell Mr. Hylan that he must keep his political fingers out of our schools.

"The principals know that if they are not counted in on the Hylan committee they are going to suffer the consequences of the tactics of Hylan's Board of Education. That is as plain as day. The Hylan League says, 'Sign on the dotted line.' Is that a threat or isn't it?"

Mr. Curran next took up the question of widows' pensions and a meeting held on Tuesday at the Washington Irving High School, which was supposedly one for the discussion of "Americanization," but, Mr. Curran alleged, really was nothing more than a Hylan political meeting. To it were invited the widows receiving pensions from the Welfare Bureau, created by the State. Instead of uttering one word about "Americanization," Mr. Curran charged, Hylan spoke about his early life, his struggles, departed husbands and politics. At the conclusion of the meeting, said Mr. Curran, some of the women were under the impression that if they did not vote for Hylan their pensions would cease coming.

"Some time ago," he said, "the State of New York passed a law which provided a pension for dependent mothers and children, so that these little ones can be brought up in the home instead of in institutions. This law was not passed by Mayor Hylan.

Notices Sent to Widows.

"It is the solemn duty of every city official to keep this law and its operation free from the trickster and schemer in politics. Every voter in New York who wants a law like this held aloof from politics has a duty to surround this office with nothing but the most

LABOR BOARD FAILS TO HALT STRIKE PLAN; UNIONS OPPOSE PUBLIC GROUP'S PROJECT; HARDING'S MOVE NEXT, BOTH SIDES THINK

Trainmen on Texas Line Will Strike Tomorrow; Received Leave to Anticipate Big Walkout

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 20.—E. G. Goforth, manager of the International & Great Northern Railroad, was notified today at Palestine, Texas, that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on that line would strike at noon on Saturday, Oct. 22.

About 600 men will be affected by the strike order.

Notice of the strike was delivered after R. D. Frame, System Chairman of the Trainmen, had received word from W. G. Lee, Grand President, declaring that the strike should be carried out as previously planned, in accordance with the vote of the men.

Members of other labor organizations on the road, it is understood, will remain at work until 6 A. M., Oct. 30, when with organizations on other lines they plan to walk out.

When plans were announced at Chicago last week for the progressive railroad strike to begin on Oct. 30, it was stated that the trainmen on one road, the International & Great Northern, had been given the right to walk out on Oct. 22, if they saw fit.

W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, explained that members of the union employed by that road had asked for permission to strike on the 22d, and it had been granted.

The International & Great Northern operates about 1,100 miles of road in Texas, its main lines being between Palestine and Houston, Longview Junction and Laredo, Spring and Fort Worth, and Troupe and Mineola.

TRUCKMEN REJECT $5 CUT IN WAGES

Teamsters Will Seek New Contracts With Individual Owners, Ignoring Their Bureau.

NEW MEN BEING ENLISTED

United States Trucking Corporation, Largest in City, Has Contract Until Next Year.

The demand of the Merchant Truckmen's Bureau of New York for a reduction in wages of $5 a week and an increase from nine to ten hours, effective Nov. 1, when the present agreement expires, was rejected by more than 1,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters last night in Webster Hall. It was decided to attempt to negotiate new contracts on the old terms with the trucking firms direct.

It was the attitude of the meeting that the Truckmen's Bureau was not a representative body and that it would be ignored in the negotiations, according to Michael J. Cashal, First Vice President. Asked if the meeting foreshadowed a strike, he would not commit himself.

When informed last night of the action of the union, Thomas S. Barry, Secretary of the Merchant Truckmen's Bureau, said that the individual contracts offered by the union would be turned over to the bureau, as the membership had voted not to sign individual contracts, but to leave the question for the bureau to handle.

The bureau, he said, was going ahead with plans for a strike or lock-out on Nov. 1, as it had been decided that there must be a reduction of $5 a week in wages and an increase in the working hours. About 300 drivers have been engaged, he said, to take the places of any who go on strike. He also said that many of the men would refuse to abide by the decision of last night's meeting and continue to work at the reduced wage scale.

Says Real Workers Were Absent.

"We can only say," Mr. Barry continued, "that from our canvass the real workingmen were not at the meeting last night. Our experience has been that these meetings are usually attended by the men who are not working, and that if any member gets up with a motion which is at all conciliatory he is immediately howled down."

David Brooks, Chairman of the Wage Scale Committee of the bureau, said on Wednesday that the attitude of the men last night would have great bearing on the question of an open shop. The Executive Committee of the bureau will meet tonight to hear the report of the Wage Scale Committee on the union's action. It was expected that the Executive Committee would take some definite action today. Mr. Barry said that 65 per cent. of the trucking equipment in the city was involved in the controversy, and Mr. Cashal contended that not more than 1,000 of the union members are employed by firms in the bureau outside of the United States Trucking Corporation.

It was the contention of Mr. Cashal that the United States Trucking Corporation, the largest single trucking concern in the city, was not involved for the reason that its contract does not expire until Aug. 1 of next year.

Would Benefit by Any Cut.

An official of the Truckmen's Bureau remarked last night that the United States Trucking Corporation really had two contracts with the union. The first agreement, he said, provided for a cut in wages of $4 a week and was repudiated by the union two days after it became effective. Then it was necessary, he said, to make another contract at the old wage scale. It also was pointed out that whatever concessions might be obtained by the other trucking corporations from the union would be demanded by the United States Trucking Corporation.

Representatives of three locals were present last night, from Local 807, the largest in the city, and Locals 282 and 203. These three locals comprise the majority of the truck drivers working in lower Manhattan. John Quinn, President of Local 807, presided at the meeting.

After the vote had been taken on the demand from the Truckmen's Bureau, there was a lengthy and heated discussion relative to the distribution of a fund collected to build an auditorium. Owing to economic conditions it was decided to return the money to the locals.

SEND STRIKE ORDERS TO LOCAL TRAINMEN

20,000 MEN IN THIS AREA

Notices of Time for Walkout Warn Members Against Any Violence or Trespass.

The official strike orders issued by the executive heads of the Big Four Railroad Brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America at Chicago have been received in the New York district and are being communicated to the union workers by the local chairmen.

The prompt distribution of the walkout order, according to union officials, is due to the fact that the brotherhoods' chiefs did not want to take any chances of being stopped in this action by the Government through court injunctions.

"No time was lost in getting the strike order out of Chicago to the district chairmen," said an official of one of the unions. "We have had some experience with the Government along this line and were not taking any chances of running up against the injunction snags."

Revised figures made public by officials of the brotherhoods here yesterday showed that at least 20,000 engineers, conductors, firemen and enginemen, switchmen and trainmen would be affected by the walkout in the metropolitan district, which includes all territory within a radius of twenty-five miles of the City Hall.

Members in This District.

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers—3,250.
Order of Railway Conductors—3,250.
Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen—3,500.
Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen—6,000.
Switchmen's Union of North America—5,000.

The allied railroad shop crafts organizations in the district, who have as yet not been called upon to strike, are estimated to have a membership of from 125,000 to 150,000.

The strike orders called upon the workers to strike on the date and hour specified, without further orders. The order has already been served upon the members of the eighteen lodges of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in New York, Brooklyn, Long Island, Staten Island, Jersey City and other nearby points.

The walkout notice, which is accompanied by instructions as to how the men shall conduct themselves during the strike, is being communicated secretly to each individual member by the local chairmen. The order bears the seal of the grand lodge in every case.

The order for the men on the New York Central lines is said to have been sent out from the brotherhood's district office at Syracuse. This order calls upon the workers to quit at 6 A. M. Nov. 3. The notice to the men of the Delaware & Hudson road was sent out from the system office of the unions at Albany and calls for a walkout at 6 A. M. Nov. 1. Union men on the Erie railway system, Lehigh Valley, New York, New Haven & Hartford and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western lines in this district are ordered to strike at the same time. The strike orders for the Pennsylvania lines are being issued to take effect at 6 A. M. Nov. 5.

Cautioned Against Violence.

The strike order served on the local chairmen explains that the walkout vote cast by the membership of the brotherhood was overwhelmingly in the affirmative, and adds:

"Your representatives have made every reasonable and available effort to effect a satisfactory settlement of the issues as described in the ballot and, having failed in reaching a settlement, a strike of the members of the above named organizations and other of our class has been approved under the laws of the organizations involved and, in accordance with your expressed wish as indicated by your ballot, effective —— Railroad at (the time)."

In accordance with this letter, railroad men in the New York district are instructed to stop work without further notice. In the event that the general

TWO SESSIONS PROVE FUTILE

HOLDS BOARD IS POWERLESS

NEXT STEP FOR WASHINGTON

Some Boards Still Hope Nine-Day Leeway Will Develop a Way for Conciliation.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—Efforts of the Railroad Labor Board today to get the "big five" brotherhood chiefs to call off the threatened railroad strike failed to achieve any definite results, and, according to the view taken by both officials of the board and Brotherhood leaders, President Harding must make the next move in the situation.

Two conferences were held between the brotherhood officials and the Labor Board, one in the afternoon, lasting two hours, and another shorter one in the early evening.

In both sessions the union leaders declared that the program of the public group of the board, first announced at Washington, that freight rates be cut to absorb the wage cuts of July 1 and that meanwhile the unions hold up their strike plan and the executives refrain from pressing their plea for a new wage cut, offered no solution of the difficulty.

In the interim between the afternoon session, which ended at 4:30 o'clock, and the night meeting, which began at 7 o'clock, the wires were kept busy with messages from the board to Washington asking for further instructions.

After the second session the brotherhood chiefs held a conference. They left the city late tonight for their headquarters, stating that plans for the proposed strike would go right ahead.

Most Members of Board Discouraged.

Chairman Barton of the board said:

"The adjournment is final. We do not plan any further conferences with the labor leaders nor do we plan, at present, to call in the railroad Presidents. I cannot say what our next step might be."

Ben W. Hooper, member of the public group, gave out this statement:

"There has been a full and frank discussion of the situation. The Labor Board and the brotherhood chiefs exchanged views in a perfectly pleasant way. The interview was beneficial, but we cannot say that any definite results were obtained."

In contrast with their previous cheerfulness, the members of the board appeared tonight to be discouraged over the lack of results from the sessions, but some of them declared themselves sanguine that the efforts to bring industrial peace to the transportation industry would succeed. They said nine days' leeway before the strike call becomes effective gives much opportunity for conciliatory work.

The five brotherhood leaders held a private conference in the morning. It was said afterward that in their view the rail strike could not be postponed but could be settled. They were declared to be hopeful of favorable developments at the meeting with the Labor Board.

When the joint session began soon after 2 P. M., Chairman Barton of the Labor Board set forth the program as formulated at Washington. No mention was made of President Harding. The plan was in brief:

Immediate reduction of freight rates to absorb the $430,000,000 savings effected by the July 1 wage cut.

Men Cool to Proposal.

The labor leaders promptly told the board that they saw nothing in the proposal which would warrant a cancellation of the strike order.

They declared that the strike "could not be postponed," and that only a settlement would keep it from being put in effect. One brotherhood chief is reported as saying that any settlement would have to be one that would "remove the prevalent impression among the men that they are being gypped."

One point on which the labor men professed frank skepticism was whether the railroads could be prevailed upon to withhold their call for further wage cuts. The matter of proposed changes in working conditions was also one on which they laid stress.

Another objection presented was that the Esch-Cummins act provides no means of enforcing the board's decisions. The chiefs said that sixteen or seventeen railroads had ignored board rulings just as in the case of the Pennsylvania road, which received a hearing today on its failure to hold new elections of shop craft representatives as directed.

After considerable stormy talk the tone of exchanges became quieter and before recess, it was said, the atmosphere had lost some of its electricity.

Although the meeting was productive of no tangible results, some of the board members thought the situation promising, though still critical.

One brotherhood President said after the session that the situation was unchanged.

"Two lives are at stake," he went on. "The Labor Board is fighting for its life, and its future depends upon its ability to settle this matter. So, too, we are fighting for our lives, and the future of railroad labor depends on the outcome of this situation."

"The situation is unchanged," said W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. "We stand pat. Strike plans will proceed."

"It's somebody's move next," said another brotherhood chief, who wished his name withheld. "Whether it is ours, the board's or the road's, I don't know. I only know that the board brought us here and talked for hours without presenting anything which we could even consider as a compromise. The meeting was absolutely without results. We are going back to our headquarters. There is nothing scheduled immediately except to go right ahead with the plans for a strike."

Officials Still Hope for Solution.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—Members of the labor board said after the adjournment of tonight'sconference that while the conference had ended and no immediate plans had been made, it was still possible to hold further meetings with the labor men before the date of the scheduled walk-out arrives.

"The board is determined to go as far as possible under the law, one member said, "and if it is unable to accomplish anything it will be the fault of the law rather than that of the board. We are satisfied that some governmental agency will find a solution of the situation, as every possible angle of the matter is undoubtedly being investigated down at Washington."

None of the board members would indicate an optimistic view of the day's proceedings. Some members were inclined to the view that even the issuance of a strike order was tantamount to a violation of a board decision and that the brotherhoods could properly be cited to appear before the board for a formal determination as to whether its orders had been defied.

"The entire board feels that it is much better informed on the situation and we hope that some good may yet result from the board's inquiry," said this member.

The board members said that the labor chiefs remained inflexible in maintaining that the present fight was a fight for the life of their organizations.

The difficulties in the present crisis were declared by the union men, it was said, to be entirely the fault of the carriers. They made it clear to the board, however, members said, that they did not consider the roads' violations of the law the fault of the board, but due to the fact that the transportation act "had no teeth."

Continual violations of the board's orders had convinced the employes, they were quoted as telling the boasd, that there would be no end to encroachments on what the railroad workers considered their rights. Prior statements of the brotherhood leaders have asserted that the question of working rules, which, they said, they had been years in working up, was the crux of the whole situation.

Practically nothing was said in the confcrence today about the 12 per cent. wage reduction of last July 1, which was the technical basis on which the strike was called, it was learned.

Members of the board said they did not consider that the board has exhausted its powers and that an executive session would be held tomorrow when further procedure would be determined.

An Angel Might Avert Strike.

The union heads expressed the opinion that "if there were any concrete results of the conference they lay in the fact that 'the minds of the Labor Board members were disabused of the idea that the union were not sincere in calling a strike.'

"When we went in there," said one chief, "the board seemed to be of the opinion that we had been bluffing and were just waiting for some one to dissuade us from carrying out the strike order.

"Believing this, the board had virtually nothing to offer in the way of a settlement plan. Its members talked a lot, but actually had little to say of any importance, merely trying to get us to change our stand.

"They seemed to think that we could postpone the strike until we made it plain that that could not even be considered and that there must be a settlement satisfactory to us or the walkout will begin at 6 A. M., Oct. 30.

"We hope some angel will appear with a plan to avert the strike, but there were no such angels at today's meetings.

"The chief result of the conference was that the Labor Board knows we are not bluffing and we know that they had no real plan to offer."

The only signed statement from a union head was from Mr. Stone. It simply said:

"The situation is unchanged and I suppose I might add that I don't expect one angle of it to be changed even in heaven, for if I get there I expect to still have a hundred newspaper reporters chasing me around for signed statements."

Warren S. Stone, President of the engineers; William G. Lee, President of the trainmen, and W. S. Carter, President of the firemen, returned to Cleveland tonight. L. E. Sheppard, head of the conductors, left for his organization's headquarters in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, while T. C. Cashen took a midnight train for Buffalo, where the headquarters of the Switchmen's Union are located.

The Executive Committees of the engineers, firemen and conductors are now in session in Cleveland. The committees of the other organizations will meet there Monday.

Expect Action from Washington.

While the scene of the strike activities shifted back to Cleveland with the ending of tonight's conference, a union man close to the brotherhood chiefs said that he expected the next step to be taken from Washington.

"The Labor Board has, of course, forwarded a full report of the conference to Washington," he said. "If there are further steps toward conciliation they will be taken there. The unions will do nothing further."

The eleven "standard" unions which have voted for a strike but have not called one merely marked time today, taking no action pending the outcome of the Labor Board conference.

The Maintenance of Way Chairmen held several informal sessions, the only inkling of their attitude being a remark by a high official that "this organization is going to let the other fellows start the ball rolling before doing any pushing."

They will meet again tomorrow, as will the shop crafts and other organizations, but there is little likelihood of a decision before Saturday or Sunday, it was said.

Chiefs of these organizations expressed keen interest in the Labor Board conference, but refused to comment on it.

WASHINGTON WON'T COMMENT

Awaits Full Report of Meeting Before Making Decision.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Administration officials, when informed of the termination of the conference at Chicago between the Railroad Labor Board and the union chiefs tonight, declined to make any comment, preferring, it was explained, to wait a full report of the proceedings before making any decision.

CANADIAN UNIONS WILLING TO HELP ROADS

But the Brotherhood Chief Holds That a Wage Cut Is Not Warranted by Conditions.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes is willing to approve a reasonable reduction in pay in order to assist the railroads, according to a statement made today by A. R. Mosher, President of the brotherhood, at the opening of arbitration hearings between the Canadian National Railway and employes on the question of wages.

Mr. Mosher added, however, that his organization believed that the reduction was not warranted by conditions at this time.

BOARD EXCEEDED POWER, SAYS P. R. R.

President Rea Denies Road Failed to Obey Any 'Legal Pronouncement' or Violated Law.

QUESTIONS ELECTION ORDER

Says Labor Board Exercised Unwarranted Functions of an Administrative Body.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Prior to the conference with the chiefs of the railway brotherhoods the United States Railway Board gave a hearing today to the Pennsylvania Railroad's representatives on charges of violation of a board decision requiring a new election of shop crafts representatives. This case is the first of its kind to come before the board, and is expected to help establish the extent of the board's power in enforcing its decisions.

The Pennsylvania, through C. B. Hiserman, general counsel, presented to the board a statement signed by President Samuel Rea, setting forth the road's reasons for refusing to comply with the board's order and call a new election of employes' committees.

The board set aside a previous election because the road allowed the men to vote only on individuals, while the federated shop crafts insisted that the name of their local should appear as a committee.

Mr. Rea's statement said that the election "raised the question whether the employes' representation plan developed by the road should be impaired and its usefulness largely destroyed by dealing with those who advocated a closed shop, the sympathetic strike and limitation of output in framing rules governing operation of the shops during Federal control."

The rules that were formulated, while the Government directed the roads, reduced the output of shop labor at least 35 per cent., the statement asserted.

According to Mr. Rea the company held:

1 That it had not violated any board decision in the sense that it had refused to comply with a "lawful pronouncement" of the board; that it had not violated the Transportation act nor defied the board nor the Congress which created it.

2 That the board, in declaring previous elections void and ordering a new election of employe representatives "has without warrant of law exercised the functions of an administrative or regulatory body and as such has assumed to invade the domain of management and to assert jurisdiction over matters solely referable to the functions of railway management."

3 That the board should not hold that the Pennsylvania had violated its election decision, the company, reasserting its willingness to comply with the Transportation act and to "submit itself to the jurisdiction of the Labor Board in all matters cognizable thereunder."

Questioned closely by Benjamin W. Hooper of the public group on whether the Pennsylvania admitted that the Transportation act required conferences with employes to negotiate rules, Mr. Hieserman declared that it did not, but that it was the road's policy so to confer. He also denied that the road felt bound by the law or the Labor Board to select employes' representatives by ballot, adding that several representatives had been named without a written ballot.

Mr. Hooper questioned the Pennsylvania on its attitude toward Interstate Commerce Commission's orders but succeeded only in bringing out that the road had disagreed with many of the Commission's decisions, taking them ipto court and, according to Mr. Hieserman, winning each case.

Representatives of the employes made brief statements. N. P. Good, Chairman of System Federation No. 90 (the shop crafts local on the Pennsylvania lines), announced that he had ordered a new strike vote taken among shop employes on the Pennsylvania lines, both union and non-union, and that the shopmen would not strike until the result of this ballot is known.

"The result of the new ballot will be known about the first of the month," Mr. Good said. "If a majority of all shop employes vote for the union to represent them, negotiations, he said, would be reopened with the road, and if they are rejected then and then only will we feel justified in exercising our constitutional right and taking advantage of the strike vote already cast."

"We are not unmindful of our duty to the public. We have done every reasonable thing we could and are making this last effort to avoid trouble."

Mr. Good said that no dates for action either way had been set by the strike ballot.

CALL OFF THE STRIKE SAYS FRATERNAL ORDER

Railroad Men's Association Appeals to Workers, Advising Them Not to Walk Out.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 20.—The American Railroad Men's Association, a fraternal benevolent association embracing 10,000 yardmasters, yard conductors and switchmen, issued an appeal today to all railroad unions to call off the proposed strike and accept the wage cut ordered by the Labor Board.

The union men were warned that, if they strike, "arrayed against you there will be 100,000 000 men, women and children. The same railroad managements that now seem to decry public opinion would so mold and crystallize it against you as to overwhelm you and would use in their defense that same power which should be used against them."

The statement, made in an open letter to union men, was signed by Frank Markut Jr., business manager of the order.

"We know that the popular demand now appears to be for a strike against further wage reductions," the letter said. "We also realize how disagreeable is the task of advising against so popular a measure. Nevertheless, we deem it our duty so to advise and in so doing we are actuated solely for the good and benefit of the railroad employes."

A cessation of railroad work now would make more terrible the existing conditions of employment, and in its trend would follow extreme poverty, want and suffering, it was asserted.

TRAFFIC LEAGUE FOR TEST.

Thinks Better to Have Strike Now Than Leave Question in Air.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—R. M. Barton, Chairman of the Railroad Labor Board, received a telegram today from W. H. Chandler of Boston, President of the National Industrial Traffic League, who said that he had also telegraphed a copy to President Harding. In it he declared that it would be "better to have a railroad strike now than to leave unsettled the question whether rates and wages should decrease simultaneously."

"The National Industrial Traffic League," the message said, "believes business prosperity cannot obtain until railway rates have been reduced, and reduction of freight rates cannot be made until railway costs have been reduced." The telegram referred to a report that today's conference in Chicago would discuss the possible settling of the strike issue on the basis of translating the 12 per cent. wage reduction of July 1 into lower freight rates, conditioned on agreements that no further wage reductions would be asked by the roads. The message added:

"Any action on the part of the Labor Board which prevents the reduction of transportation costs will, in our opinion, be harmful to the country."

Mr. Chandler argued that there should be established "a well defined program for simultaneous reductions in rates and wages as conditions justify the same," and he urged "that no action be taken by the Labor Board that will preclude the determination on its merits of an application made by carriers for further reduction of labor costs."

FOOD AND FUEL PLANS FINISHED BY HOOVER

Supplies Are Being Massed at Strategic Points to Meet Any Strike Emergency.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Secretary Hoover announced today that the plans of his department for the mobilization of food supplies, coal and other necessities in case of a walk-out on the railroads had been completed.

The Governors of all States have been communicated with by the department, which will act as a clearing house of information and advice. Food and fuel are being concentrated at strategic points to make possible quick distribution. If an emergency arises interstate lines will be ignored and essentials distributed from one State to another, where the need is greatest.

Preparations have been made for the massing, if necessary, of fleets of motor trucks and automobiles to move commodities. One estimate puts the number of machines quickly available at 1,000,000. Transportation service by water carriers and airplanes also will be expanded to supplement the motor vehicles and such trains as can be operated.

Some industries, it is said, have been preparing for weeks to face a strike emergency. It is the belief that with States and municipalities co-operating under the Department of Commerce, acute suffering from hunger or cold can be prevented for a considerable period after a strike starts, even if most of the railroads stop running.

Under the plans devised the Governors would direct the emergency work, with the Department of Commerce helping to co-ordinate effort. In disputes concerning the distribution of foodstuffs or fuel the department would be prepared to act as arbiter.

The department is well equipped to direct and co-ordinate such work because of the conferences with representatives of various industries which Secretary Hoover has held since taking office. Plans have included a survey of motor transportation facilities to make possible the rapid requisition of motor trucks and automobiles. The department also has a check on available gasoline and would be prepared to curtail or even stop its use for pleasure cars.

It is pointed out that the large increase in the use of trucks and automobiles in recent years has created a situation which railroad workers would not have had to face even ten years ago. Foodstuffs and fuel can now be moved to communities as rapidly fifty miles today as four or five miles a few years ago.

The Interstate Commerce Commission did not announce today any decisions involving rate reductions, but these are expected at almost any time. Chairman McChord of the Commission and Guy D. Goff, Acting Attorney General, had a conference with President Harding and talked over the railroad situation.

Rulings on pending cases involving freight rates on grain, hay, feed and lumber are among those involved. These were brought before the Commission by agricultural and other associations representing twenty-four States, which requested general decreases in commodity rates throughout the Western territory. The request is for annulment of the 25 per cent. increase in rates granted in 1920, and also consideration of the removal of war-time increases. The applicants urged haste in reductions and the record in the cases was completed last week.

TRAINMAN EXPLAINS REASON FOR STRIKE

Says a Way Should Be Found to Aid Rail Finances Without Burdening Workingman.

The following is a statement of the point of view of the "pro-strike" members of the brotherhoods, written for THE NEW YORK TIMES by a New York Central employe, who, naturally, did not wish his name used:

"The last decision of the Labor Board reduced wages of railroad men approximately 12 per cent. Railroad men are placed in a different living condition than men in other lines in this way—railroad men leave their homes and make trips without any expense account. No other large corporation or employer sends out men without an expense account. This fact alone should entitle them to a fair additional remuneration.

"The public press recently has stated that the railroads intended to immediately reduce wages 10 per cent., and to go over the heads of the Labor Board, if necessary, in order to do so. The railroad men had long anticipated just such a move and for that reason had taken a strike vote against the reduction of 12 per cent. awarded by the Railroad Labor Board. This vote was taken, not because the majority of the men did not accept the decision as legal and final, but to impress the railroad companies that no other wage reductions at the present time, with high living costs, would be accepted.

"Under the present living conditions there should be no additional reduction, and it is the opinion of the writer that, even if the railroads are financially encumbered, ways should be found to assist them without placing the load on the rank and file of railroad labor.

"All wage conditions should be settled by the Labor Board and the much-discussed 'living wage' interpreted in a broad way. The laborer digging in a trench one day was asked by a casual onlooker, 'Why are you digging there?' and the laborer replied, 'In order to earn enough to live on so I can dig tomorrow.' The correct living wage is enough to live on and support a family, so that they can live in comfort, so that the children can be educated and the country assured a healthy and enlightened generation.

"The men in the railroad service spend more years than men in any profession you can cite before they can reach a position paying a sufficient income for the support of a family. Coupled with this are many hours of night work at irregular hours and under hazardous conditions.

"In conclusion, I am sure I speak for the majority of the railroad men when I say we are law-abiding American citizens, that we believe in the decisions of the Labor Board and we believe in the Government and regard its rulings as supreme.

"We ask the press, which is all-powerful in molding public opinion, to give each side in this wage controversy a fair presentation of its side of the case in language so plain that it can be interpreted in only one way."

INDUSTRIES BACK ROADS.

Rochester and Muskegon Manufacturers Promise Support.

The Association of Railway Executives made public yesterday telegrams from manufacturers and merchants promising their support in the event of a strike. The manufacturers of Rochester telegraphed that "they will endeavor to the best of their ability to lighten your burdens during the continuance of a strike by submitting cheerfully to the inconvenience of delayed shipments resulting from partial disorganization of transportation schedules and by co-operating with local railway officials as the latter may desire."

The Muskegon (Mich.) Employers' Association, comprising fifty-five manufacturers, the majority of them heavy shippers, telegraphed:

"We support you in your fight for reduced wages to the end that you may offer reduced rates to shippers. We believe it necessary for all classes of labor to accept their share of the responsibility in reducing the cost of transportation to the end that the cost of living and manufacturing may be brought down to a point where industrial and commercial activities may be resumed. Public sentiment is overwhelmingly for you."

OFFER D., L. & W. MEN INSURANCE POLICIES

Company Will Make Good Any Losses of Labor Benefits Because of Loyalty

OR PROVIDE REINSURANCE

Truesdale in Appeal to Employes Asks Them to Think of Their Future Before Striking.

The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company promised yesterday that if any of its employes lost labor union insurance policies by disregarding the strike order the company would make good the losses.

"The company realizes," said a proclamation to the employes, signed by President W. H. Truesdale, "that in remaining loyal to it at this critical time many of you may sacrifice certain insurance protection you now have for your families through the organizations with which you are connected. It is not desired that you shall suffer loss in this way, and in the event, therefore, of your being forced to give up these insurance benefits as a result of your loyally continuing at work, or if, for any reason, you should desire to withdraw from the organizations which now provide this insurance for you, the company will take over the same and guarantee, on equal terms as to premiums, &c., with those you now pay, to carry it for you. In doing this it will arrange with one or more actuaries of leading life insurance ccmpanies to work out in detail a plan of insurance that will fully and fairly protect you and your families."

Mr. Truesdale argued that the strike order was directed not against the railroads but against the United States Railroad Labor Board, and was "in defiance of an overwhelming public sentiment."

"Misleading information," he continued, "is being disseminated as to the intention of the railroads to arbitrarily further reduce wages. Under the law this can only be accomplished through agreement with employes or by order of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

"Facing, as you do at this time, a very important crisis in your lives, and one that will in its outcome cause you and your families serious and permanent loss, the management of the company feels that it is justified for many reasons in making this personal appeal to you to give careful thought and consideration to the question of obeying the order you have received to leave the services of the company on Nov. 1.

"Many of you have been in the company's employ for years, during which you have worked your way up to the positions of priority you now hold and which are of much value to you. You should not, in justice to yourselves, voluntarily sacrifice such rights without being sure of getting full value in return.

"You, each and all, we are sure, are fair enough to recognize that this company, since the United States Labor Board was established, has complied fully with every oruer issued by that board governing wages and working conditions for railroad employes.

"We earnestly urge each of you, before taking a step which you cannot retrace and one which may involve you and your families in loss and possibly suffering for many years to come, most carefully to weigh and consider the wisdom and justification of obeying the order for cessation of work on the date above mentioned.

"Will you not answer to your own satisfaction a few of the following questions:

"Am I justified in giving up my position and seniority rights for which I have worked all the years I have been connected with the company?

"Will I obtain anything that will compensate me for the pension benefits which I will lose by giving up my position?

"Am I sure of getting in return for the sacrifice of lifelong friends, associates and surroundings for myself and family anything justifying the risks I am taking by now giving up my position?"

chairmen receive code messages to call off the strike, the local chairmen will be notified in code and send it on to the men on the trains and in the railroad shops and yards.

Instructions accompanying the strike order warn the men to leave their work quietly, and not to cause any disturbance or disorder of any kind. They are urged to keep away from railroad property and not trespass except upon official business.

Violence of any kind will not be tolerated, the notice states. The notice orders the men to report daily to strike headquarters and register. Local chairmen are instructed to establish a headquarters and make arrangements for adequate meeting places.

A. C. Blainey, an international organizer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Martin Early, Grand Vice President of the Order of Railway Conductors, have been assigned to represent the grand officers of the Big Four and take charge of the strike in the New York district. They are expected to arrive in New York within a few days and establish headquarters at one of the hotels.

No Picketing Is Expected.

Brotherhood officials said last night that the union probably would not attempt, to picket the railroad yards or terminals, stating that it was their intention to keep the men away from railroad property. They said they did not believe picketing would be necessary.

A representative of the Grand Lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers gave out a statement last night regarding wages paid engineers as follows:

"The statements that the engineers are receiving $1.34 an hour are absolutely untrue, and have been circulated as propaganda to deceive the public.

"The new rate schedule, which includes the 12 per cent. reduction of July 1, shows that the passenger engineers receive a minimum rate of 74 cents an hour, and a maximum of 78 cents, the latter on locomotives over 200,000 pounds.

"Engineers in the freight service receive a minimum rate of 81 cents and a maximum of 90 cents an hour. Operators of the big 275,000-pound Mallets, of which there are only a few, receive $1.05 an hour.

"Engineers on local or way freight lines receive a minimum of .875 and a maximum of .0825. In the yard service they receive a minimum of 80 cents and a maximum of 86 cents.

"Where the companies have to have a man work overtime the pay is time and a half.

"Figures will show that many of our men make but $6.24 for an eight-hour day."

The labor official said that the engineers in this district had voted from 96 to 97 per cent. for the strike and would walk out if necessary.

"What we are intending to strike against is the threat of the railroad managers to put into effect another 10 per cent. cut," he added. "When we asked them for a conference they turned us down and told us we could expect to take another reduction.

"The brotherhoods want to avoid trouble, but will strike if necessary to prevent that wage cut. The strike would be called off tomorrow if the managers would assure the unions that they would not try to force the proposed new reduction in wages."

Doubt Pensioners Will Aid.

Officials of the Engineers' Brotherhood declared that they had no fear of pensioners and former employes taking their jobs in event of a strike.

A number of district chairmen and other officials of the brotherhoods have been in New York during the last few days at the Herald Square Hotel, where they have informally discussed the strike situation, but they have not taken any action other than to complete organization work.

District and local representatives of the allied railroad shop crafts unions were gathering in the city yesterday, but were awaiting word from their officials at Chicago before taking any action.

An international vice president of one of the largest unions affiliated with the shop crafts said last night that a strike of these organizations would come later if it was decided that they should not co-operate with the brotherhoods in their walkout.

Officials of the International Association of Machinists said last night that they had a membership of 100,000 men involved in the strike situation and would walk out if a strike of their allied craftsmen was called.

LINES TO CANVASS MEN ON INTENTION TO STRIKE

Every Employe Will Be Asked His Opinion on Walkout—Poll to Be Verbal.

The railroads terminating in New York and New Jersey will begin today to place every employe connected with the operation of trains on record as to whether he intends to strike or not.

Although several railroad officials expressed the opinion yesterday that the chance of averting the strike was increasing, it was decided at a meeting of the New York General Managers' Association to start immediately to take this poll. The manner in which it will be taken was described by L. F. Loree, President of the Delaware & Hudson Railway Company, as follows:

"Subordinate officials, foremen, superintendents and others will approach the men they personally know and ask them how they feel about it. It will all be verbal. The men will not be asked to sign anything.

"If an employe signifies that he intends to strike it will be part of the duty of the official who approaches him to try to dissuade him. Many of the railroad employes themselves misapprehend the situation, as does the general public.

"We want to drive it home thoroughly that, of the 12 per cent. reduction in wages of last July, at least one-half has already been passed on to the public in the form of reduced freight charges. We want to drive it home, further, that the railroads themselves cannot reduce freight rates further, independent of a further wage reduction, without going into general bankruptcy. Out of every $5 in active business in this country, $1 is invested in the railroad business, and any act which threatens that $1 threatens the rest. Our subordinate officials are expected to make this clear and to clear up misleading reports of various kinds which have been intentionally circulated in order to persuade men to strike who do not want to strike."

Mr. Loree was asked what would happen in cases where employes refused to say whether they would strike or not.

"They will be recorded to that effect," he replied.

He said that the poll would be completed by Sunday. In the meantime most of the roads, he said, were already laying plans to fight the strike if it did take place.

10,000 IDLE TRUCKS AWAIT STRIKE CALL

Owners Laying Plans to Haul Produce on Regular Runs Throughout Local Zone.

Preparations to meet the railroad strike, if it arises, with fleets of motor trucks for bringing in food and fuel supplies are being made by the Motor Truck Owners' Association of New York, according to T. D. Pratt, General Manager of the organization. He said yesterday that the association was registering all idle trucks in the metropolitan district and would be ready to send out a large fleet on a day's notice.

It was estimated by Mr. Pratt that there were between 10,000 and 15,000 idle trucks in the district. He said that in the event of a strike by local teamsters there would be no difficulty in getting a sufficient number of men to handle the trucks.

It is the plan of the association to place the work under the supervision of the motor transport officer at Ellis Island. The trucks would be operated on regular routes and schedules. Agents would be sent out to the sources of supplies, transportation executives named for the various lines of business, supplies assembled at central points and as many trucks as needed sent out to bring these to the city. The trucks would operate at about ten miles an hour, including the time required for stops.

UNION ASKS FOR ITS $43,000.

Illinois Miners Want Fund Sent to Aid Kansas Miners.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Oct 20.—Return to the treasury of the Illinois miners of the $43,000 balance of a $100,000 fund sent to the Kansas miners to fight the Industrial Court law has been asked by Walter Nesbit, Secretary-Treasurer of the Illinois district, it became known today.

Mr. Nesbit announced in Springfield, Ill., however, that the request did not mean that Illinois miners had withdrawn their support from the Kansas mine workers but was made because Thomas Harvey, provisional Secretary-Treasurer of the Kansas district, was opposed to Alexander Howat and his fight against Governor Allen.

The auditors' report also showed that $15,000 was spent for the services of lawyers in the Columbus trial of Howat.

HYLAN PRAISES THE MELTING POT

SPEAKS IN SCHOOL HOUSES

Defends City's Educational System and Attacks Gary and Rockefeller Plans.

Speaking at three meetings in public schools last night, Mayor Hylan renewed his defense of the public school system under the present Administration, attacked the Gary system and the Rockefeller Foundation, told of his own humble, early education, charged that the press of New York was leagued with the gambling fraternity, and declined to reply to a heckler, who was ejected from one hall by the police.

At the Washington Irving High School, where a celebration in connection with "America's Making" was in progress, the Mayor said it was part of his duty as Mayor to extend the hospitality of the city to distinguished visitors from abroad.

"I think I have welcomed visitors from practically every part of the globe," he said. "While I have had exceptional opportunity to greet distinguished representatives of foreign people, all our citizens have an opportunity every day to learn to appreciate the virtues and accomplishments of many races, because we are made up of many racial stocks, all living in amity together, and constantly rubbing elbows in business, in politics and social intercourse. Thus the citizen of Jewish birth learns to appreciate his fellow-citizen from sunny Italy. The citizen of Irish birth learns to understand his Jewish neighbor. The dark-eyed children of Spain learn to respect the fair-haired children of Norway and Sweden, and the citizen of French extraction lives at peace with his neighbor whose father and mother came from across the Rhine."

The Mayor then praised the idea of "America Making," saying that it was appropriate that the plan was being carried out chiefly in the public schools.

The Mayor spoke in two schoolhouses in Brooklyn and was welcomed by large audiences. His first speech was at the dedication of Public School 182, Dumont Avenue and Vermont Street, Brownsville, opened on Oct. 3. In the audience were about half the children of the school. The Mayor addressed them first, reciting his own school experiences in comparison to theirs.

"I am being criticised because I am uncultured," the Mayor said. "I prefer to think it was because I did not have enough culture to give the traction interests an eight-cent fare." At this meeting he said the Gary and Rockefeller school plans compared favorably with the education Chinese coolies received.

Other speakers were Anning S. Prall, President of the Board of Education, and Municipal Court Justice Richards.

DENIES FORBES CRITICISMS.

Rhodes School Head Asks Veterans' Director for an Inquiry.

Colonel Charles R. Forbes, Director of the Veterans' Bureau, was invited yesterday by Leo Freedman, President of the Rhodes Preparatory School, 8 West 125th Street, to make a thorough investigation of that institution, one of thirty-three included by Colonel Forbes in a list on Wednesday in connection with his assertion that the placement of disabled veterans had been made "under conditions that were criminal and relating to slavery." Mr. Freedman wired Colonel Forbes that such an investigation would prove that the Director of the Veterans' Bureau had been misinformed.

The message was sent in reply to the one received yesterday from Colonel Forbes, which said: "Contract with your school disapproved for reason scientific and laboratory training which trainees received is not of highest standard, also that better facilities than you afford can be found in area of New York City."

Mr. Freedman in his reply said that "the equipment and facilities of the science and laboratory department of Rhodes School are unrivaled by either public or preparatory schools in or about New York City, and they are housed in a large fireproof school building that affords every modern facility and convenience to teacher and pupil alike. It has received at all times nothing but unstinted praise from any and all trainees and Federal officials who have ever entered its doors for instruction or observation. Rhodes School, therefore, not only invites but requests an immediate and thorough investigation. Such investigation will prove conclusively that you have been completely and unfortunately misinformed. Please wire further action to be taken by you."

CITES RATES THAT ARE CUT.

Ralph Peters Lists Classifications of Voluntary Reductions.

Ralph Peters, President of the Long Island Railroad Company, said yesterday that since the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the 40 per cent. increase of freight rates on Aug. 26, 1920, many rates had been voluntarily reduced by the company. He made public a list of large reductions on important commodities as follows:

Commodity.	Reduction P.C.
Produce barrels	45
Building and paving brick	40
Seeds	28
Vegetables	27
Fresh meat	25
Grain and grain products	23
Gravel and sand	20

He said that none of these rates, after being reduced, had been raised again.

Bandits Get $12,000 in Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 20.—Philip McRae, superintendent of the pulp mill plant of the Jessup & Moore Paper Company, while on his way to the pulp works today with $12,000 to meet the payroll, was held up by two bandits, armed with pistols. The money, in bags, was in his automobile. The bandits were on foot, and after taking the money they fled across country.

HOSTS OF APPLICANTS TO SUPPLANT STRIKERS

Jersey Central Has to Correct Its Advertisements, So Great Was Response to Call.

The applicants for jobs on the Central Railroad of New Jersey since the strike order last Saturday are more than enough to man the line, if every one of the present employes should strike, according to William G. Besler, President of the road.

"We are sending out corrections today," he said, "to an advertisement inserted on Monday in New Jersey newspapers. The response has been phenomenal. On Tuesday alone more than one-third of the number of men needed to keep our trains running applied for jobs. The great majority of the applicants were men with previous railroad experience. Many of them were men who lost their jobs because they quit at the time of the 'outlaw' strike.

"From all along the line of the Central we have received offers of aid from commuters. From one town young men volunteered in sufficient numbers to maintain two trains daily from that town to New York.

"I have been personally assured by many of the older employes in the service that they will not quit in the event of a strike."

The application of hundreds of old railroad men for jobs was reported by many of the other railroads. Many small communities near New York continued to hold meetings and recruit volunteers for railroad service if there is a strike.

So many former railroad men already have solicited employment on the New York, New Haven & Hartford that it has not been necessary to advertise for help, according to officials of that line. The same was said to be true of the New York Central. The New Haven was said to be more eager for the services of chauffeurs than volunteers for railroad posts, because that line proposes to use motor trucks on a large scale in making freight movements if the railroad service is crippled.

In spite of the number of volunteers, it was admitted by other officials that the extent to which railroad service is injured depends largely on the action of the engineers. Most of the other posts can be filled.

BUREAU TO THWART ELECTION FRAUDS

Republicans Announce Plan to Investigate Registration Complaints

Samuel S. Koenig, President of the New York County Republican Committee, announced last night after a meeting of the committee that a bureau would be established, with former Assemblyman William W. Pellet in charge, to investigate complaints of illegal or fraudulent registration.

"There have been many such complaints, some of them involving men high in Tammany circles," said Mr. Koenig.

"We shall probably ask the Attorney General to co-operate with us to the extent of having a large number of lawyers, possibly several hundreds, who will volunteer their services, sworn in as special Deputy Attorney Generals to aid in this important work."

At the meeting of the Executive Committee Mr. Koenig received reports from his leaders in every part of Tammany's stronghold, Manhattan.

"The leaders are feeling very hopeful," Mr. Koenig said after receiving these reports. "They inform me that the people are getting aroused and that they have never seen the same amount of interest in the meetings that is in evidence in the present campaign."

At the headquarters of the Coalition Campaign Committee at the Murray Hill Hotel, Chairman Henry W. Taft said last night that growing interest in the campaign was evidenced by a quicker response to the appeal for contributions to finance the fight against Hylan and his Tammany running mates. The amounts received, it was said, were in no instance very large, but there had been a great many contributions during the last two or three days.

With the first appearance this evening of William Travers Jerome as a campaigner for Henry H. Curran, the Coalition campaign is expected to take on new life. Tonight Mr. Jerome will address a meeting at 2,228 Broadway.

The Hylan campaign, according to announcement made at the headquarters of the Hylan League, will begin to strike a swifter gait beginning this evening, when Mayor Hylan, Controller Craig and Dock Commissioner Hulbert, city candidates on the Tammany ticket, will make a tour of Queens and address four mass meetings in that borough.

HOUSE REJECTS BRACKEN.

Votes Against His Claim as Congressman at Large.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Without a dissenting vote, the House today threw out the claim of John P. Bracken of Pittsburgh, that he was elected Congressman at large from Pennsylvania to the Sixty-seventh Congress.

The House also adopted a resolution that Representative Harry B. Hawes, Democrat, was entitled to retain his seat as a member of the House from the 11th Missouri District.

Bracken, who was on the Democratic ticket, contended that as Mahlon M. Gardland, one of the four Congressmen at large elected last November, died before the vote canvass was completed, he should have been declared elected, since he received the fifth highest vote given any candidate.

DENIES MAYOR'S STATEMENT

Howard W. Nudd, Director of the Public Education Association, said yesterday that the minutes of the Board of Education utterly refute statements embodied in the Hylan Campaign Book and repeated by Mayor Hylan in his stump speeches to the effect that when he took office as Mayor "there was not a school house under construction in this city and there was not a contract let for construction." He cites statistics to prove his contention, and also quotes from the minutes of the board a request from Mr. Hylan, after he had been elected, that all school construction be postponed until his own administration and a new Board of Education had taken hold.

METZ ASKS FACTS ON MEYER INQUIRY

CITES CHARTER REVISION

Voters Want to Know, He Says, What Is Wrong With the City Government.

The Meyer Legislative Committee in adjourning until after election "left the public befuddled and high and dry on facts about several important campaign and charter issues," according to a statement issued yesterday by Herman A. Metz, former Controller and Chairman of the Committee on Non-Partisan Facts About New York's 1921 Campaign and Budget.

Mr. Metz complained that in the newspaper reports after the adjournment of the committee, the public did not receive concrete facts, but "a summary, which one anti-Hylan newspaper picturesquely headlined as 'Brown Hits Hylan; Bloch Hits Brown.'

"This is not a one-shore town or a Gopher Prairie, but the world's greatest city," he said. "It is not umpiring bouts between Brown and Hylan and Bloch and Brown, but choosing officials and policies for four important years. The people want to know what is wrong with the City Government and the charter and what ought to be done about them next year. They are anxious to get the facts. They need facts in their voting.

"The Meyer committee investigated ten departments. The only way to find out whether charter revision is needed in these departments is to find out how they are working and where they are breaking down. That's the kind of information voters want, too. For example:

"Of home rule, it is important to learn exactly how much mandatory legislation is costing this city and how much it interferes with efficient business.

"Of municipal operation, voters want to know now, not next Winter, whether the city's management and accounting for its ferries, docks and trackless trolleys are businesslike.

"Of markets, the public ought to know before election how much cheaper food is distributed throughout the city and what program is proposed for better food distribution.

"As to the police department; over a million voters want not bouquets and brickbats, but facts. Before voting the public has a right to know whether police statistics are honest or dishonest, whether they show an increase or decrease in serious crime committed and in detection and punishment of crime.

"Similarly of other departments, voters ought to know whether the new docks on Staten Island are white elephants or trade developers, whether the sick, poor, orphaned and feeble-minded are worse treated than they were four years ago, and whether the Controller's office has been doing better or worse.

FORMAL PEACE DUE WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Exchange of Ratifications With Germany to Be Followed by Commercial Compact.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The exchange of ratifications of the peace treaty with Germany will take place as soon as the necessary papers can be prepared and conveyed to Germany by the State Department. The ceremonies, which will consist simply of the formal exchange of the certified documents, are expected to occur within two weeks.

Negotiations will follow soon for the drafting of a commercial treaty between Germany and the United States. It is not expected that this treaty can be concluded immediately, as it will be necessary for each Government to study the viewpoints and desires of the other, as well as to examine the policies of States generally in the making of commercial treaties.

There are certain reciprocal agreements as to German interests in the United States which the German Government is anxious to have written into a commercial compact, and it is expected this will be taken up through regular diplomatic channels and at German initiative when the peace treaty ratifications have been exchanged and diplomatic machinery set.

No indication was available today as to when it might be decided to withdraw American forces on the Rhine.

Convicted of Triple Murder.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Emil Schutte, storekeeper of the village of Shallerville, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the Middlesex County Superior Court this afternoon. All six counts against him, charging the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ball and their son Jacob, were upheld. He showed no emotion when he faced the jury and heard the foreman tell Judge Maltbie of the verdict.

Judge Maltbie deferred sentence until next Tuesday. There is another indictment against Schutte charging him with the murder of Dennis Leduc, his farmhand, last April.

SAYS HYLAN PUTS POLITICS IN SCHOOLS

careful and honest non-partisan direction.

"Now let's see what happened. Once more we find Mr. Hylan doing what no other candidate in our city's history ever would have dared to do. He and those who beguile the public with his vanity got hold of the list of all the widows in Greater New York whose names are on the Board of Child Welfare rolls.

"Then they sent out notices to these widows to meet in the Washington Irving High School on Tuesday evening, Oct. 18, to attend an 'Americanization' meeting. Attached to the invitation, which was mailed out in Child Welfare envelopes, was a letter from the 'Hylan Non-Partisan League.' Many good women thought it contained their allowances. Instead, they found in the envelope a statement of what a 'big-hearted' man was Mayor Hylan. It was signed by a man named Engel.

"Fearing the power over their pensions, a large number of these good women dressed in their sombre mourning garb and went to the City's high school. Many felt it a duty to attend an 'Americanization' meeting.

Lauded the Mayor.

"And what took place when this pathetic gathering was ushered into their seats? Two speakers, one, I understand, an appointee of Hylan, got up on the platform and lauded our marvelous Mayor. Not a word was said by him about Americanization. Then came the big bally-hoo. His Honor, announced by the flourishes and ruffles of a brass band, strode through the hall and onto the platform where the spotlight played on him and the movies ground out reels of him.

"What did he talk about for nearly one whole hour? Yes; you are right. It was himself that he talked about. Six times in that talk he told those widows that he came to New York a poor boy; fourteen times he spoke about his struggles; and thirteen times he dared recall to these widows their departed husbands, but not once in that talk did he refer to Americanization. What he actually did was to corral the widows into a school hall under the coercion of an official invitation and then make them listen to a political speech.

"And here is the most serious aspect of this sort of imposition. I have a letter from the New York Child Labor Committee enclosing a copy of the letter which was sent to these widows. The letter points out that one of the mothers came in, handed over the letter sent out to the mothers, and innocently asked: 'What must I do and where must I go to vote for Mayor Hylan so that I will not lose my pension?'

"If this good woman so interpreted the Hylan meeting of the Child Welfare Board, what must have gone through the heads of all the other widows who received a similar letter sent out in the official envelope of the Board of Child Welfare, Room 2, City Hall? I say it is time to call a halt when the Mayor of New York stoops so low as to use his high office to get the votes of widowed mothers who depend on the city to keep their homes together.

Talks to Rotary Club.

Earlier in the day Mr. Curran delivered an address at the weekly luncheon of the Brooklyn Rotary Club at the Hotel Bossert. Mayor Hylan was the club's guest at a similar luncheon a week ago.

"Four years ago Mr. Hylan told you that there was something radically wrong with a city Government where taxes kept going up," Mr. Curran said. "He led you to believe that if you would employ him as your Mayor for four years he would put a stop to that. He told you that he could save you money, you became interested, took him at his word and gave him his chance, but has he made good? Every one of you who paid $100 in taxes four years ago is paying $165 this year.

"The government of our city costs a million dollars a day. That is pretty big business and it requires business sense to run it right. I know that Mayor Hylan has no business sense. I know it because I have sat alongside of him for two long years in the Board of Estimate."

Before he went to Brooklyn, Mr. Curran spoke at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore of thirty business men, members of the Business Men's Division of the Coalition Campaign Committee recently organized by Albert Behning of the Harlem Board of Commerce. He will speak tonight at meetings in Manhattan at the clubhouse of the Republican organization of the Seventh Assembly District, 2,228 Broadway; before the Republican organization of the Sixteenth Assembly District, 308 East Seventy-ninth Street; the organization of the Twenty-first Assembly District, 721 St. Nicholas Avenue, and at Wadleigh High School, 115th Street, west of Seventh Avenue.

NO LOOTING OF RELIEF DIRECTOR BROWN SAYS

Thefts of Food Supplies Sent to Russia Have Been Very Small, Up to Present.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Thefts of food supplies sent to Russia by the American Relief Administration have been very small, says a letter from Walter Lyman Brown, European director of the administration, which is quoted by today's London Times. The letter concerns primarily reports that the Russians took large quantities of supplies sent to Petrograd on board the Danish steamship Phoenix, and Mr. Brown declares the loss occasioned by the action of longshoremen there was only slightly more than one-half of one per cent. of the cargo. He adds that this loss could not "by any stretch of the imagination be called looting."

Only 7,790 pounds of a cargo of 1,378,363 pounds was missing between the time the steamer was loaded in Hamburg until the supplies were placed in the Petrograd warehouses, and this shortage was inclusive of all losses.

Mr. Brown's letter adds that American Relief Administration trains have reached distant points in Kazan, Samara, Simbirsk and Saratov with comparatively no shortage in their contents.

H. W. TAFT ASKS WOMEN TO SAVE THE SCHOOLS

Keep Them Out of Tammany's Clutches He Pleads in His First Speech.

Making his first speech of the present campaign at a meeting of the Republican County Committee at Bryant Hall last night, Henry W. Taft appealed to an audience composed mostly of women to save the school system of the city from the clutches of Tammany. Mr. Taft said that shortly after Mayor Hylan was elected, Tammany made an effort to get control of the Board of Education and by terrorizing 21,000 teachers sought to make the schools a part of the Tammany machine.

Mr. Taft said that, in his opinion, the school issue was the most important issue of the campaign, and he also advised the members of the County Committee to lay more stress upon the fact that under the Hylan Administration taxes had increased enormously. He said he looked to the women as the "White Hope" in the election.

'HAZING' VICTIMS JAILED.

Five 'Frat' Candidates Are Arrested for Appropriating Auto.

The mid-day "get together" of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Columbia University, yesterday, was a solemn gathering. Five of the fraternity's candidates for membership had been arrested on a grand larceny charge for appropriating an automobile at Syosett, L. I., earlier in the morning.

The five freshmen arrested were Charles Aldrich, Thomas Conray, T. W. Donovan, Dal Rider and Edgar Lewis. They were taken to Hicksville, L. I., blindfolded. They were also searched for money and other articles that could be pawned.

It was raining when the five students started to walk in an effort to get back to New York. When they reached Syosett they saw an automobile. In the auto they made their way to where a policeman arrested them.

In Westbury Court yesterday morning Judge Kohler suggested to the owner of the auto that he withdraw his complaint. This he did, and the five boys were released.

DE VALERA WARNS POPE ABOUT KING

while Prime Minister Lloyd George has been occupied in Parliament with the unemployment problem.

There has been some loose writing in regard to the work of the conference during the last few days. One imaginative correspondent yesterday wrote:

"The conference has now settled down to a battle of wits between Lloyd George on the one side and Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins on the other. The other members of each delegation are sitting back as spectators, taking little part in the discussion, except in committee meetings, where detailed expert knowledge is called for."

But Mr. Lloyd George and the Sinn Fein delegates have not been within speaking distance for some days past.

Today a subcommittee of the Sinn Fein conferred with Winston Churchill, Captain Guest and General Trenchard, presumably on the question of imperial air stations in Ireland.

Various questions in regard to Ireland were put today in the House of Commons, chiefly by would-be troublemakers, but Sir Hamar Greenwood met them successfully and obtained cheers from the House when he deprecated suggestions that might endanger the success of the conference.

Austen Chamberlain, who will act as chief British representative at the Irish conference if Mr. Lloyd George goes to Washington, addressed a private meeting of the Unionist members today. Mr. Chamberlain, it is understood, said he could not speak on the Irish situation while the conference was sitting. He was aware, he said, that there was considerable unrest in the Unionist Party and he urged them to show patience and forbearance. As soon as his lips were unsealed, he declared, he would gladly speak to them on the Irish question. He urged them to give the Government their loyal confidence and he made a plea for unity in the Coalition ranks.

In reply to some inquiries Mr. Chamberlain explained the steps which he himself had taken in respect of the Irish conference, and gave assurances that the position of Ulster and of Loyalists in the South and West of Ireland would be fully safeguarded. He said he would further explain his attitude in the House of Commons debate. This debate, which will take place at the instance of the Ulster members, will be in the week after next. In preparation for it the Unionist "Die-Hards" held a meeting at the House this evening and framed the following motion:

"Resolved, that this House views with grave apprehension the action of the Government in entering into negotiations with the delegates from Southern Ireland who have taken an oath of allegiance to an Irish Republic and repudiated the sovereignty of the crown, and in view of the fact that the act for the settlement of the relations between Great Britain and Ireland was passed so recently as last year, is of the opinion that no proposals for the government of Southern Ireland should be made without the sanction of Parliament."

A motion of this nature would imply a vote of censure on the Government and would certainly not carry a majority of the Unionist vote.

Ulster May Come Up Today.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—The most difficult problem facing the Irish conference—that of Ulster—will, it is understood, come up before the full conference which is dealing with the subject of Irish peace at a session to be held tomorrow.

The Sinn Fein delegates, having finished their work on sub-committees with the British representatives, have been busy today with their experts concluding their case for presentation to the conference. The Sinn Fein has maintained its determination not to agree to enter the British Commonwealth unless Ireland is treated as a unit. An effort therefore is to be made from the Government's side to induce Ulster to consider some means by which, while preserving its local autonomy, it may form a part of the Irish State.

There has been some agitation among Southern Unionists to a claim for representation in the conference, but instead of this, at the invitation of Premier Lloyd George, they have selected Earl Midleton, Prevost of Trinity College, and Andrew Jameson, who is a director of the Bank of Ireland, to be available for consultation with the British delegation on any question affecting their position. On the other hand, Captain Henry Harrison, Secretary of the Irish Dominion League, has advised them that they can best protect their interests by entering into consultations with representatives of the Dail Eireann.

Premier Lloyd George, answering a question in the House of Commons today, said that the question of the release of interned and untried prisoners in Ireland would be one for discussion in connection with the terms of final peace.

TWO WOUNDED IN BELFAST.

Military and Snipers Clash in Stanhope Street Area.

BELFAST, Oct. 20.—Two persons were wounded during firing which occurred in the Stanhope Street area between military and snipers last evening. One of the injured was a young girl.

REPUBLIC'S FOUNDER AND PREMIER KILLED

Queiros, then Premier. It resulted as follows:

Liberals	65
Democrats	57
Monarchists	5
Catholics	2
Other groups	5

But the new Chamber had no sooner convened on July 25 than many of the Liberals began to turn from the Government, when it became evident that their leaders had traded with the Democrats for the latter's support. Senhor Queiros then tried to obtain the support of the Monarchists and in a eulogistic speech welcomed their return to the Chamber. During August the Monarchists rapidly gained in influence until the radical Democrats and Republicans united and defeated Queiros. The Government, however, before it decided to resign, has been repeatedly defeated—its defeat usually being followed by an ironical majority.

The fall of Queiros brought in Granjo in the first week in September, but by this time the Monarchists had grown so bold that he feared to administer to them the rebuke that had been expected of him; so he contented himself with trying to again gain popular favor outside Parliament by certain economic measures—economy in administration, taxation reform, the introduction of a general income tax, the conversion of the national debt and the issue of a loan for the consolidation of the floating debt—measures which successive Governments had tried in one way and another before, but which had always been defeated because passage of them ultimately would have touched the pockets of the legislators themselves through their various perquisites.

Thus there was no question of public suffering involved—business prospered in the old way, and those individuals who were nearest the Government gained most—but the nation's economic and financial health was at stake, for which the people, to judge from the press, seemed to care less and less.

Side by side with the failure during and since the war to enlarge the basis of revenue has gone the steady increase in the public debt. From 648,000 contos in 1914 it has risen to over 1,500,000 contos, while the fiduciary circulation, which was 83,216 contos in 1914, was last Summer over half a million, a conto being about equal to a dollar of United States gold.

Among those reported assassinated, Machado dos Santos is by far the most conspicuous, for even the Premier, Granjo, was only known outside of Portugal as having tried for a brief period to maintain a Government a year ago and in the present year of having succeeded Queiros.

Machado, having planned the Republican revolution of 1910, did not then accept the Presidential chair. He was President, however, when the great war came, and with his Government loyally supported the cause of the Allies, in accordance with the royalist treaties made with England and France.

FALL IN DRAG HUNT MAIMS MRS. WALLEN

HER CONDITION IS SERIOUS

Chest Crushed, Six Ribs and Wrist Broken—A Horse Show Exhibitor.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Mrs. George S. Wallen of East Putnam Avenue, Greenwich, Conn., was seriously injured yesterday afternoon by the fall of her mount during a drag hunt of the Greenwich Riding Association on the estate of Hugh J. Chisolm Jr., at Port Chester. Mrs. Wallen was taken to St. Agnes's Hospital at White Plains, and it was said there tonight that it would be several days before it would be known whether she would recover.

Mrs. Wallen's chest was crushed in by the weight of the horse, which rolled on her. X-ray photographs taken today showed that she sustained six broken ribs, a broken wrist, a fracture of the pelvis and internal injuries.

Mrs. Wallen, who is an accomplished equestrian, was mounted on a hunter owned by Percy A. Rockefeller, who is actively interested in the Greenwich Riding Association. The hunt, which was joined in by many wealthy residents of Westchester County, N. Y., and Fairfield County, Conn., was one of the fastest of the year, and only two or three riders were able to keep up with the hounds as they followed the drag.

Finding themselves unable to keep up with the pace, Mrs. Wallen and other riders dropped out of the chase and started for home cross-country. The party was a merry one and went on smoothly until they encountered the second wall on the Chisolm estate.

The wall was not a particularly high one and well within the capacity of Mrs. Wallen's mount, a noted jumper. The horse, however, caught a foot on the wall, while attempting to clear it, and came down with Mrs. Wallen to the ground on the far side. The horse, badly injured, rolled on Mrs. Wallen and pinned her to the earth. Other riders, who hurried to the injured woman's assistance, had difficulty in extricating her, and it was feared, when she was first pulled out unconscious, that her injuries were likely to prove fatal.

This was said to be the sixth accident of exactly the same type in the history of the Westchester County hunt, and friends of Mrs. Wallen said they considered it miraculous that she was not killed outright.

Before her marriage Mrs. Wallen was Miss Natalie Ray Greene of Narragansett Pier, R. I., a descendant of General Nathaniel Greene of Revolutionary fame. She was married to Mr. Wallen, who is head of George S. Wallen & Co., coffee merchants, of 90 Water Street, New York City, in 1910, and has two children, Ellen L. and George G. Wallen.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wallen have been frequent exhibitors at society horse shows. They formerly lived at Little Farms, White Plains, and for a few years after their marriage in New York City.

to be in proper trim for the day's business must be tuned up daily just as the orchestra is tuned up in the Academy of Music each evening, as its members gather before the entertainment. When the leader, with his tuning fork, arrives he gives the concert pitch, and as each player comes in he must get that chord, so that all may be in harmony for the great occasion the orchestra is facing.

To be at concert pitch for our day's work, let each leader be faithful to do his part in striking the right note beforehand.

We are going to let 150 Topcoats go Today at $34

Were $40, $45 and $50 in our regular stocks

Sizes are incomplete. And we are not going to buy any more topcoats this season. So, rather than disappoint any man—say one size 38 who sees just the pattern he wants in size 35, but cannot get it in his size—we are going to let the lot go today at $6 to $16 less than their regular prices.

Many patterns—few coats of a kind

Box coats, quarter lined with silk serge. Chesterfields, single and double breasted, full lined. Herringbones and diagonals in fine tweeds, cheviots and unfinished worsteds—many of them imported fabrics. And plain oxford cheviots and unfinished worsteds.

All Burlington Arcade Shop Coats

In the lot there will be a very interesting choice in every size, 35 to 46.

Shirts at $1.35

The sort we sold a year ago at $3 and $4

ALL WOVEN madras—the whole 3,000. Wish we had thirty times three thousand such shirts to sell at $1.35. We don't believe any other store has one. Big selection of very good patterns and good colors. Satin stripes. Corded madras. Plain white madras. Sorry we can't promise any more like them at so low a price.

The better kind of wool Socks

We have imported a large quantity of the better kind of wool socks, which will come as a grateful relief from imitations which have been exploited elsewhere of late.

Medium weights, at $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 pair. Heavy weights, at $1, $1.25, $1.50. And a lighter weight at $1.75.

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building.

Adv Men!

Read this advertisement whether you are looking for a position or not.

WE want one of those rare birds—a capable contact-service-copy man.

We've interviewed dozens of applicants, but none measures up to our requirements. We want no propagator of mediocre ideas; no dabbler with whispering copy; no art-show dilettante.

We want a man who has actually done original, sound, forceful work; who can take hold of several prominent national accounts and do the sort of work that will make a reputation for him.

He must create ideas; write; visualize; sell his work to the client and see it through the shop.

The opportunity is exceptional

This is a medium-sized, highly-regarded agency that is growing remarkably fast. Clients are large, first-rate concerns. Working conditions particularly congenial.

The men who get into this agency now have their future assured. There is plenty of room at the top.

Men without exceptional ability, plus agency experience, will waste their time to reply.

POLITICIANS HELD AS RUM GRAFTERS

THREE WOMEN COMPLAIN

Warrant Out for Union Official—Charge Is Made That They Posed as Federal Officers.

Thomas E. Burke, a former process server in the Staten Island office of District Attorney Joseph A. Maloy, and William Brown, a Deputy Sheriff, were arrested yesterday on indictments charging them with extortion and attempted extortion. Burke and Brown were held in $500 bail and a bench warrant was issued for Frederick England, an official of the Staten Island branch of the Longshoremen's Union, who was also named in the indictments.

Eight indictments were returned against Burke by the Staten Island Extraordinary Grand Jury on Wednesday. In four of them he is charged with accepting from former saloonkeepers sums ranging from $5 to $50, and in the remaining indictments he is accused of having attempted to extort money from others under threat of arresting them for violating the prohibition law. Brown was named in three of the indictments returned against Burke and England in two.

In telling of the investigation which led up to the indictment of the men District Attorney Maloy explained that a woman complainant against Burke declared that when he attempted to extort money from her the former process server displayed a badge on which were the letters "U. S." He said that Burke made a denial of the woman's charge, but admitted that he had turned over to his attorney the badge received by him nine months ago when he was appointed a process server, and which he refused to surrender to the District Attorney on the ground that his dismissal on the first grafting charge lodged against him was illegal.

Three of the complainants against Burke were women, District Attorney Maloy said. Mrs. Frances Dach, said the District Attorney, declared that on the afternoon of Sept. 29 last Burke entered her home in Linoleumville with one of the other indicted men and tried to get $50 from her. Mr. Maloy quoted her as having said that Burke told her that they were "revenue Inspectors" and that they came to search her home for liquor, and that she refused to comply with their demand.

FIND PLOT TO RELEASE $15,000,000 IN LIQUOR

Philadelphia Dry Officials Accuse Two Former Officials of Traffic in Permits.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—An alleged conspiracy by which liquor valued at nearly $15,000,000 was withdrawn from distilleries in many States through the issuance of fraudulent permits was revealed tonight by high prohibition officers, who announced that warrants had been issued for the arrest of two former officials in the office of W. C. McConnell, Director of Federal Prohibition Enforcement in Pennsylvania.

According to prohibition officers here the permits were issued promiscuously when it became known in Washington that radical changes were to be made in the enforcement personnel of Pennsylvania. Stores were said to have been withdrawn from distilleries in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania, some of which was captured by New York and Philadelphia enforcement agents before they could be delivered. Others known to be en route are expected to be seized momentarily.

HAYNES GOES TO KENTUCKY

Prohibition Commissioner Will Investigate Illicit Manufacture There.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes plans to leave tomorrow for a survey of the liquor situation in Kentucky, it was said today at prohibition headquarters.

Mr. Haynes, it was said, plans to go to Cincinnati and thence to Louisville where he will direct a survey of illicit distilleries in Kentucky. His visit, it was explained was in line with the policy of effecting clean-ups in various States.

why the property should not be confiscated.

Directed by District Attorney Charles R. Weeks, Nassau County officers Wednesday night raided the cellar of the home of Mrs. Mary McGilligan, on the Shore Road, near Manhasset, and seized about $10,000 worth of liquors. Included in the seizure, said to be the biggest in Nassau County since prohibition went into effect, were eleven barrels of sherry, thirty-three boxes of "home brew," brandy and assorted liquors and two large cans of alcohol.

Mrs. McGilligan waived examination and was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury by Justice of the Peace Thomas E. Hoeber at Mineola. She is a widow, about 55 years old.

Major Edward Underwood, Chairman of the Committee on Housing and Relief of the Municipal Industrial Aid Bureau, said yesterday that prohibition was a factor in simplifying the unemployment problem. Major Underwood is in charge of the metropolitan district of the Salvation Army.

"Having gone through other periods of industrial depression," he said in a statement, "when the open saloon was on every corner, and the terrible suffering of the individuals and families coming to my notice, I am conscious of a new element in the present emergency which has never appeared in other years.

"The handling of the families of the men has become greatly simplified through the absence of the drinking element, and many of the men who in other years were coming to us for assistance are this year applying in better condition, and able to care for themselves.

"Make no mistake by thinking that prohibition has become a contributing cause of unemployment, because that is not so, and I feel confident that the added industries and business activities which have taken the place of the saloon are employing many more men than were employed by the liquor business."

Four men were arrested by Federal agents in lower Fifth Avenue yesterday when, it is alleged, they attempted to deliver fifteen cases of whisky without a permit, said to have been the first shipment of a 100-case delivery to be made in East Fifteenth Street. Those arrested were Ernesto Lavino of 401 East 115th Street, Anthony Galucci of 252 East 117th Street, Frunguelo Consiglio of 1,252 St. Lawrence Avenue, the Bronx, and Louis E. Lango of 75 Sumner Avenue, Newark. They are charged with transporting liquor without a permit.

Federal Prohibition Director Dunn of Rhode Island was here yesterday conferring with Acting Director Yellowley on enforcement matters.

CALLS FOR CHANGE IN SCHOOL UNIT

Dr. Graves, at State University Convocation, Says District Division Bars Progress.

HE SUCCEEDS DR. FINLEY

President Butler of Columbia Condemns Vocational Training in Certain Grades as Sham.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Oct. 20.—Suitable progress by New York State schools cannot be made until they are independent of city and rural authorities, declared Dr. Frank Pierrepont Graves tonight in his inaugural address as President of the University of the State of New York. Dr. Graves, who opened the fifty-seventh convocation of the university and succeeds Dr. John H. Finley as State Commissioner of Education, in developing his theme urged the adoption of a broader system of administration than the district unit.

Chancellor Chester S. Lord, who spoke on the influence of the war on intelligence and progress, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, who dissected current trends in education—calling vocational training "a costly sham"—were other speakers.

"Can we meet the enormous expenditures for schools, it is asked by some, with the growing demands of other city departments?" asked Dr. Graves. "How can we expect the municipalities to keep up their streets, parks, water supply, police and fire protection when such large requests are made for schools? The ordinary budget and the statutory limitation on taxes, it would seem, will not stand it. There is but one answer to all this, and we must face it frankly. The schools do not belong to the city and should not be considered among its municipal expenditures.

"If they are to be classified in the general municipal budget, they inevitably get the small end of it."

On the need of a larger unit of organization, he said:

"The fundamental difficulty is, of course, the need of a larger unit of organization, based upon the centralization of community interests at a given place. A much increased population could thus be served educationally and the children of our rural districts be afforded many of the advantages of urban schools. New York is one of the few States still retaining the district unit. Some commonwealths have adopted the township basis; others have combined this with the county plan, as in Pennsylvania and Ohio; but more progressive States, like Maryland and New Jersey, have come to an unalloyed county unit.

"The district unit in New York means that, instead of one board to a county, we have anywhere from fifty to 200, and, to say nothing of other drawbacks, there are not enough broad-minded and unselfish Trustees to go around. Among the fruits of this policy are small, unenthusiastic and expensive schools, poor teachers, a lack of administrative officers, no differentiation or specialization of the work, wretched buildings, inadequate equipment and frequently no high school.

"Until New York adopts a larger unit than the district, under an authority of larger grasp, insight and devotion than the average Trustee, there is no prospect of solving the most serious of all our educational problems in New York... Such a reorganization will not be easy."

Recalling that he had taken part in the dedication of the State Education Building nine years ago, Dr. Butler said that with the passing of the years, "education has been plainly drifting."

"Except for occasional and widely scattered signs of some comprehension of what is going on," he said, "education has remained in that rhapsodical stage that has been characteristic of it, in this country at least, for quite 50 years. Instead of searching constructive criticism or a firm hold on fundamental principles of human nature and human society and their application to the task of teaching, we have been too content to be content with phrase-making and vain, if high-sounding, words.

"Public opinion—so easily imposed upon, so patient, and so often, so unaccountably indifferent—is beginning to give evidence of recognition that education, as now commonly organized and carried on, is far from satisfactory. The evidences of dissatisfaction multiply and may be found in England and in France as well as in the United States. This indicates that we are confronted in education, as in so many other fields of thought and action, by a problem that is not primarily national, but rather world-wide. Both in England and in France, and certainly in the United States, education is more costly, more complex, and more long drawn out than ever before, and yet it is apparently less effective than when less costly, less complex, and less long drawn out.

"It may not be easy to find a single reason for all this or to suggest a remedy offhand. My own judgment is that the reasons are to be found deep down in some of the changing tendencies of the time, and that until those tendencies exhaust themselves the state of education will continue to be unsatisfactory, no matter how much time and money are spent upon it."

Inviting consideration of his statement that most of the leaders of American life "started at the lowest rung of social and economic life," Dr. Butler, referring to complaints that such progress was no longer easy, sought to find the answer.

"The answer," he said, "is that some of the ruling tendencies of our time, some of the most popularly supported movements in our life and education, are closing, or have closed, this door. The moment that one accepts the amazing fallacy that there is no such thing as general training, that there are no knowledges and no habits which may be made useful in any direction whatsoever, but that every individual must be directly trained for a specific task or calling and then held to it, that individual finds the door of opportunity shut in his face.

"The whole scheme of vocational training is not only a sham, and a costly sham, but an immense injury both to the individual and to the community, if it is permitted to find its way into the six elementary school years, or, in any but the most restricted fashion, into the six secondary school years."

THERE is no subject so rare that it deserveth not a place in this rhapsodie," says the chatty Montaigne of his essays.

But it's an even better description of the scope of this store.

Cook's Tour

THE interesting Cook's Tour index next door, however, does need the aid of my clear-eyed little lorgnette to spread light on some of the important details.

Every-Thing!

TODAY, at my left (under the fitting title, Every-Thing) I see there is a complete Shoppers' Guide given of the departments of this store. And I might mention that "everything" refers to quality as well as quantity; it means every-thing-you-want!

Bright

WHO, for instance, would know from the mere announcement—Jewelry—anything about that scintillating new subject,—cut steel earrings?

They're the proper concomitants (as the philosophers always say) of the fashionable new tiny cut-steel shoe buckles, bracelets, pendants and brooches. (They're all present at the Jewelry counter, too.)

Earrings in ball and long drop pendants, $7.95 to $15.

Pigskin

BEHIND the calm announcement Leather Goods—lurks the interesting news of new imported arrivals in genuine pigskin. These are leather things designed primarily for men—from match cases ($1) to collar boxes ($5.95). There are also roomy tobacco pouches ($5) and bill folds of various sizes.

Not a Word

NOT a word does my left hand neighbor say about the important fact that the newest slip-on sweaters have high-necked collars which may be turned down becomingly, as well.

The recipe for enthusiastic response to this new fashion—is to try on any of the new tan or brown camel's hair slip-ons, $12.95.

PLOTREVENGEON U.S. OFFICIALS IN FRANCE

Marne and is stamped with the official seal of these bodies.

Tomorrow (Friday) is the day generally set for carrying out the threats and demonstrations, and the French police are taking every precaution to prevent gatherings of any kind near the buildings occupied by Americans.

Consul General Thackara has received ten letters, but all couched in mild language, except one. Of those sent to the Ambassador today only one is of an inflammatory character. Many are politely phrased and merely protest against the executions.

The Journal du Peuple, the Communist organ, speaking for the Communists of Paris, dismisses the attempt on Ambassador Herrick's life as "purely and simply a police machination." It finds too many "inexplicable coincidence" in the affair, such as "the extreme astuteness of the valet, unless he had been forewarned.

"The American Government has the habit of doing these things," continued the paper. "Such attempts have often in the last twenty years been fabricated beyond the Atlantic to give pretext for the repression of militant anarchists and revolutionaries."

Experts at the city laboratory have completed examination of fragments of the bomb and confirm earlier reports that it was of British make of the reversible type.

"If the man who opened the package had not been a soldier in the late war he would have been blown to pieces," a police official said this morning. It was admitted that these fragments offer scant foundation for the investigation, as hundreds of thousands of bombs left from the war are scattered throughout Europe.

Blanchard, Mr. Herrick's valet, probably will leave the American hospital tomorrow, as his injuries have proved to be slight. An X-ray is being taken today to determine the exact location of the bomb fragments, which his physicians said could be removed without difficulty.

The first thing Mr. Herrick did on his arrival at the Embassy this morning was to issue instructions that anyone desiring to give him a present must bring it opened to the Embassy. All packages brought to the Embassy will be under suspicion and will be opened under water in the presence of police.

Minister of War Barthou, accompanied by a number of French Generals, called upon Mr. Herrick this morning and congratulated him in the name of the French Army for his narrow escape. Virtually all of the diplomatic corps in Paris paid official calls at the Embassy during the forenoon.

The Ambassador has decided to rest several days at his place in the country. Although not ill, Mr. Herrick thought it best to abstain from official duties for a day or two to remove the possibility of reaction from his nervous shock. Mr. Herrick, at the request of his staff, has decided not to use his open automobile for a week or ten days. He has promised to ride only in a closed car. His machine is the same style as the horse-drawn Victoria so prevalent in Paris. Its use would expose the Ambassador to any further possible attempt which might be made on his life.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—No arrests had been made up to to-night in connection with the sending of a bomb yesterday to Ambassador Herrick. The police are working on the premise that it was a job of the communists, and this afternoon's papers say suspicion is directed toward an American communist expelled from the United States. An amusing feature is that the grenade was wrapped in a copy of the Action Francaise, a royalist newspaper. This probably represented the would-be murderer's idea of humor.

The Paris newspapers, with the exception of the communist sheets, express indignation over the attempt and declare it has made Mr. Herrick dearer than ever to all good Frenchmen. The communist press continues its tirades against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, and announce that in addition to a mass meeting tomorrow night a big protest meeting will be held Sunday afternoon.

The Ambassador received several more threatening letters today, which were turned over to the police, who are comparing the handwriting of the missives with that of a portion of the address on the bomb package found in the Embassy bathroom after the explosion.

The Temps tonight well summarizes the comment of the French editors.

"An attempt as stupid as hateful has been directed against the eminent Ambassador of the United States, to whom numberless expressions of gratification at his escape have shown the esteem in which he is held. The low criminal who dreamed of assassinating our great friend now sees the effect of his effort. Never was the popularity of Mr. Herrick better shown than by the expressions of gratitude at his escape from an attempt made in hate which the human conscience fails to comprehend."

The Gaulois says: "The criminal attempt would make Mr. Herrick all the dearer to us if in the tragic days of 1914 he had not already won the hearts of all decent Frenchmen."

The Journal says nothing should be left undone to punish those guilty, and expresses the hope that it will be proved that Frenchmen had nothing to do with the affair.

The Journals des Débats declares: "French opinion feels the deepest indignation over the criminal attempt against Mr. Herrick. French opinion condemns all crime, but especially a crime aimed at the Ambassador of a friendly country, Mr. Herrick, who has a special right to the esteem of France and the love of Paris."

The Oeuvre observes: "It certainly was not Frenchmen who sent the infernal machine."

At Brest last night several hundred communists after attending a meeting of protest against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti paraded past the American Consulate, throwing stones and bricks at it. A number of windows were broken, but no serious damage was done. Consul General Forbus was not at home.

A manifestation in favor of the two condemned men also took place before the American Embassy in Brussels last night.

Plot to Terrorize Americans.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 20.—The bombing of the home of Ambassador Herrick in Paris is part of a well-laid plot of the same group that bombed homes of prominent Americans in 1919, according to records on file with the Loyal American League, E. E. Noble, head of the organization here, announced today.

"We have information that American representatives abroad are to be terrorized and, if necessary, some American Ambassadors may be killed," Noble said.

"This is to be done as a protest over the conviction and proposed execution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

"It was this same group that planned and executed the bombing of eight homes of American officials throughout the country on June 2, 1919."

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Fred H. Moore, of counsel for Niccola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of murder, in a statement tonight deplored the sending of a bomb to Ambassador Herrick in Paris, supposedly by sympathizers with the condemned men.

"I cannot conceive how any intelligent and sane person sincerely interested in obtaining ultimate justice for these two men could hope that this sort of thing could benefit them," he said. "The presumption, therefore, is that it was the act either of an enemy or an insane person.

"I believe that the public and authorities will be big enough to disregard what has happened in considering the guilt or innocence of these two men. Honest persons who have read the complete report of the trial believe that a terrible mistake was made by the jury. If an error was made, from mistaken judgment, it should be corrected.

"There is evidently a mistaken idea in Europe that the American courts have finally failed to render justice to Sacco and Vanzetti and that their lives must be forfeited. Motions for a new trial and an appeal are pending."

DIAZ LAYS WREATH ON ROOSEVELT TOMB

Guest at Wanamaker Dinner in the Evening Sees "Sally" and Hears "Barber of Seville."

Italy's homage to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt was paid by General Armando Diaz yesterday when, in the name of his Government, he laid a wreath on the grave of the dead President at Oyster Bay. Today he will visit Grant's Tomb and inspect the United States Military Academy at West Point. General Diaz and his party, numbering nearly fifty, left the Ritz Carlton yesterday morning by motor and sped swiftly through the rain to Oyster Bay. They walked up the hill to the Roosevelt grave, two officers bearing a huge wreath of asters and chrysanthemums with a ribboned inscription reading "To Theodore Roosevelt in the name of the People of Italy—General Diaz."

Three World War veterans, holders of the Congressional Medal of Honor, acted as the Italian General's guard of honor during the day. They were Lieutenant Sidney Gumpertz of the Thirty-third Division, Gunnery Sergeant Ernest Janson of the Sixth Marines, and Sergeant Fred Dickman, a one-armed veteran of the Third Division. Entering the railed enclosure to the grave, General Diaz, his staff and his American escort paused at salute before the Italian General laid the wreath against the headstone. He then turned and said in Italian:

"At the Tomb of Roosevelt it is not fitting to make a speech, but only to express the deepest regard. At the Tomb of Roosevelt I pay tribute in the name of my Government, in the name of the Italian people, and in the name of my comrades in arms to one who in life was loved and in death adored."

When he left the Roosevelt burial plot General Diaz received a bunch of flowers with the message that they came from Mrs. Roosevelt, who had heard of the Italian generalissimo's visit just as she was leaving Oyster Bay for New York. "Please express to Mrs. Roosevelt my deepest thanks," General Diaz responded in English.

C. Ward Smith, Governor Miller's Secretary, with members of the Governor's military staff, took General Diaz to the State Asylum at King's Park where there are 130 shell shocked patients. Here he inspected exhibits of the men's vocational training work. Outside the building was a pitiful line of fifty nerve-shattered veterans. There were several Italians in the number and General Diaz gave each a word of cheer in their own tongue. On the return to New York a stop was made for luncheon at the Piping Rock Club, where General Diaz and his staff were entertained by Henry R. Winthrop, President of the club, and Frederic P. Moore, Chairman of the House Committee.

Rodman Wanamaker was the host at a dinner attended by many city officials given in General Diaz's honor last night at the Ritz.

Toasts were drunk to President Harding and the King of Italy. Mayor Hylan was the only speaker before General Diaz, who said a few words in Italian, thanking the Mayor, Mr. Wanamaker and the American Legion for his reception in this country.

AGED JANITOR SLAYS TENANT IN REVENGE

MOB WANTS TO BEAT HIM

Because, according to his story, he had failed to obtain justice from the courts over an alleged insult to his wife, William O'Malley, 65 years old, janitor of an apartment house at 62 East 115th Street, shot and killed Max Spungen, a tenant, in front of that place at noon yesterday. With a bullet in the neck, Spungen ran toward the home of his mother, 65 East 115th Street, but fell dead on the way. O'Malley fired two more bullets, one wounding Bertrand Rice of 65 East 116th Street in the right leg, and then awaited arrest.

Policeman Murphy, who was near by, put the man under arrest.

"Yes, I shot him to keep the good name of my wife and family clean," O'Malley said, the policeman reported.

Murphy summoned an ambulance from Harlem Hospital, as Spungen's three children, Schindler, 14 years old; Philip, 11, and Samuel, 8, bound home from school, joined the increasing throng. Schindler, finding that his father was the victim, threw himself on the body, crying loudly. Mrs. Spungen, whose husband was proprietor of the Phoenix Cigar Manufacturing Company, 535 East Seventy-fifth Street, swooned when informed of the tragedy. Spungen's mother rushed into the street and it was necessary to restrain her from doing herself injury.

A crowd of more than 1,000, many of them school children, aroused by the sobs of Spungen's grieving relatives, demanded that the prisoner be dealt with on the spot and attempted to rush the policeman as he warded off blows from fists and sticks directed at O'Malley. Unable to make his way through the crowd, Murphy backed the janitor into a hallway and summoned reserves and detectives from the East 104th Street Station.

When the reserves arrived, Murphy commandeered an automobile and took O'Malley to the East 104th Street Station.

Witnesses said O'Malley and Spungen had had an argument on the stoop of the apartment house when Spungen came home to luncheon. O'Malley, apparently under the stress of great emotion, made a gesture toward the cigar manufacturer, and then drew his revolver, it was said. Some of the many witnesses found by the police said Rice was struck at the first shot O'Malley fired, and that the second or third shot sent after the fleeing Spungen had brought him down.

11 CHILDREN TAKEN FROM BABY FARM

ISLIP, L. I., Oct. 20.—Taken from what was described as a filthy and unsanitary house, eleven children, all undernourished and ranging from 5 weeks to 10 years old, were today placed under the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children as a result of an investigation of a nursery maintained by Mrs. Grace Kalwite. One of the children died in an ambulance on the way to Kings County Hospital. Another is said to be in a precarious condition, and the medical authorities say that it will be months before the others reach a normal state.

The seizure of the children was caused by Preston B. Chapman, President of the society, and Dr. William A. Baker, Health Officer, after a visit to the house.

What About Price?

Most people are pretty much interested now-a-days in the consideration of price, especially in the price of wearing apparel. Hence a statement of policy may not come amiss.

Since the inception of this business our prices have been based on cost plus a reasonable profit. The cost is fixed by the quality of materials and workmanship used, which, in the case of Dr. Reed Cushion Shoes, is of the highest.

The result of our policy has been the development of a shoe which is most economical in that its serviceability is extraordinary. In this, as in the matter of comfort and style, we invite the most severe comparison—it always leads ultimately to the purchase of Dr. Reed Cushion Shoes.

OLD DUTCH DECLINE 3D PLACE IN SHOW

FOUND EXPENSE TOO GREAT

Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer Announces Withdrawal of Knickerbocker Families.

Why the original Dutch settlers will not be represented with other nationalities at the America's Making Exposition opening at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory on Oct. 29, was explained last night to THE NEW YORK TIMES by Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer, organizer of the Dutch section, which was to have included fifty or more lineal descendants of old Knickerbocker families. She said they had unpacked the old costumes of their ancestors to wear in the pageant, but had packed them up again because among other things, they had not been formally recognized as part of the historic exposition, were not placed at the head of the pageant, where she thought history entitled them to be, and furthermore had not found the undertaking as inexpensive as they might have desired.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer's statement followed an announcement by Mathilde Spence, acting General Director of the organization, who said that Governor Miller had accepted an invitation to be present with his staff at the opening of the exposition.

"While Miss Spence was perfectly lovely," said Mrs. Van Rensselaer at her home, 157 East Thirty-seventh Street, "we never received any formal recognition in the way of a notice from the Secretary of the organization that we had been made a part of the main committee. It's true that, when we started to arrange the Dutch booth in the Armory, they put us away off in a little corner; and they told us, 'You must pay for putting up your booth,' which would cost about $200; 'You must pay for the wiring,' which would cost $125, and 'You must pay' (I forget how many hundred dollars) 'for a pageant director,' who was to teach us to walk around in our historic costumes. When everything was considered, according to Mrs. Van Rensselaer, the expenses of the Dutch section began to approach $10,000, and this sum she explained she found it impossible to raise.

"The Dutch arrived here in 1609," asserted Mrs. Van Rensselaer, "and didn't the Mayflower arrive in 1620?"

Miss Spence, however, said it would be unfortunate if the Dutch, who founded New York, should not be represented in this great historical exposition.

Rail Places Open to Lafayette Men.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—Lafayette College students can have employment on the Pennsylvania Railroad in the event of a general railroad strike, according to a letter from A. B. Clark, superintendent of the Trenton Division of the company, which was read today in chapel. The college authorities were requested to ascertain how many students would be willing to accept work. Less than an hour after the list was opened seventy-five students had affixed their signatures, fifty-five saying they had experience as firemen and trainmen.

$351,967,007 BUDGET DROPS COLLEGE PAY

MAYOR AND 5 FIGHT ORDER

Hylan Says He Has Asked for an Appeal—He and Craig Attack Curran.

Disregarding the decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court affirming Justice Francis Martin's order for the city to pay a legislative mandatory increase in the salaries of professors in the College of the City of New York, the Board of Estimate adopted a tentative budget for 1922 of $351,967,007.09 without including any appropriation for this purpose. The board still has ten days in which reductions may be made, but there can be no increases or additions. The Board of Aldermen will then have twenty days in which it may make reductions, subject to the approval of the Mayor.

Controller Charles L. Craig and Commissioner of Public Works Clarence H. Fay, representing Henry H. Curran, Borough President of Manhattan, favored the inclusion of the appropriation but were outvoted by the Mayor, the other four Borough Presidents and William P. Kennedy, acting President of the Board of Aldermen. "While not actually contemptuous, this action of ours might be interpreted as disrespectful," one member of the board said later.

"The trouble is that they go to Albany every year," said Mayor Hylan. "It is time to stop this. Let us take a stand on mandatory legislation now and have a showdown."

Mayor Requests An Appeal.

The Mayor said he had written a letter to the Corporation Counsel directing an appeal, which he read in part as follows:

"This is a subterfuge to get around the Constitution, as I understand it, as it applies to cities of the first class of a million inhabitants or more. There is only one city of the first class that has more than a million inhabitants, and that is New York City. Such legislation is an imposition upon the taxpayers of the city and should not be tolerated. Take this up without delay."

Controller Craig said that the best way to get rid of such legislation was to enforce it.

"The way to cure the evil is to have an amendment to the Constitution to give to New York City representation in the Legislature according to its population," said Controller Craig. "The way it is now, under a Constitution adopted at the will of the railroads, there is an overwhelming up-State Republican majority in the Legislature. The only way to cure this is to commit every candidate for the Legislature to an amendment to provide equal representation for the city. Meanwhile these laws are on the books. We have no power within the tax limit to refuse these requests. They should be put in the budget."

Mayor Takes Fling at Curran.

"There is one member of the board," said the Mayor, looking at Mr. Fay, who occupied Mr. Curran's seat, "who has been going around telling the people this board is responsible for the increased tax burden. It is time the people knew who is going around and not telling the truth."

After the City College matter was out of the way, the board adopted the budget, with Mr. Fay not voting and Controller Craig voting in the affirmative. Mayor Hylan said he would ask every member of the board, and particularly Mr. Curran, to consider the budget carefully with a view to suggesting reductions. The Mayor remarked that he would ask Mr. Fay to tell Mr. Curran that the latter's department had shown proportionately larger increases than any other in the city.

"I don't understand what you mean, Mr. Mayor, when you say Manhattan has increased," said Mr. Fay, "when in fact our requests are $500,000 lower than last year."

"Now your increase in the time I named, the last two years, has been larger than any other department," replied the Mayor. "The average increase has been 65 per cent., while you run up to 80."

"That increase was due to mandatory laws," said Mr. Fay.

"I agree with you on that," retorted the Mayor, "but you tell him not to go around and blame them on me."

"While you are taking messages," interjected Controller Craig, "I wish you would do me a little favor. Tell him that the $20,000,000 Court House he is talking about is only a $7,500,000 Court House. He is only $13,000,000 overboard on this. If he is no more accurate on his five-cent fare stuff, it will run up to 13 cents on him, if he is not careful."

At the end of the meeting Mayor Hylan announced that public hearings on the budget would be held next Tuesday and Wednesday.

An order for the Board of Trustees of City College to show cause why the application of the city for permission to appeal from the decision of the Appelate Division was signed late in the afternoon by Justice Clarke and served upon its members. Charles H. Tuttle, counsel for the college, said he did not wish to comment upon the Mayor's charge that the legislation was a "salary grab," except to say that every New York City legislator without regard to party voted for the measure.

Mrs. Frederick Edey, as Grand Marshal, will head the parade, followed by Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, National President of the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady, Mrs. V. Everit Macy, Mrs. Selden Bacon, Mrs. William G. McAdoo, Mrs. Harold I. Pratt and other well-known women will also march. Various bands and four drum and bugle corps of Girl Scouts from Manhattan, Bronx, White Plains and Purchase will assist.

FOCH TO VISIT N. Y. U.

Will Present Captured German Gun on Nov. 18.

A cablegram received yesterday by Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown of New York University from General Charles H. Sherrill in Paris said that Marshal Foch had arranged to visit New York University on Nov. 18 to receive the honorary degree of LL. D and to present a captured German cannon to the university. Ambassador Jusserand has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the same time if he can arrange his program.

The captured cannon is to be placed at the summit of Battery Hill, the high point of the campus, which was the site of Fort No. 8 of the defenses thrown up by Washington's army.

House-Planning Number

WHY don't you try making a scrapbook for your house and another one for your garden out of the things that interest you most in House & Garden? You'll use every one of these ideas sooner or later.

IN this issue, you'll want to keep the sketches of delightful living rooms that have been made in a transformed barn or an abandoned canal-side cottage in something more permanent than your memory.

THIS is the house-planning number, and it is full of suggestions for plans of such importance as those for a balconied California house of cement and tile; or of such detail as the furnishings of a bathroom.

GARDENING—the actual work in the ground, that is—is over for this year. And building usually begins in the spring. But now's the time for planning, selecting and considering, and for pleasant discussions of the practical and interesting problems of home making.

TAKE your dining-room and living-room —you'll find two articles for them in this issue. Doesn't a Whistler colour arrangement in rose and silver for your dining-room make you want to telephone your favourite house painter, and begin work at once? And isn't a new slant on that eternal triangle, your davenport, piano and living-room table, worth the price of the magazine alone?

Dr. SPIEKER'S YOGHURT

Order Dr. Spieker's Yoghurt from any Sheffield Delivery man. Or telephone Circle 7720 or write to Sheffield Farms, 524 West 57th Street.

IN ANNOUNCING the addition of Dr. Spieker's Bulgarian Yoghurt to the list of Sheffield Milk Products, I believe we are offering a factor in milk service that deserves to rate in importance, as a health measure, with Pasteurization and Certified Milk.

I have watched the growth of interest in fermented milk from the time when Prof. Metchnikoff startled the world with the statement that the reason so many Bulgarian peasants lived past the century mark lay in the fact that they used fermented milk as a part of their daily food.

Metchnikoff contended that premature old age was due, in most cases, to putrefactive organisms in the intestines. These organisms elaborate poisons which, when absorbed into the glands and blood stream, cause hardening of the arteries, neuritis, rheumatism, autointoxication and an endless number of ailments that can only be relieved by properly disinfecting the alimentary tract.

He demonstrated that the Bacillus Bulgaricus, found in Bulgarian Yoghurt, accomplished this by destroying the offensive bacteria in the intestines and when taken regularly kept the bowels in a clean, healthy state, with a consequent beneficent influence on the entire human machine.

Many efforts have been made to introduce a true Bulgaricus culture into this country but, I am told by physicians, with unsatisfactory results. The chief difficulty has been due to the fact that after a time the original culture lost its virility and ceased to function as a true Bacillus Bulgaricus.

I have now solved this problem. Regularly by parcel post, a fresh, active, virile culture is sent to us, direct from Bulgaria. By this means you are able to enjoy the same potent product that has been credited with such marvelous results in the land of its origin.

Dr. Spieker's Yoghurt is unlike any fermented milk you know. In consistency it suggests custard, and is to be eaten with a spoon. In taste it has a mellow, cream-like flavor that lends itself to the addition of sugar, cinnamon or fruit juices, though I believe most folks will like it just as we make it.

It is sold in 7-oz. sealed jars and after its receipt at the home should be kept cold.

Eat a jar a day. A business man can have it left at his office. Eat it in midafternoon or before lunch. For the folks that stay at home it can be taken at meal time or any other hour.

So far as I know this is the first time a true Bulgarian Yoghurt has been offered you. I know the possibilities for good in this product are unlimited.

Try it at home or at your office. You will like it at once and in a short time note some very astonishing results.

I have prepared an interesting booklet on Dr. Spieker's Yoghurt which I will send if you will write me a postal card with your address.

MISS LEITCH WINS FROM MISS COLLETT

TO PLAY MRS. HUCKNALL

Special to The New York Times.

BAYSIDE, L. I., Oct. 20.—For the first time since she set foot on United States soil, Miss Cecil Leitch, Britain's supergolfer, has succeeded in breaking through the barriers to the final round of a tournament. In so doing, in the semi-final round of the invitation women's tournament at the Belleclaire Golf and Country Club here today, the stalwart daughter of John Bull succeeded in breaking down the stern opposition put in her way when she was drawn in the same bracket with Miss Glenna Collett, the fair Providence miss, who had previously upset her in the Berthellyn Cup tournament at Philadelphia.

Today, Miss Leitch was not to be denied and, after a hard-fought struggle which hung in the balance until the home green was in sight, the British golf queen wiped out the stigma of her previous failure by winning, 2 and 1. Her victory carried her into tomorrow's final against Mrs. Thomas Hucknall of Forest Hill, who arose to the greatest heights of her career as a linkswoman by bringing about the defeat of Mrs. W. A. Gavin of Belleclaire, the metropolitan women's champion, in a battle that fairly bristled in intenseness and in which the verdict was not reached until the last hole had been played. It was here that the Belleclaire star, trailing over the greater part of the distance, came to grief by failing to carry the water hazard, giving Mrs. Hucknall the victory by the margin of 1 up.

Both matches were played under rather discouraging conditions, the day being gloomy and cloudy and a high wind sweeping across the open course, making it easy for the semi-finalists to get off the path and into trouble. Toward the close of the matches, rain began to fall but only for a few minutes. As a result of the threatening overhead conditions, however, the gallery was of smaller proportions than was anticipated. Tomorrow's final will be at 36 holes, eighteen to be played in the morning and eighteen in the afternoon.

Makes Low Average.

In spite of the treacherous wind, Miss Leitch today succeeded in turning in a medal round of 81, conceding her a par 3 on the home hole which was not played out. It was a stroke better than she made in winning the qualifying medal and gave her an average for the four days of a trifle less than 80. And in making it today Miss Leitch had not a single break when it came to putting. On three of the greens she took three putts and on two occasions her ball either stopped at the brink of the cup or else hit the back of the cylinder.

Miss Leitch's long game today was as brilliant as it has been throughout the present tournament, but her putting was off-color. Had it not been for this deficiency, the chances are that her match with Miss Collett would have terminated long before the seventeenth green, for she practically threw away wins at the fourth and tenth holes. However, when it came to the pinches she was not found wanting. At the sixteenth, for example, she was faced with a crisis. Her approach was eight feet past the cup, while Miss Collett was set for an almost certain 5. There was no hesitancy on the part of the champion, though, for she calmly ran it down. Had she missed, the match would have been all square and the final result might have been different.

The Providence girl had a chance to carry the match beyond the seventeenth, but her approach was several feet short and left her a difficult try which she missed, and with that went her chances.

For the first seven holes it was nip and tuck all the way with the young American miss, after a bad start, fighting grimly and holding her opponent on even terms. Three putts from just off the edge of the eighth green cost her a hole and Miss Leitch became 2 up by winning the ninth, at which Miss Collett miscalculated the wind and put her tee shot into the road. It is doubtful, however, whether it made any difference in the ultimate result, for Miss Leitch carried the green, 545 yards away, with two wonderful wooden shots and an iron into the wind.

Puts Up Game Fight.

From that point on, however, Miss Collett, favored with a gift at the tenth and a putt from off the edge of the green at the eleventh, fought like a tigress to gain back the two holes. Her first and only win on the last nine came at the fifteenth, where she almost got down another putt from the rough, but she lost the advantage two holes later.

Miss Leitch had nine of the seventeen holes in par figures, while Miss Collett had eight.

The defeat of Mrs. Gavin was a distinct surprise, the only one of the tourney thus far. Although capable of playing a good brand of golf, Mrs. Hucknall has never attained the honors that have come to the metropolitan champion in golf circles. But today, facing an opportunity to win fame, she kept up a determined fight which was rewarded. For the first nine holes, the honors were all even, Mrs. Gavin squaring the match by winning the eighth and ninth holes. The Belleclaire star, following a loss at the eleventh, captured the thirteenth and fourteenth and became 1 up for the first time, but she lost the honor at the fifteenth and never regained it.

Miss Collett got a bad break at the first hole when she topped her drive, and then had a half-hearted approach from a short distance off the green for her fourth, not far ahead of where Miss Leitch had reached with a colossal drive and brassie. The English girl punched her third over to the back edge of the green, but her putt was dead for a 5, and Miss Collett, two feet short on her like, missed the cup and took a 7.

Match Is Squared.

The second was cleanly won by the Providence girl, who had a wonderful iron second to the green and then rimmed the cup with her putt, just missing a birdie 3. Miss Leitch had the longer drive, but it was pulled to the rough at the left and her next lodged in the tall grass at the back of the green. She had a good approach to within six feet, but missed the putt, losing the hole and squaring the match. On the next hole, Miss Collett's drive was in the rough at the right, and her next was off the line, the ball landing in a trap at the edge of the green, from where she pitched out short and then missed. Miss Leitch, in the meantime, was on the green in two, dead to the pin with her next and was conceded the win when Miss Collett's ball ran to the right of the pin and hit the other ball.

Missing a wee bit of a putt cost Miss Leitch a half on the fourth, which she should have won. Miss Collett's drive landed in the rocks at the right and her second was only up to Miss Leitch's drive. The English girl ran up short of the pin, while her opponent failed to get to the top of the mound. Miss Collett's approach was short, while Miss Leitch laid her next dead to the pin for what appeared a certain 4 and a win, after the Providence girl had missed the cup by two feet. But, as will sometimes happen with the best of regulated putters, Miss Leitch missed her try of less than a foot, and she was so surprised that she knocked Miss Collett's ball away, conceding the half.

Both were just short of the 155-yard uphill fifth but Miss Leitch, after overrunning the cup by six feet, missed coming back while Miss Collett got down her three-footer for a par 3, winning the hole and again squaring the match.

Another turn of the ball would have given Miss Leitch a win on the sixth. She had a fine drive, straight down the fairway, while Miss Collett was in the rough with a side hill lie. The latter was still short of the green with her second while Miss Leitch was over and in the rough. They were both on in three, Miss Collett twenty feet short and Miss Leitch six feet over. The former was again short with her putt but her rival's endeavor stopped at the very brink of the hole.

Takes Two in a Row.

Miss Leitch made a good recovery and then sank a six-footer for a half at the seventh. She was over the green while Miss Collette was on with a beautiful tee shot., Miss Collett's ball was lying dead for a 3 when Miss Leitch got down her putt.

The British girl then took two holes running. Miss Leitch had the advantage off the tee going to the eighth and she was on in three. Miss Collett was just a trifle short. Her approach started for the pin but arched around and ran four feet past and, after Miss Leitch had putted up short, the Providence girl missed and lost, 5 and 6. There was no denying Miss Leitch's right to the long ninth where, against a stiff wind, she was on the green in three. Miss Collett lost her chance for the hole, however, by slicing out of bounds and then missed her second putt and picked up.

Miss Leitch tossed away the tenth, where she was almost on the green with two wooden shots and not more than twelve feet away from the pin in three, while Miss Collett, after pulling her tee shot to the ninth fairway, topped her second and was in the rough in back of the green on her third. She pitched back, but was still away, but put her next up dead for a 6. Miss Leitch, with two putts for the win, was three feet short with her first and her next hit the back of the cup and bounced out, giving her only a half.

They each got par 4s at the eleventh, Miss Collett being aided by sinking a 25-foot putt after being a stroke behind Miss Leitch getting to the green. They also halved the twelfth in 4s, Miss Collett outdriving Miss Leitch, as she also did on the next, which was also halved in 5s.

Miss Leitch's driving ability showed to advantage at the fourteenth, where she was thirty yards in front. Miss Collett's brassie second was to the left of the traps, while Miss Leitch was short of the green. The Providence youngster pitched up four feet short and Miss Leitch was more than twice that distance past the cup, but both got down their putts.

Miss Collett Gains.

At the fifteenth Miss Leitch was again in front, but she was just shy of the green with her second and Miss Collett was on. The British girl left herself a long putt, and then Miss Collett almost holed out from the edge of the green, leaving her an easy 4. Miss Leitch made a hard stab for the half, but her ball again hit the back of the cup, and she lost, 4 and 5, leaving her only 1 up.

Both were on the long sixteenth green in three, Miss Collett pulling her tee shot to the rough and Miss Leitch barely missing the traps with her second. She then ran eight feet past the cup, while Miss Collett was three feet away, and it looked as if the match would be squared, but the champion dropped her putt, halving the hole. Going to the deciding seventeenth they were both just short of the green in two, but Miss Collett was short in her approach, leaving herself a mean putt, while Miss Leitch rolled her ball up to within two feet. And she then holed after Miss Collett missed.

Mrs. Hucknall Wins Fourth.

Neither Mrs. Gavin nor Mrs. Hucknall was able to gain the advantage at the first three holes, but at the fourth the Forest Hill player became 1 up by winning with a 4 to a 5, the metropolitan champion missing a short putt. Mrs. Hucknall became 2 up by taking the sixth, at which Mrs. Gavin got a penalty stroke when the wind moved her ball just as she was about to make a stroke. She managed to square the match by winning the next two, however, taking the eighth when Mrs. Hucknall was out of bounds. After halving the next in par 5s Mrs. Hucknall again had the advantage by winning the eleventh in par figures, but she got into difficulty at the short thirteenth, which Mrs. Gavin won with a birdie 3. The latter also won the next, 4 and 5, and became 1 up for the first time. But going to the fifteenth the Belleclaire star took a 7, Mrs. Hucknall sinking a 10-foot putt for a 5. They halved the next two and then Mrs. Hucknall won the match by reaching the green from the tee while Mrs. Gavin failed to get across the water. She dropped and was on the green in three, but conceded the hole and match when Mrs. Hucknall put her approach putt up to the pin.

Tennis Balls Autographed By President to Be Sold

William T. Tilden 2d, world's champion tennis player, will exchange the racquet for the auctioneer's hammer next Saturday afternoon, when he will sell to the highest bidder three tennis balls autographed by President Harding. This will be a feature of the continuation of the matches, under auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, for the benefit of the American Committee for Devastated France, to be held at the Jackson Heights Tennis Club, Jackson Heights, L. I. The auction will follow exhibition matches in men's singles and mixed doubles, to be played at 2 o'clock by Tilden, Vincent Richards, Miss Leslie Bancroft and Miss Martha Bayard. The racquets of the champions will also be sold. The balls autographed by President Harding were received yesterday by George H. T. Morris, Secretary of the club.

MAWRCORON WINS RAINBOW STAKES

Benjamin Block's Two-Year-Old Scores Third Straight Victory at Empire City.

Benjamin Block's two-year-old Mawrcoron, which seems to have acquired some of the racing habits of his noted stablemate, Morvich, won his third straight victory for his present owner at Empire City yesterday by capturing the Rainbow Stakes at six furlongs from a band of good juveniles. Though he had to be hard-ridden in the stretch, he won by a length from Hephaistos, with Timbrel third. Among those which trailed in was the Rancocas Stable's filly Budana, which had not run since the Saratoga meeting.

Mawrcoron has been a consistent colt all season, but until he came into the hands of Fred Burlew he lost many close decisions. Better handling has improved him greatly and he has become a steady winner for the small but very successful Block stable.

Well supported, Mawrcoron went to the post a 9 to 5 choice, and as the race was run, he was much the best. Budana had all her speed for a short distance and right after the start it appeared that she was going to run off with the race. But Mawrcoron raced up to her and forced her to set such a fast pace that she was done for at the head of the stretch. There the Block colt took the lead, and under a hustling ride by Wilson, drew clear of his other rivals and got home in front, though forced to do his best to the end.

Cast Off Is Third.

When Budana dropped out of it, Hephaistos, which had been well up all the way, began to close on the winner. He showed excellent speed in the stretch run and was the only one to offer opposition to Mawrcoron. Timbrel, a castoff of the Rancocas Stable and an outsider in the betting, got up for third place, two lengths in front of Budana.

James Butler, President of the Empire City Racing Association, is now satisfied with the meeting at his track no matter what happens, for he has seen his colors come down in front and has heard Finnegan's band play "The Wearing of the Green." This occurred right after the last race, a five and a half furlong dash for maiden two-year-olds. It was won by Mr. Butler's Sling with his youngster, Picnic, taking second. Then the band played numbers and put up than the band broke into the familiar air and the Yonkers enthusiasts gave the customary cheer for the Butler colors.

It was the first race to be won by Mr. Butler at the meeting. He increased his chances of winning by engaging Sande and Fator to ride the two horses. The entry was made the early favorite, but so much support came for Trajanus that the latter was the choice at post time. Sande rushed Sling to the front at the break and was quickly joined by Picnic. The two led the field all the way, Sling drawing away right at the finish. Finnish Maid was third, while the highly regarded Trajanus was fourth, failing to get up after getting a slow start.

Max Hirsch's filly, Tody, scored an easy victory in the Winsome Handicap for fillies and mares at a mile and a sixteenth, defeating Escarpolette and Lady Gertrude. Tody was able to stick it out for the entire distance because there was no pace in the race. She went to the front and was rated along three lengths in front of Escarpolette. At the end she had speed in reserve and won by three lengths. Lady Gertrude sulked and refused to extend herself. She dropped out of it going through the back stretch and would not run despite McAtee's vigorous use of the whip.

War Pennant First.

War Pennant, which was a stake horse of much promise when owned by Commander J. K. L. Ross, came back to score a victory against a large field at six furlongs in the fifth race. War Pennant is a patched-up cripple, having gone wrong at the close of his three-year-old season. Until a few days ago he had not raced in many months. The trial prepared him for his victory, which he scored easily. Following the pace to the stretch, Sande brought the winner to the outside and got up in time to win by nearly two lengths from Asterisk, with Ting-a-Ling third.

The first race went to Thimble, which proved to be the best of a field of three-year-olds at a mile. Closing with a rush she took the lead in the stretch and won by three lengths from Frank Fogarty. Episode was third. Thimble was restrained until reaching the head of the stretch when she was the only one that had any speed left. Frank Fogarty had raced himself down disposing of Monastery and Vista.

DR. CLARK SETS A NEW TRACK MARK

Gelding Breaks Churchill Downs Record in Winning South Louisville Handicap.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 20. — The Broomstick gelding, Dr. Clark, won the South Louisville Handicap at Churchill Downs this afternoon and set a new track record for the distance, a mile and a furlong. His time was 1:49 4-5, three-fifths of a second better than the former mark. He won by only a head from Firebrand, with Rouleau third among six starters. Dr. Clark made the pace all the way and lasted much better than usual. At the head of the stretch it appeared he was beaten when Firebrand headed him for a few strides, but Dr. Clark again got his nose in front and outstayed his rival under a hard drive. Rouleau got up for third after Marjorie Hynes had been disposed of, the filly having been raced down trying to follow the pace of the winner.

Morvich and Mawrcoron Make Record for Owner

Benjamin Block, owner of the champion two-year-old Morvich, has established a record for turf successes that is probably without an equal in the annals of American racing. With a stable containing but two horses, Morvich and Mawrcoron, both juveniles, he has won thirteen races and lost none in his brief career as an owner. Of the thirteen victories ten were scored by Morvich. Mawrcoron had not won a race in months until he came into the Block stable and since then he has never lost.

GNOME IS VICTOR IN LAUREL FEATURE

Leads Tippity Witchet and Step Lightly in Mile Test on the Maryland Track.

Special to The New York Times.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 20—The veteran racer, Gnome, now campaigning under the colors of the Salubria Stable, won the feature event at Laurel this afternoon, a test at one mile, by defeating Tippity Witchet and Step Lightly among others. He got up just in time to win by a head. He was favored by lightweight and was outrun in the early stages but closed on the outside and disposed of Tippity Witchet in the last few strides. Step Lightly set a terrific pace for three quarters of a mile and was five lengths out in front at one time, but the effort took all her speed and she had nothing left when the run through the stretch began. The Archer and Grenadier, which were the other starters, were never contenders.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For two-year-olds; claiming; purse $1,200; six furlongs. High, 102 pounds (Rowan), $10.80, $4.90 and $4.30, first; Colando, 107 (Richcreek), $4.50 and $4.10, second; Mad Neil, 104 (Boyle), $3.20, third. Time—1:15 2-5. Navisco, Fair Virginia, Beamer, Chasta Star, Veiled Colleen, Attoo, War Relief and Miss Colin also ran.

SECOND RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; steeplechase; purse $2,000; selling; about two miles. Le Cyprin, 137 pounds (Phillips), $9.50, $7 and $4.60, first; Infidel II., 136 (Crawford), $5.50 and $3.90, second; New Haven, 138 (Bush), $9.50, third. Time—4:00. Distant Shore, Jim Coffroth, Kathryn Harlan, James A. Sheridan and Formistress also ran.

THIRD RACE—Claiming; handicap; for three-year-olds and upward; one mile. *Night Raider 100 pounds, Betty J. 98, King's Champion 105, Mock Orange 96, Faunus 95, Camoufleur 102, *Servitor 106, Robey Baker 112, Lad's Love 123, Wellfinder 110, *Dresden 105, Bromelia 98, Montalvo 104.

NO CRIPPLES ON SQUAD

Same Team That Beat N. Y. U. Will Tackle Green—To Practice at Claremont, N. H., Today.

Columbia's varsity football squad began last night the first leg of the journey to Hanover, where Dartmouth will be met tomorrow in the biggest gridiron test of the season for Coach Buck O'Neill's warriors. About thirty-five persons, including the coaches, trainer and managers, were in the delegation that left the Grand Central Station at 11:15 o'clock. This was made up of the first and second elevens, about a half dozen substitutes, Coaches Buck O'Neill, Joe Brooks and Phil King, Trainer Doc Barrett, Manager Walter M. Higley and the assistant managers.

The Blue and White contingent will go directly to Claremont, N. H., about thirty miles from Hanover, where a final workout will be held this afternoon on a local baseball field. Coach O'Neill's plans call for an overnight stay in Claremont, and the Columbians will be taken to Hanover tomorrow morning in time to arrive shortly before the game.

Coach O'Neill was hopeful rather than confident as his team prepared to descend on Hanover. He said that he would probably start the same lineup that faced New York University last Saturday, which means that Bob Burtt will be at halfback, with De Stefano held in reserve on the sideline. The selection of Burtt is an indication that Columbia will rely on straight football against the Green, as Gurjit is a good line smasher and is more adept at this than at the manipulation of the forward pass. It would not be surprising if O'Neill's team should neglect the aerial game almost entirely and depend on the speed of the backfield in end runs, plays off tackle and straight-line bucking.

The news from Hanover that Captain Harry Robertson is on the casualty list has given some strength to Columbia's hopes for a victory over the Green eleven. Robertson's absence from a team that was not able to please the coaches with its showing last Saturday against Tennessee is considered a serious blow to Coach Cannell's aggregation. Columbia, on the contrary, is at the peak of condition and came through the New York University battle without even an approach to an injury. Coach O'Neill has two full complements of backfield men to call upon, and his line is practically unchanged from the beginning of the season.

The final workout on South Field yesterday was the lightest of the week. After the varsity players had kicked and passed the ball about, O'Neill ordered a thorough signal drill in which all the plays for the Dartmouth tussle were carefully rehearsed. The lineup was frequently changed during this session of signals, and nearly all the second-string men got into action for a short time. Offensive and defensive drills in connection with the kickoff closed the practice at about 5:30 o'clock.

The lineup of the second team that is making the trip is: Ends, Reilly, Pulleyn and Kienninger; tackles, Gibb and Chase; guards, Korn and Miller; centre, Fargo; quarterback, Freeman; halfbacks, De Stefano, Applebaum and W. B. Johnson.

Columbia students were busy yesterday preparing for their invasion of Hanover beginning tonight. A special train has been chartered for the 200 rooters who will leave Grand Central Terminal at 11:45 tonight, arriving at Hanover at 8:15 tomorrow. Several score more of students will go to the scene of battle in automobiles.

GREEN END RETURNS.

George Moore Back in Dartmouth Line-Up—Coaches Relieved.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 20.—Dartmouth's reorganized first and second elevens were pitted against one another in a scrimmage at the end of today's practice. Neither team was able to show a fair brand of football, on either offense or defense. The only score was made by Carpenter of Team A, who picked one of numerous fumbles and ran 45 yards for a touchdown.

George Moore, veteran end, returned today after a week's absence. Moore was called home before the Tennessee game last week. His return will solve the problem caused by the loss at end of Cy Gordon, who will be out of the game for at least two weeks. Clarke had been used in Gordon's place, but he is rather light, and has had practically no experience.

One other change was made in the first team line-up today, although this will not take effect in Saturday's game. This was the replacing of Burke by Johnny Allen.

The rest of the team has taken definite shape now. George Moore and Eddie Lynch are sure to start on the ends, although Threahle and Streng will probably play the second half. Hubert and Neidlinger have the call at tackle, with Don Moore and Carpenter as guards and Swenson at centre. Frank C. Smith will start at quarter, with Burke at his usual position of right halfback and Siegfried as fullback.

Jim Robertson's position will probably be trusted to Calder at the start, although either Carlton or Haws is likely to be shot into the game at any moment.

The coaches appeared today not greatly encouraged over the outlook Saturday. Undoubtedly, however, the revamped elevens were unable to show their real ability, as the practice was cut short by rains.

CORNELL TEAM IS READY.

Ithacans Undergo Final Scrimmage in Preparation for Colgate.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The Cornell football squad completed its hard practice for the Colgate game in a scrimmage today on a wet and slippery field. An all-day rain made the going difficult, but Coach Dobie thought it a good opportunity to familiarize his men with a slippery ball and he ordered the scrimmaging to continue for an hour.

The varsity lineup included Cassidy and Goulnlock at left end; Hanson, left tackle; Brayman, left guard; Brayton, centre; Jones, right guard; Dodge, right tackle; Munns and Buckley, ends. In the backfield, Coach Dobie continued the shifts that have aroused much curiosity on the campus this week, sending Rooney in at quarter for Pfann after the scrimmage was half over and alternating Kaw and Gould at left halfback. Although Gould's speed makes him a great asset, it is the theory of the undergraduates that Dobie will hold him in reserve and start Kaw in the lineup at the beginning of the game. Kaw is one of the most experienced backs he has, and Cornell wants experienced players in the Colgate game. The Hamiltonians, who have been coached by Larry Bankhart, are expected to give the Ithacans a much harder battle than last year, when Cornell came out on top by a score of 42 to 6. Several hundred Colgate rooters have made reservations in the stadium. Temporary grand stands erected on the west side of the field will take care of what is expected to be a record crowd.

Commandeers Automobiles To Use Lights for Practice

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 20.—One of the most novel experiments ever attempted in connection with football practice was tried this evening in an emergency by Coach Huntington. While in the midst of preparing the Colgate eleven for the game with Cornell the coach deemed it advisable to continue the drill after darkness descended on the field. He therefore ordered a dozen automobiles, owned by students, commandeered and rushed onto the field. The headlights and searchlights of the machines furnished the necessary illumination and the practice continued satisfactorily.

LOURIE NOT ABLE TO PLAY TOMORROW

Princeton's Star Quarterback Lost for Chicago Game—Garrity's Case in Doubt.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.—Princeton's football team, crippled by the loss of several first string players, is now ready for the game with University of Chicago eleven on Saturday. Head Coach Bill Roper did not even stage a scrimmage this afternoon, being content with punting, signal and dummy scrimmage drills.

Whatever hope existed in the hearts of Princeton rooters that Don Lourie might play against the Westerners was dispelled today. There is no chance whatever of his running the eleven. He has not been in a scrimmage since the Colgate game nearly two weeks ago, and is still limping slightly.

Whether or not Hank Garrity will play is also a question. He has not scrimmaged since the opening battle with Swarthmore, but may possibly be used if necessary.

The absence of these two stars leaves the make-up of the Tiger eleven probably as follows:

The Chicago squad is scheduled to arrive in Trenton tomorrow morning, staying at the Stacy Trent Hotel. In the afternoon the Westerners will travel to Princeton, nine miles away, and limber up in the Palmer Stadium. The Tigers will forego the usual Friday drill in the stadium, and will practice on University Field.

The advance sale of tickets for the intersectional encounter indicates that a crowd of about 25,000 will be on hand. As the stadium seats nearly 50,000 spectators, there will be plenty of seats at the game for the late arrivals. The game will start at 2:30 P. M.

Mayor Moore of Philadelphia and the entire Quaker City Council will witness the game as guests of Coach Roper, who is himself a Councilman. They will arrive in Princeton on Saturday morning, lunching with the Tiger coach at the Nassau Club.

CHICAGO ELEVEN LEAVES.

Coach Stagg in Hopeful Mood as Team Departs for Tigertown.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Hopeful rather than confident, the University of Chicago football team departed today to meet Princeton on Saturday with a squad of thirty-six players and coaches, headed by Captain McGuire and Coach Stagg. Training efforts the past week have been largely devoted to stiffening the Maroons' scrimmage line to withstand the Tigers' offensive in the first periods, while the backfield has planned a punting and forward passing game.

Chicago showed brilliant early season form in its first game against Northwestern, but was ragged against Purdue two weeks ago, even though holding back to save plays and players for the Eastern trip.

Coach Stagg declared he was strongly hopeful of a victory if favored by breaks of the game and felt that he had a strong eleven.

SEEKS GAME WITH TIGERS.

California Eleven Expresses Wish to Meet Princeton on Gridiron.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.—A suggestion that the University of California meet Princeton in football has been received from the Western University in a letter from the California team addressed to Captain Stan Keck of the Tiger eleven.

"Allow us to take this opportunity, now that our football season is successfully under way," it runs, "to wish Princeton University as great success in the year 1921 as that of the year 1920.

"We cannot but hope and feel that Princeton and the University of California were the greatest teams in the country last year. Your great success in the East and our good showing on the Pacific Coast merit this feeling.

"There is a very strong feeling at the University of California that a friendly relation has been established with Princeton that is going to be hard to sever. We are speaking particularly of the courteous and friendly treatment extended to us by your magnificent crew. Our crew has returned singing the praises of your university.

"Let us all hope that this spirit which is of a value hard to calculate will be continued into the indefinite future and that Princeton University and the University of California will carry on a friendly spirit of competition along all athletic lines.

"May the time come soon—and let us hope that it will be this year or the next—that Princeton and California can meet on the gridiron."

The letter was signed by the entire team: George Latham, captain; "Brick Muller, J. B. Morrison, W. V. Clark, Dan McMillan, Charles Erb Jr., James Dean, Lee Crammer, Archie Nisbet, Irving Toomey, Robert A. Berkley, "Brodie" Stephens, S. N. Barnes, C. T. Toney and "Pesky" Sprott.

5,000 TO FOLLOW BUCKEYES.

Many Students Will Travel to Ann Arbor to Cheer Wilce's Team.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 20.—More than 5,000 followers of the Ohio State University football team will go to Ann Arbor this week end to witness the Michigan-Ohio State clash there Saturday, according to Ohio State athletic officials, who today said that many tickets had been disposed of. Two special trains are scheduled to leave here tomorrow night. Seven other specials will leave Saturday morning. Many other rooters are planning to go by automobile.

In practice this week Coach Wilce has been drilling his squad in new plays to be used against the Wolverines, passing up the heavy scrimmage which heretofore has constituted much of the work preceding important games.

Wesleyan Player Injured.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Grant, halfback of the freshmen eleven at Wesleyan, has concussion of the brain and is in the hospital. He was hurt in a scrimmage. Dr. Edgar Fauver, physical director at Wesleyan, is confident of his recovery.

DALY SAYS FRENCH IS OUT OF LINE-UP

Army to Face Yale Without Star Fullback, West Point Coach Announces.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The last practice here for the Army eleven before meeting Yale in New Haven on Saturday was held today. The workout was staged on North Field, the regular gridiron being treacherous because of heavy rains of last night and this morning. There was only the lightest kind of work. The linemen held a dummy scrimmage, the backs and ends were send down under kicks, Wood doing the punting, and there was a long forward-pass drill.

The practice wound up with a snappy signal drill. All the varsity men were in the line-up except French, who it was announced by Head Coach Daly tonight will not start against Yale. French was out, but doing only the lightest of work. His absence will make a marked difference in the Army's chances against Yale. The Army will fight hard, but even the most optimistic of the Cadets' followers do not expect anything better than holding Yale to a low score.

It is expected, however, that a number of substitutes will get a chance to go in during some stage of the game, especially Glasgow, end; Goodman, guard, and Lawrence, Richardson, Gillmore and Ives, backs.

The squad, consisting of about forty men, will leave here tomorrow at 7.30 A. M. The players will arrive at Grand Central Station at 9.18, leaving thirty minutes later for Derby, Conn., where they will be quartered until Saturday evening. The Army men expect to take a workout in the Bowl tomorrow afternoon.

FISHER DRILLS ON DEFENSE.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20.—Harvard's varsity eleven had the stadium field to itself this afternoon, the coaches going through with their program to let yesterday's scrimmaging stand as the week's strenuous work. The freshmen and scrubs battled on the open field. Behind the closed Stadium fence the varsity worked on plays and received individual coaching. Defensive theories for Saturday's game with Penn State also were tested.

The Bezdek plays were shown by the scrubs before the latter battled with the freshmen, and the varsity men have a very good idea of the sort of attack they may expect Saturday afternoon.

Neither Brown nor Bradford was in the lineup today. Coburn played guard opposite Hubbard. Clark, centre on the freshman team two years ago, got a chance to work as snapperback in the middle of the first team line.

Jewett Johnson again was in charge of the team at quarterback, and worked again with Chapin, Churchill and Owen. This is the backfield which doubtless will begin the game against the Penn Staters. Boulland is striving hard to get back into the regular backfield and is likely to get a chance early Saturday unless Churchill's defensive play is better than it was against Holy Cross.

Gratwick got a short workout this afternoon and may be used. Fitts is still nursing a bad knee, and Holder, who has been wanted for centre because of his defense and his ability to size up plays, is again unavailable because of an ankle which does not seem to set really strong.

Jenkins, who was hurt yesterday, is in bad shape and the coaches see small chance now of having him do the work necessary for the Princeton game. Gehrke, however, possibly will be able to get a workout Saturday. Also on Saturday there is some likelihood of both Fitts and Crocker playing for a time, but neither is in first class trim.

W. AND J. SCORED ON.

Second Eleven Uses Lehigh Formations for Four Tallies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—Washington and Jefferson scrubs armed with Lehigh's repertoire of plays, wrought havoc with the varsity on College Field this afternoon through a drizzling rain, and in an unexpected scrimmage. Four times the second team carried the ball from the 25-yard line straight over the first team goal, the varsity being unable to halt the onslaught. Allebrand, Harmony, Mitchell and Kilgore composed the second team's backfield. The varsity line was literally knocked to pieces. The practice was the final one before the Lehigh game, as the team, twenty-six strong, leaves here tomorrow morning early for Bethlehem.

Neale was palpably worried at the way in which his team was knocked about. He told his men that, if they could not stop the scrubs when often they knew the play that was coming, they could hardly expect to halt Lehigh when the latter was covering up its formations. Neale gave his men practically no drill on the offense, which apparently is developed ahead of the defense. He did provide a workout in catching a wet ball and in forging interference for the catcher of kicks and he supplemented the daily session with a blackboard drill tonight.

Crook, who was hurt in the Carnegie Tech game last Saturday, again received a bump in today's workout and Stein took his place.

CHANGES MADE IN YALE VARSITY TEAM

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Changes have been made in the plans of the Yale football coaches for Saturday's line-up against West Point because of the old injuries of several players. This afternoon Harry Cross Jr., who has been at guard and tackle when not in the hospital this Fall, was switched to centre on the second team. This is interpreted to mean that Al Norris, who was rated as Yale's best snapperback when the season began, will be unable to play, even as substitute, and that Cross will be needed to replace Landis when that player, who will be started at centre, retires. Norris's absence in the final games of the season would be a severe blow to Yale's hopes.

Another shift occurred when Donald Hidden was sent to left tackle with the regulars, replacing Al Into, who has been regarded as the most versatile and powerful player in the Yale line. Into was not in good condition last Saturday, and Hidden was sent into the Williams game. Into went through signals on the second eleven today.

Only signal rehearsal and dummy football were prescribed for the elevens today and Head Coach Tad Jones said tonight that scrimmaging was over until after the West Point game. Dr. Billy Bull spent more than an hour drilling Malcolm Aldrich in all departments of the kicking game, with emphasis on the field goal. Yale has been weak in this department, as both Becket and Oed have failed to meet expectations. Aldrich's drop kicking from behind the line of scrimmage today was the best of the season.

Word was received today that the West Point eleven will come here tomorrow for practice, following Yale's daily workout. The Army will spend tomorrow night at the Hotel Clark, Derby, Conn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Two special trains will bring the West Point cadets and army officers from Beacon, N. Y., to this city Saturday for the Yale-Army football game. The arrangements call for 1,400 persons on the two trains, which will leave Beacon at 7 A. M., traveling by way of Danbury. The special trains are scheduled to leave New Haven on the return trip at 5 P. M.

PENN STATE ELEVEN OFF.

Players Cheer Captain in Infirmary Before Leaving for Boston.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 20.—With practically the entire student body gathered about the training quarters to give them a rousing send-off, and with the Cadet Band playing "Victory," Penn State's gridiron players left for Boston shortly before 6 o'clock tonight, ready to do battle with Harvard.

Following a short signal drill this afternoon, the last act of the players was to go in a body to the college infirmary where they gave a long cheer for Captain Snell and assured him that they would give all they had in the game on Saturday. The Penn State leader was broken-hearted at being unable to accompany the team.

TO USE FORWARD PASSES.

Coach Sutherland Drills Lafayette in Aerial Attack for Fordham.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—That Coach Sutherland of Lafayette College expects a hard game with the Fordham eleven Saturday at the New York Polo Grounds was shown today when he had the first and second teams devote virtually the entire afternoon to forward pass plays.

Thus far this season, Lafayette has been called upon to play nothing but straight football. Only four forward passes have been tried.

Anticipating a close contest with Fordham, Coach Sutherland today drilled the teams in open formations. There was no scrimmage. It was announced tonight that the famous Lafayette College band of thirty-five pieces would accompany the team to New York.

ELSIE HAULED OUT FOR SLIGHT REPAIRS

Defender of Fishermen's Cup Damaged on Run From Gloucester to Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 20.—The Gloucester schooner Elsie, which will defend the international fisherman's trophy in races beginning Saturday, was hauled out on the marine slip at Dartmouth today for an inspection of her hull. She will be refloated tomorrow morning when her place on the slip will be taken by the Canadian challenger, Bluenose.

Last night Captain Marty Welch, skipper of the Elsie, announced that he had no intention of hauling out his schooner, but the damage sustained by the port anchor plate on the trip up from Gloucester may have caused him to change his mind. Both anchor plates will be removed for the races. Several of Elsie's seams worked on the voyage up and these will be recalked.

Some weeks ago it was stated by members of the Halifax race committee that both challenger and defender should be examined as to their underway measurements before the opening contest, depth of keel being limited under the provisions of the deed of gift of the trophy.

Throngs visited the Dartmouth marine slip to inspect the lines of the American defender. A naval guard kept the crowd from the Dockyard where the Canadian challenger is lying.

The question of the complement of the two schooners was settled at a conference between Captains Welch and Walters today. Walters suggested that each vessel be permitted to take four passengers in addition to the crew of twenty-five bona fide fishermen, with pilot and official observer. To this Welch demurred, whereupon Walters questioned the eligibility of Harry Christensen of Gloucester. Welch replied that Christensen had been a fisherman and was an expert rigger. Walters then waived his objection to Christensen, and it was stated that the crew which brought the Elsie from Gloucester would sail her throughout the series.

The appointment of a sailing committee for the races has been delayed pending the arrival of the United States representatives on the international committee who are due here tomorrow morning on the U. S. S. Bushnell.

Mayor Parker of Halifax received from Captain Welch the following letter from Mayor Peters of Boston:

"The City of Boston extends to Halifax the deserved congratulations for your city's initiative in inaugurating the sporting event which has worked out admirably for the encouragement and fraternity and good feeling between our municipalities.

"Through Captain Welch, the best known of our famed schooner masters, this message of my sincere good wishes for the success of that stirring event to be sailed off your port next Saturday is delivered. Captain Welch has spoken of all that Halifax has done for him and his former shipmates of the Esperanto.

"Once more, Your Worship, the City of Boston expresses hopes for a great race on Saturday."

LEHIGH WORKS HARD.

Football Drill Continues After Dark —Line-Up Not Decided.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 20.—Hard work by Lehigh in preparing for the Washington and Jefferson game here on Saturday was concluded today with a practice that continued long after dark. For the first time this season Coach Glick ordered out the "Ghost" ball, and with the aid of a powerful spotlight pressed his men hard until nearly 7 o'clock. The practice included a light scrimmage with particular attention to a dummy signal drill of W. and J. plays noted by Lehigh scouts in recent games.

Although scrimmages are at an end for this week and tomorrow will be devoted exclusively to signal drill and a blackboard talk, Coach Glick has been unable to decide definitely on his team. Three positions in particular are doubtful, one at tackle, one guard and the other at quarterback. The latter position is a toss-up between Rote and Henschen. Cusick and Captain McCarthy, tackle and guard, respectively, will start the game. The ends will be Larkin and Adams. Roth is certain to start at centre in place of Bill Springsteen, who is nursing bruises from previous games.

SECRET QUARTERS SOGGY.

So Fordham Stages Last Hard Practice for Lafayette at Home.

The Fordham football players, fresh from a quiet night's rest in their Long Island quarters, motored up to Fordham Field yesterday and had a short scrimmage with the scrubs. It had been originally intended that the Maroon lads confine their practice to their secret quarters, but the soggy condition of their Long Island gridiron prevented. The proceedings of yesterday brought to an end the real work of the Maroon warriors in preparation for tomorrow's struggle with Lafayette at the Polo Grounds. The men will have but a light signal drill this afternoon.

Meyer's kicking again featured the afternoon's work. Arthur Brickley, brother of Charlie Brickley, the Fordham backfield coach, will be out of the game for the rest of the season as a result of a dislocated shoulder received in the Villanova game. In his place at quarter, however, Du Moe has three likely looking substitutes in Conniff, Dowtey and Shankey. Conniff has been picked to start against Lafayette.

Huskers on Way to South Bend.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 20.—The Nebraska football squad, twenty-six strong, left tonight for South Bend, Ind., for the annual clash next Saturday with the Notre Dame University eleven. The men with few exceptions are in prime condition for a hard battle.

UNIFICATION has made possible a new era of economy and efficiency in supplying motor parts for Continental-equipped cars and trucks.

The cost of stocking spare parts which, in the past, raised the overhead expenses of car and truck dealers, is now borne by this organization.

There is, therefore, an unfailing replacement service behind each and every power plant that carries a Continental Red Seal—a service that supplies even greater reasons why car and truck buyers should choose Continental-equipped vehicles.

ENGLISH GIRLS WIN AT FIELD HOCKEY

MISS LIDDERDALE STARS

Tallies Eight of Invaders' Scores and Assists in Making of Several Others by Keen Play.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—In the first match of its American tour, the All-English girls' field hockey team overwhelmed the 1920 All-Philadelphia team at the Germantown Cricket Club grounds this afternoon by 16 goals to 1. More than 8,000 persons cheered the clever team play of the British girls.

The Philadelphians were on the defensive during virtually the entire match. The invaders were superior in both combination and individual play and were never really pressed at any time. The only goal for the home clan was scored in the last five minutes of the clash by Miss Mary Brinton, the inside left, when the visitors had somewhat relaxed their efforts.

The individual star of the day was Miss K. E. Lidderdale, rated as the greatest exponent of women's field hockey now living. She tallied eight goals herself, helped in making several more and was the backbone of her team on both attack and defense.

Following the tap off, the Philadelphia girls started with a rush and quickly forced the ball deep into British territory. A torrid scrimmage followed near the visitors' goal and the home team appeared certain to score.

Suddenly, however, Miss Wilcox, the invaders' left wing, who had been hovering on the outskirts of the melee, hooked the ball away from a Philadelphia player and with a burst of speed that left the home defenders trailing breathlessly in her wake, carried the ball on a personally conducted tour down the field that wound up with the most sensational goal of the first half.

From then on the play was almost always in Philadelphia territory. The home team fought hard, but was not fast enough, lacked cohesion and was less effective in stick work.

Mrs. W. L. Stewart, the inside left of the British team, had a knack of getting possession of the ball during a "scrum," as the fair Britons call a scrimmage, and then finding an opening to shoot through for a goal. Four times she did this in the first half. The second half was a repetition of the first, save that the home team fought a bit harder and Miss Lidderdale abandoned her aloof system and took a hand in the scoring. She made six goals herself and aided Mrs. Stewart in tallying another.

The line-up:

ENGLAND.		ALL-PHILA.
Miss C. Gaskill	G.	Miss H. Ferguson
Miss W. A. Baumann	L. F. B.	Miss C. Valentine

Miss F. Willcox	L. W.	Mrs. F. Bryson

Umpires—Miss M. Gaskill and Miss Appleby.

Goals—First half: Miss Lidderdale (3), Mrs. Stewart (3), Miss Clarke (2), Miss Willcox. Second half: Miss Lidderdale (5), Mrs. Stewart (2), Miss Brinton.

Time of halves—35 minutes.

CHAMPION CUEIST LOSES.

Brussell Defeated by Boyd in Class C 18.2 Balkline Tourney.

A surprise was sprung in the final round of the third annual Class C 18.2 balkline tournament for the interborough championship at the National Recreation Academy, in Brooklyn, last night when the national Class C champion, Sidney Brussell, was defeated by Frank W. Boyd. It was the first defeat Brussell had suffered in the tournament, and he was generally favored to win. The score was: Boyd 150, Brussell 132. The winner averaged 4 22-32 and the loser 4 4-32. Boyd's high run was 29 and Brussell's best effort netted him 30.

The match was an interesting one throughout; in fact, it was one of the best that has yet been played in the tournament. It was close throughout. Boyd was leading by only five buttons when he went to the table for the last time. Then he ran out the game with an unfinished run of 13.

George Spear and Charles Steinbugler, who won the Interborough championship last year, will meet tonight.

COUNTED OUT ON FLOOR.

Ware Loses by Unique Knockout in Fight With Johnson at Jamaica.

While lying prone on the floor outside the ring at the Jamaica Sporting Club last night, Roughhouse Ware was counted out by Referee Jack Appel. This unique incident occurred in the third round of what was to have been a fifteen-round bout between Ware and John Lester Johnson. Both men are colored heavyweights.

The end came after 1 minute and 55 seconds of milling in the third round. Up to that session Ware had been getting along fairly well, but shortly after the beginning of the third round Johnson floored him with a heavy right swing to the jaw. At the count of six Ware rose to his feet, but was groggy. Johnson rushed him to the ropes and while he was battering him about the head and body with rights and lefts, Ware was knocked through the ropes to the floor of the arena. In that position he was counted out.

For a time it was feared he might have suffered serious injury, for it was fully ten seconds before he completely recovered his senses. Later it was stated he was not seriously hurt.

GANS GETS DECISION.

Floors Bartfield Twice in Bout at Broadway Sporting Club.

After twelve rounds of fast milling at the Broadway Sporting Club in Brooklyn last night, Italian Joe Gans was awarded the decision over Soldier Bartfield. In the third and fourth rounds Gans floored Bartfield, but the veteran boxer quickly jumped to his feet and continued boxing. Gans weighed 154¼ pounds, while Bartfield weighed 149.

ROADS TO PRINCETON GOOD.

Those Who Motor to Chicago Game Will Find Riding Easy.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.—Automobilists from New York, bound for the Princeton-Chicago game Saturday, will find the roads to Princeton uniformly good. The only detour is from Elizabeth to Rahway, a distance of about five miles. Travel between these points is now via Edgar Road. The best road from Newark to Elizabeth is via Freling-Huesen Avenue. There is a new concrete stretch between Rahway and Metuchen and another from New Brunswick to Princeton via Kingston.

Johnson to Tell Mexicans How Baseball Is Conducted

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Baseball has attained such a marked popularity in Mexico, according to Ban Johnson, President of the American League, that today he announced he would go to the Mexican capital in December to explain how the game is conducted in the United States. He also expects to do some hunting south of El Paso.

Mr. Johnson said that the Secretary of State in Mexico is an ardent baseball fan. He pointed to an occasion which marked the introduction of baseball into that country and another which shows how the spirit in its favor has grown.

In 1907 C. A. Comiskey took his White Sox there for the training period. The occasion was marked by great pomp and so much interest was raised that the boys immediately took up the game and since then several creditable players have been developed.

Recently two Texas League teams went on an exhibition tour through parts of Mexico and their reception was pronounced very cordial.

Willie Hoppe played some of the best billiards he has displayed this season in the continuation of his exhibitions against Charley Peterson at the Ambassador Academy yesterday. During the afternoon's game, when the balls seemed to be in better condition than they have been since the world's champion started playing here, Hoppe unleashed a run of 399 that was only interrupted by a bad roll-off. As he stepped to the table to make the last point he was compelled to make a left-handed one-cushion shot. To those at the table side it was apparent that Hoppe had stroked the ball perfectly but it rolled off just before coming into contact with the second ball.

It was in the second inning of a 400-point game that Hoppe broke out into a rash of some of the prettiest billiards that has been seen in this city this year.

Peterson won the bank and failed to count. Hoppe, too, failed to count in his opening inning. Peterson then ran 7 and when he missed he left the balls in bad position. Hoppe, however, had gathered them by his third shot and thereafter he clicked off the points quickly. For the most part he adhered to the short table system he has made famous, easily holding the balls in position and exercising excellent judgment and speed of stroke in getting the balls out of balk and bringing them together again.

At intervals throughout the run the balls seemed to bump badly, but their misbehavior was nothing when compared with the way they had been bumping during his previous performances. He held them together until he had scored his 300th point. Then they got away from him. It required seven difficult shots to gather them again. He then continued until the unfortunate roll-off marred his run and prevented him from making the final point. Had he been able to count on the last shot he would have averaged an even 200. As it was a third inning was gathering for him to make the point and his average was 133 1-3. Paterson got only 7.

In the evening game, Hoppe was not in such excellent form. It took him thirteen innings in which to make 400 points, while Peterson was gathering 176. Hoppe's average in the evening game was 30 10-13 and Peterson's 13 7-13.

The scores by innings:

WEINER BILLIARD VICTOR.

Defeats Haardt, 35 to 26, in Three-Cushion Tourney.

Playing in the amateur interborough handicap three-cushion billiard tournament at Kline's Strand Academy last night, Al Weiner defeated Georges Haardt by a score of 35 to 26. Both players were playing for 35 points. The game consumed 78 innings. Haardt was decidedly off his game. His best efforts netted him three runs of two points each. Weiner, on the other hand, was in excellent stroke. He made two runs of 5 each and one of 3. James Griffing will play Tom Girffin in tonight's game.

GREENLEAF IS EASY BILLIARD WINNER

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Ralph Greenleaf of New York, pocket billiard champion, climbed a notch nearer retaining his championship in the National Title Tournament at the Hotel Continental tonight when he easily defeated Jerome Keogh, the Rochester veteran, 125 to 66. This was the third straight victory for the youthful Greenleaf, who gained the American title here two years ago. He went out in sixteen innings, having a high run of 27 in the third inning. Keogh went him one better in making a run of 28, but played erratically.

The score by innings:

Greenleaf—0 9 27 16 10 0 0 0 13 0 0 18 4 2 23 6. Grand total, 128; scratches, 3; net total, 125; high run, 27.

Keogh—0 7 0 0 2 0 0 0 28 0 0 1 0 5 2 14. Grand total, 59; scratches, 8; net total, 66; high run, 28.

The best high run of the tournament was made tonight by Arthur Woods of Minniepolis, when he ran 61 balls and defeated Walter Franklin, the Kansas City expert, 125 to 9, completing the game in nine innings. Woods, Ralph Greenleaf and Jimmy Maturo are the only players that have not been beaten so far in the tournament.

The score by innings:

Although Bennie Allen of Kansas City led James Maturo of New York, 108 to 79, in the twenty-ninth inning this afternoon, Maturo won the match in the thirty-sixth inning by the score of 125 to 122. It was Maturo's second victory in as many starts in the tournament.

In the second afternoon game, W. F. De Langh of this city was defeated by Arthur D. Church of Yonkers by a score of 120 to 50. Church's high run of 50 was within seven of the high run record of the tournament so far. Arthur Woods of Minneapolis having made a 57 previously. Church completed his string in twenty-six innings.

The score by innings:

HOREMANS GAINS BIG LEAD.

Scores 800 to Cutler's 192 in First Block at Daly's.

Edouard Horemans gained a commanding lead over Albert Cutler in the first two blocks of their 2,400-point 18.2 balkline billiard exhibition at Maurice Daly's Academy yesterday. In the afternoon the Belgian champion of Europe defeated his rival by a score of 400 to 132, and in the evening he won, 400 to 60, making the total score to date: Horemans, 800; Cutler, 192. In the matinee block Horemans averaged 57 1-7, while Cutler averaged 22. In the evening Horemans averaged an even 50, running out in eight innings. Cutler averaged 8 4-7.

Horemans played very consistently throughout both blocks. He made three runs of more than 100, gathering clusters of 179 and 101 in the afternoon and another of 119 in the evening. It was during this last run, which, by the way was unfinished, that the Belgian made one of the most sensational masses he has yet perpetrated. The balls were spread but lined up. He could have played an around-the-table shot, but would not have attained good position. Instead he elected to play a long masse off the first object ball to the long rail and then descending on the second object ball.

Among the spectators was Davy Bancroft, the Giants' shortstop. Davy is quite a billiard player himself. After the exhibition he said: "Horemans is the Babe Ruth of billiards. He's likely to break up a game at any time."

The scores by innings:

AFTERNOON BLOCK.

EVENING BLOCK.

TENDLER FAVORITE OVER ROCKY KANSAS

Lew Tendler, left-handed Philadelphia lightweight, who is clamoring for a bout against champion Benny Leonard, will endeavor to remove one of the obstacles in his path to a title match at Madison Square Garden this evening. The Quaker City boxer will engage Rocky Kansas of Buffalo in a battle which will eliminate one of the principals from the championship road. The boxers are slated for fifteen rounds as the principal event on a card which also includes three eight-round preliminaries. Tendler and Kansas have agreed to make the lightweight limit, 135 pounds, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Both boxers are prepared, in the event of victory, to push a campaign for a meeting with Leonard for the title.

Tendler is the favorite in tonight's scrap. The odds his admirers are willing to give have receded from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5. The heavy flow of Kansas money compelled this decrease, for the Buffalo Italian has many supporters who are confident the Bison City lightweight will emerge from the fracas the victor.

The contest has aroused unusual attention. The demand for tickets has led promoter Tex Rickard to predict a crowded house when the lads step into the ring. The popularity of the boxers, their prominence in the lightweight title hunt, and the popular sale of prices adopted for the contest, have combined to produce a magnet calculated to draw the biggest crowd of the season to the famous old arena of fisticuffs.

Tendler has worked for three weeks in preparation for this battle. Because it will mark his initial appearance in this city, and for the reason that he expects through his showing to enhance his campaign for a title match with Champion Leonard, the Philadelphia lightweight is particularly eager to score a triumph. Because of his unorthodox style, Tendler is regarded as one of Leonard's most dangerous rivals. Tendler is fast and clever, above the ordinary run of portsiders, and he packs a dangerous punch in either hand. It is expected that 1,500 Philadelphia admirers will make the journey from the Quaker City to see their favorite in action.

Kansas, a sturdy lightweight with the torso of a middleweight wrestler, is noted for his ability as a ring "plugger," a boxer whose offensive seldom ever is discouraged by the blows of a rival, and a lightweight with seemingly unlimited powers for absorbing punishment. The Bison City lightweight also is a heavy hitter.

Benny Leonard, holder of the world's lightweight title, is expected to view the proceedings from a ringside seat. Promoter Rickard has declared his intention of seeking to arrange a title match between the winner and Leonard for a future date at the Garden.

In the three eight-round contests which will precede plenty of action is promised. Earl Baird, Seattle featherweight, will engage Bobby Michaels, a hard hitting east side boxer. Carl Tremaine, Cleveland bantamweight, will make his initial local apearance in a bout against Marty Collins, a local product. Joe Tiplits, Philadelphia lightweight, will oppose Johnny Darcy, a local boxer.

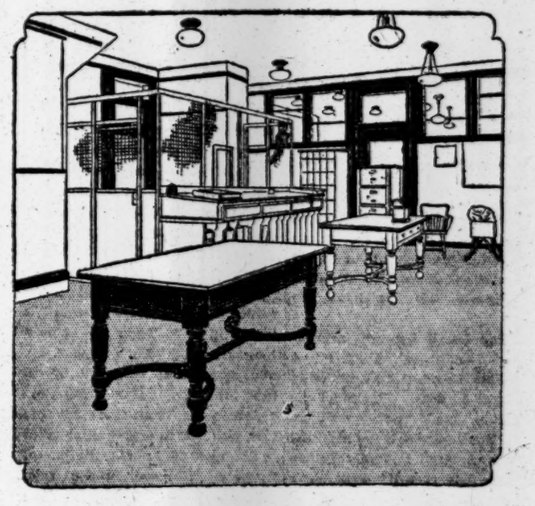
For Business Floors



The Building Will Last— So Will the Floors

This building is one of the finest of modern office buildings, completed eight years ago, at a cost of $17,000,000. The floors of modern linoleum were chosen for the long wear they will give, for their comfort under foot, and because they are easier to clean than any other type of floor. Such floors are quiet, too—they deaden the sound of footsteps, and subdue other office noises.

If you are planning a public building or a business building, if you are going to lay new floors in your store or office, consult your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant about Armstrong's Linoleum. We shall be glad to send him data and specifications for laying.

A good way to install Armstrong's Linoleum as a permanent floor is to cement it down firmly over a layer of builders' felt paper. Laid in this manner, a linoleum floor remains as smooth and tight as the day it was put down.

SETTLE THE STRIKE RIGHT.

The heads of the railway unions say, at Chicago, that they do not want to postpone the strike; they want to settle it. Very good. That is the wish of everybody. But all who have thought soberly about the strike, and taken in its full significance, want it not merely settled, but settled right. A definite and single issue has been raised. Will the employés of the railroads submit to the law, will they cease to set at defiance the duly created agency of the Government? On that question there should be no equivocation, no compromise. The United States Railroad Labor Board ought to insist upon a clear-cut withdrawal of the order to strike against its considered and lawful decision reducing wages on July 1.

Various palliatives and makeweights have been suggested. It is reported that the Interstate Commerce Commission is about to order a lowering of certain freight rates. This is described as a solatium for the railroad unions. But it ought not to be represented as anything of that kind. The two cases stand entirely apart. Appeals for reductions in freight rates have been pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission for some time. The railroads have on their own motion cut down certain rates, and are understood not to oppose further reductions. These may be announced at any moment, but it ought to be made absolutely plain to all that they have nothing whatever to do with railway wages or with the threatened strike.

The Labor Board has no jurisdiction over freight rates. With wages the Interstate Commerce Commission has no power to deal. The functions are separate, and their workings must be kept distinct. What the public interest requires, what future ease of mind and security demand, is that the strike should be settled by being called off—called off because it was recklessly ordered, because public opinion has been arrayed against it irresistibly, and because the Government has stood firmly for the supremacy of the law of the land.

OUR UNOFFICIAL DELEGATE.

Mr. BOYDEN, sitting as an "unofficial delegate," in the Reparations Commission, has become, admittedly, its most useful member. Although he has no vote, he is not a mere auditor. The voice of his judgment is more potent than an official ballot. He has been found a convenient and dependable arbiter. The allied Governments asked him, for example, to decide the very troublesome question as to the rate of exchange at which the Belgian debt to the Allies should be paid by Germany. His determination in the matter has been accepted as a satisfactory solution of this vexatious problem. The dispatches report his sound counsel in the matter of the proposed agreement between the representatives of France and Germany concerning the payment of 7,000,000,000 gold marks in building materials in redemption of the debt. This agreement awaits the approval of the Reparations Commission, but the reasons, succinctly stated by Mr. BOYDEN, are convincing, and will doubtless have weight with the commission, which has again and again shown confidence in his advice.

The first of these reasons is that this substitution of building materials for money payment would reduce to a minimum "dangerous underselling," or "dumping," by Germany in America or elsewhere. A few days ago one of the great British chemists visiting America took from his pocket an aluminum spoon made in Germany, bought by him at a department store in New York for five cents, the aluminum alone in which could not be bought in England for five cents. This is an illustration of what underselling means. The second reason is that such substitution provides a method of insuring from year to year the reparations payments by Germany. And the third reason is that this payment in materials relieves France of the necessity of filling the "vacuums of Northern France" with goods which she should use to re-establish her foreign trade.

As Mr. BOYDEN said, when he made the speech a year ago that somewhat startled the world by its suggestion of a United States of Europe, he was giving his personal opinion, without in any way representing his Government. But it is fortunate, whatever the international import of his visible presence in the Reparations Board may be to Senator BORAH, that America can be so effectively vocal through an unofficial voice.

TWO FAMOUS VISITORS.

Two world-renowned men, a great sailor and a great statesman, will arrive in New York today. Earl BEATTY, Admiral of the Fleet, the frank, fearless, gallant sea-fighter with "the Nelson touch," the "fighting Irishman" who became a British hero after the Battle of Heligoland, and who displayed such brilliant boldness and initiative both there and in the Battle of Jutland Bank, is a most welcome and honored guest in the country which has worthily maintained the great traditions of naval warfare.

ELEUTHERIOS VENIZELOS, the Cretan statesman, Prime Minister for ten years, whose sagacity, prudence and courage are written indelibly upon the map of Europe and of Asia Minor, who has realized so much of the old hope of Greater Hellas, the friend of the Allies, the creative mind to whom Greece owes such expansion of her territory and the doubling of her population, has long been an admired figure here, and millions of Americans will join the Greeks today in the cry of "Zeto VENIZELOS!"

DELUSIONS ABOUT THE RAILWAYS

The Middle West Governors and the "agricultural bloc" are like-minded in the belief that railways are the enemy of their part of the country. Also, both of them think that statutes can prevail over the Constitution in matters affecting the whole country. The conference of Middle West Governors adopted on Wednesday resolutions favoring the repeal of what they consider the "guarantee" of undue profits to the railways in the Transportation act and "Congressional "action to remove doubt as to State "jurisdiction over State railroad "rates and services." Legislation in that sense is already pending.

It ought to be unnecessary so often to deny that the railways have any guarantee of any profits, but the delusion of the Governors compels repetition. The most extreme interpretation of the Transportation act is that the railways may earn what they can from rates prescribed for them, and which so far have realized a small fraction of the nominal maximum which the Governors regard as a "guarantee." Thus far nobody has proposed that the deficit from the maximum shall be made up to the railways in any manner, but the Governors were unanimous in thinking that a deficit is a guarantee of profits to be realized by exploitation of the farmers. Moreover, one of them insisted that the "guarantee" is on "watered stock." Has he never heard of the property valuation on which the "fair return" was based? The railways are suffering with the farmers, and both are suffering undeservedly. But there is this difference in their cases—the farmers' misfortunes are due to events almost uncontrollable, whereas the railways' misfortunes are the result chiefly of intention.

This appears from the remedies for the farmers' troubles proposed by both the Governors and the agricultural bloc. The American Farm Bureau Federation asks Congress for the repeal of the Transportation act. Representative DOWELL of Iowa has introduced a bill providing that the Interstate Commerce Commission "shall of its own initiative," and within thirty days, reduce rates on agricultural products 25 per cent. Representative SWEET of Iowa has introduced a bill giving the States control over what they consider to be State rates. And this idea has been endorsed within the week by the National Association of Utilities Commissioners in convention at Atlanta, representing forty-seven States—all but Delaware. It is clear that such laws are intended to upset the methods of regulation practiced since 1887, and upheld by countless decisions of the officials charged with the duty of regulation of railways and many decisions from the Federal Supreme Court. A mandate to the Interstate Commerce Commission is destructive of its initiative and substitutes an edict for due process of law. The relation of interstate to intrastate rates cannot be fixed by statutes of either States or Congress. It is settled by the Constitution, interpreted by the Federal Supreme Court. If the agricultural bloc and the Middle West Governors could have their way, they would make transportation conditions in this country like those in Europe, where so many new political jurisdictions have been created that in a journey no longer than from New York to Chicago it is necessary to stop trains for five customs inspections of passengers and freight. It is said that there is one case where a political division of a farm compels the owner to pay customs duties on lumber from his own woods. If forty-eight States could make transportation rates, there might be no national commerce or travel.

COMMISSIONER GRAVES.

The State of New York yesterday welcomed to the executive headship of her educational system one of its own sons, FRANK PIERREPONT GRAVES. This State has given men to the school systems of other States, notably the late Dr. CALVIN N. KENDALL, who lifted the schools of New Jersey by his great professional and personal attainments; Dr. THOMAS E. FINEGAN, who has made a remarkable record in the State of Pennsylvania, and Dr. M. B. HILLEGAS, who served the State of Vermont faithfully in an educational transition period. With these, and doubtless still others, may also be mentioned Dr. PAYSON SMITH, the able Commissioner for Massachusetts, for New York had a part in his preparation, since Dr. GRAVES was one of his teachers. And now New York takes for the guidance of her own schools one of the first fruits of that foremost school for the training of teachers, Teachers College; for Dr. GRAVES was one of the early students in that institution organized under the administrative genius of Dr. BUTLER.

Dr. GRAVES comes to his office—the most important public educational position in the United States—with a varied and successful practical experience, with a superior technical equipment, with the practiced vision of a man who is not to be misled by appearances, and with the scars of courage upon him. That he enters upon his work with a keen and analytical mind, though with the modesty of a true scholar, is shown by his inaugural address last night in Albany. The two outstanding needs to which he calls attention are, first, that of the financial independence, and freedom from political control, of city school boards, and, second, that of the larger unit of organization, both for purposes of taxation and administration, for the rural schools. His plain statement is that "the schools "do not belong to the city and should "not be considered in its municipal "expenditures." In this he gives support to the policy toward which sound educational opinion has been moving for years, but the effort to establish it in this State has been unavailing. The people of New York City, after the woeful experience of the last four years, should now be ready and eager to adopt this policy, one, by the way, to which Mr. CURRAN has given approval.

As to the rural schools, a committee, in which the farmers and farmers' wives of the State are taking the lead, is already working with the educational authorities of the State for relief from the old district system, whose fruits are, to quote Commissioner GRAVES, "small, unenthusiastic and "expensive schools, poor teachers, a "lack of administrative officers, no "differentiation or specialization of "the work, wretched buildings, inade-"quate equipment and no high "schools."

It is a great opportunity for leadership that falls to this son of New York, and it is to be hoped that he has "come to the kingdom for such a time as this."

COMMUNIST IDEAS OF JUSTICE.

A company payroll was seized by a number of robbers at South Braintree, Mass., April 15, 1920, and two men were killed, the paymaster and his guard. In July of this year two of the bandits, SACCO and VANZETTI, were convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury of the Norfolk County Court. Their trial was entirely fair. The presiding Judge specially cautioned the jury "not to allow the fact "that the defendants are Italians to "influence, you or prejudice you in "the least degree. They are entitled "to the same rights and consideration "as though their ancestors came over "in the Mayflower." Counsel for the defense were allowed to file exceptions for the purpose of appeal up to Nov. 1. In short, every right was granted to the defendants. Their case is not yet fully determined.

In the United States the trial attracted only the most casual attention. Apparently, it was one of a hundred similar cases. In New Jersey, for instance, the punishment might have followed the crime more rapidly. But SACCO and VANZETTI belong to a sacred class. They are Communists. Intermittent demonstrations were made in Italy. In October an evidently organized protest by the Communists and Socialists began. "Bourgeois capitalism" was assailed. Manifestations were made against the American Embassy in Rome, and these were followed by other manifestations in spite of the activity of the police. The brethren in France took up the great cause. They sent innumerable letters and telegrams to Ambassador HERRICK. Finally they sent him a grenade, which failed of its effect on account of the presence of mind of the sometime British bomber who is Mr. HERRICK'S valet.

The Communists, indulging in their cheerful habit of forgery, have manufactured for the Judge in the case a statement that the defendants were "guilty because of their ideas." By posters and by articles in the Red newspapers the Anarchists and Communists are urged to insist on the release of these "comrades" and "innocents." In Paris a mass meeting has been called for tonight. In Brest yesterday a mob of syndicalists amused itself by singing the "Internationale" and smashing the windows of the American Consulate. The Communists of Brussels have "demonstrated" before the American Embassy. All over Europe, apparently, the various congeners of the Bolsheviki are going to howl against a fictitious injustice; accenting their protests from time to time by little pleasantries such as infernal machines. Doubtless the faithful in this country will take up the lamentation.

It is an agreeable state of things if members of the various societies of revolution and destruction can't be punished by the courts for their crimes; if a Communist, for example, can't be convicted of murder without provoking combined efforts, assisted by assassination or attempts at it, of his fellows to shield him from the penalty of his crime. Again these destructionists have shown what they are. At least their sentimental sympathizers in this country, who have been so horrified by laws to prevent, so far as possible, the teaching of these missionaries of murder, might be awakened into common sense by this exhibition of the far-reaching danger of that teaching; or do they really wish that a person clothed with the sublime character of a Communist, an Anarchist, or even a Socialist, shall be exempt from the jurisdiction of the criminal courts?

OUR TROOPS ON THE RHINE.

Secretary WEEKS announces that the War Department does not expect to order home at once the American soldiers occupying the Coblenz bridgehead. He explains that the question of policy involved is to be decided by the State Department, and gives it as his opinion that our flag will continue to fly on the Rhine "for some time."

The clamor, now dying out, for the withdrawal of our army of occupation in Germany was based partly on the supposed desires of the doughboys themselves. They were pictured as rebelling at the cruelty of keeping them in exile condemned to a thankless task. On this point the statements made on Monday by Senator WILLIS of Ohio are illuminating. He, with other Congressmen, spent several days at Coblenz in the latter part of August, talking freely with the officers and men—the force now numbers about 12,000. Nowhere was found a burning desire to go home. When the army was being reduced by voluntary discharges not one man at Coblenz applied to leave the service. The Congressmen repeatedly inquired whether it was true, as stated in America, that "you boys are very homesick and "want to get back to the United "States." This is the answer they got:

> Homesick? Shucks! I suppose they think we want to get back to eat sand down on the Mexican border, or be rained on or frozen to death in the temporary camps where the buildings were built four years ago with the expectation that they would last two years.

It is the viewpoint of the professional soldier in the regular army that has to be considered. He might go further than Coblenz and fare much worse. There he has the use of the fine German military barracks. He gets 10 per cent. additional pay for foreign service. The high rate of exchange of dollars for marks enables him to live almost luxuriously. Why should he pine for home? "The "officers to a man, from General "ALLEN down, told us that the men "were contented." Moreover, they had in Germany "the finest opportunity to train an army that they, "as officers, had ever experienced." Thus, from the military point of view, the argument for bringing back our troops from the Rhine is virtually nil.

These considerations should not of themselves be conclusive. They would rightly be made to give way to a clear decision on the ground of national interest or international duty. But they run the same way. The Senate has ratified a treaty which makes us coguarantors, by occupation of German territory, of the execution by Germany of the Versailles Treaty. In that is implied a legal obligation. Even stronger is the moral obligation not to draw apart from our allies, not in any way to embarrass France and Belgium and England in their dealings with Germany. This is well understood to be the policy of the Administration, and in pursuance of it our troops will be kept on the Rhine. They surely will be until after the Washington conference. To that the President is pinning high hopes, and he could not wish to do anything that would imply a rift or a divergence just when he was seeking harmonious co-operation.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Real Boats Are in This Race.

Tomorrow's race off Halifax harbor between the Elsie, pride of the Gloucester fishing fleet, and the Bluenose, the name of which reveals the land it is expected to make proud, will be a sporting contest differing in many respects from the majority of such events, and especially in the fact that it will be a competition in the doing of something of practical utility. To some this may seem to remove it entirely from the realm of sport, but they will think so only because so nearly always the immediate results achieved in sporting contests—the winning of goals, the making of runs, the knocking of a ball into a little hole, and the like—are in themselves of no value.

And the Halifax race is like an ordinary yacht race only in that it is a test of speed. It is unlike most of them, and notably unlike the yacht races that attract most attention, in that the competing craft, instead of being mere "racing machines," worthless for any other purpose than racing, are real boats—the very realest of the real, indeed, and able to face any wind that blows and any sea that storms can raise. This race will not be postponed on account of any weather except a dead calm, and of that there is little probability off that coast at this season of the year—or any other, for that matter.

It is no coast for amateur sailors, and there will be no amateurs on either the Elsie or the Bluenose. Instead, every man aboard will be a veteran of the Grand Banks, or at least of Georges, and what they do not know about small craft navigation is something that cannot be learned in the hardest and most dangerous service that sailors ever enter. And both of these boats are craft of the kind in which fishermen earn their living, and though the competition, this time, is in speed instead of catching fish, victory will not be irrelevant to fishing as a business, for getting to market before a rival is as much a part of it as is filling the hold more quickly than he does.

Some misguided Bostonians tried to enter a schooner in the build of which more had been sacrificed to speed than would be sensible in a true fisherman, and the consequence was prompt disqualification for the race.

It's Feasible Though Astonishing.

To most New Yorkers the proposal to extend Manhattan Island some six miles down the bay and add to it as many square miles of enormously valuable real estate will seem to come from a dreamer of dreams. As it happens, however, T. KENNARD THOMSON, who evolved this large scheme, is an engineer of experience and repute, all of whose activities have been in the realm of the real, and to the working out of his plan in all its details he has given much thought and the same kind of thought that he has used in his other enterprises. Moreover, he has convinced the members of the Broadway Association, if not exactly that the things can be done, and done now, at least that it would be an excellent thing to do.

Of course, it would take a lot of money, but also if achieved it would bring in a lot of money—such a lot that to set down the figures would be tiresome.

Just how such an extension of Manhattan to near the Staten Island coast line would affect traffic between the two rivers, and what resentment the Hudson might show if its course toward the sea were thus to be restricted, are interesting questions, but they all have received consideration.

An important result promised from carrying out this plan is that it would keep the centre of the city where it belongs and stop the present tendency of that centre, which is to drift steadily toward the north, to the great disquieting of owners of downtown property. Another is the addition of six new square miles on which to levy taxes, with a consequent huge increment of the city's debt limit, or of its resources, to use a preferable phrase. Not everybody would regard that as an advantage, as not quite always are our municipal administrations as well qualified as they might be for making the best possible use of public funds. They are as good, however, as New Yorkers choose to make them—as they want them to be, that is—so optimists will not worry about perils in that direction.

"Sprucing Up" Is Still Expensive.

One hesitates to find fault with anything said by such wise and well-intentioned men as those whom Governor MILLER called to a conference in Albany on unemployment this week. With what the Governor himself had to offer in the way of advice there could be no disagreement, indeed, and especially to be commended was his declaration as to the menace of a railway strike and the need, everywhere, of preparing to meet it. Better what will have been proved unnecessary if there should be no strike, he said, than to be caught by it with nothing done or not enough. He might have added that the better the preparations the less likely would be the strike. It is in reading what Colonel ARTHUR WOODS had to say about "sprucing up"—painting houses and making repairs—as a means of reducing unemployment that some irritation is felt.

Of course, work and wages could be made in that way, and it would be desirable to make them, but has the Colonel had occasion recently to find out what it costs these days to paint a house or to do any of the inside jobs he had in mind? Apparently he has not, else would he know that the cost of labor and materials is still so high that many a householder feels himself justified—or compelled—to wait till it goes down, and goes down a long way, at that, before he "spruces up."

Not Troubled That Way in Europe.

It is not reported that in any other country than the United States is there an eager rush of people who want to have their weight reduced—to be relieved, that is, of superfluous fat. In so many lands not a few are starving and almost everybody is more or less hungry that envy and several other unkind feelings are likely to be created when news goes out that here in New York municipal officials have interested themselves in saving fellow-citizens from the consequences of—well, of eating more than they need and more than is good for health.

That is what excessive weight means in most, perhaps in all, cases, though what constitutes overeating depends, of course, on the amount of physical work the eater does. Some fat folk claim that they eat little, but when the claim is warranted it must be that muscular inactivity explains why they are not lean, for there is just one thing that makes fat, and that is food.

"AVALANCHE OF GAMBLING."

Lapse in Moral Standards of the Community Is Noted.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Is it possible that thoughtful people are alive to the perfect avalanche of gambling which has swept down upon us and has well-nigh engulfed the whole section of our land hereabouts? Last night my attention was drawn to a carnival being held at the corner of Westchester Avenue and Rogers Place, Bronx, and, taking a few minutes to investigate, I found no less than twenty gambling devices, in front of which, in nearly every instance, was a group of from fifty to a hundred people, men, women and children, placing their dimes on their chosen number and waiting the number at which the wheel stopped. There were probably 2,500 people on the grounds and every booth was running at high pressure. Perhaps two-thirds of the crowd were from 14 to 25 years of age. If our shrewdest minds had devised some way to breed a nation of gamblers they could not have struck upon a more successful plan.

It seems very strange to me that no voice of protest has been lifted. Is everybody willing to countenance this? I, for one, do not. It spells disaster and disgrace. The harvest of this sort of thing is crime. Have we not enough of that now? Let some one make a move to have this disgraceful state of things ended. Is it not in violation of our laws now on the statute books? Where are the men sworn into office to enforce the laws? What can be the future of a nation whose officials disregard their oath of office and the citizens of which wink at the continued violation of law? A great many things have crept into practice lately in our civic life which but a few years ago would have evoked a storm of righteous indignation which would have scorched such criminalities like the fires of Hades; but "Gallio cares for none of these things," and the populace are too somnolent. Along with our awakening to the economic and international issues of the hour let us not forget to awaken to the moral issues involved in these practices which have crept in so unobserved.

Choosing Historical Facts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reply to the editorial article which appears in your issue of today I beg to state that I have been misquoted.

What I said was this: Merely because a statement is true does not necessarily entitle it to a place in a textbook used in the elementary grades of a public school. For example, take Page 60 of Lodge's "A Short History of the English Colonies in America," or Chapter IV. of Volume I. of Rhodes's "History of the United States." Would you take the material there set forth and insert it in a textbook used in the elementary grades?

There must be truthfulness and there should be propriety. We are not dealing with students of advanced history or those engaged in research work. We are dealing with the immature minds of the elementary grades. In history as in other studies and in the walks of life the presentation of certain facts to immature minds is dangerous. They are unable to appraise these facts at their true value or in their true relationship to other facts.

Since the reliable material available for the writing of a textbook in history is practically inexhaustible, and the worthwhile material is far in excess of the amount that can be printed within the limits of a textbook, an author, in selecting and rejecting material, must exercise sound discretion. He should select only such material as answers to the test of truthfulness, appropriateness, and which is most worth while.

I am in full accord with you in the proposition that our history must be truthful. But as we cannot, within the limited space of a textbook, state all the historical facts, we must pay due heed to the issue of relative values. Therefore, as between statements admittedly true, preference must be given to those most worth while.

EDWARD MANDEL.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When the armistice was signed our country had "risen" to "heights sublime." Now it has fallen to the level of Mexico, thanks to the works of our Lilliputian Senators. The Peace Treaty, which should have been ratified within ten days after it was submitted, was mutilated with useless reservations, and finally rejected altogether. And now, to add still more to their infamous record of dishonor, they repudiate a written agreement between ourselves and a friendly nation. I refer to the Canal Tolls bill, of course.

When will we have Senators who will represent us correctly and intelligently? It seems to me that one trouble is that most of our Senators appear to be mere delegates of some class. We hear of farmer blocs, and labor blocs, and so on ad infinitum. Is it not time that our Senators should represent not only the State from which they are sent, but also, in the broader view, our whole country, and be charged above all to guard our country's honor?

H. L. HASKIN.

Tax-Exempt Building.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There can be no question that the exemption of new buildings for homes from taxation if started before April 1, 1922, has been very successful in greatly relieving the housing situation, especially in Brooklyn and Queens Boroughs, with Manhattan as well. It should be extended. Whatever benefit the city may derive from the measure will be due to Henry H. Curran, President of the Borough of Manhattan and now candidate for Mayor by the Coalitionists on Nov. 8, election day.

Supporting him in passing the bill were Senator Charles C. Lockwood, their nominee for Controller; Raymond V. Ingersoll, Dr. Copeland, Health Commissioner, and others.

GOOD-BYE.

Good-bye little cabin, until I come again,
I leave you the tenderness of the slow rain.
The winds shall caress you,
The red leaves shall dress you,
And lovingly dress you when long they have lain.
The great fir, all silvery in the bright dew,
I leave as a sentinel, fathering you.
Good-bye, little cabin, for Summer is done,
And the cold haze of Autumn has blotted the sun.
The woodland seems sleeping,
Where chill breath comes creeping,
And shy quail are cheeping and gray squirrels run.
Soon days will turn colder and storm clouds will frown,
And I must go back to my duty in town.
Good-bye, little cabin, you've been such a friend,
And sheltered and comforted us without end.
While you wait for us here
We will think of you, dear,
And, with Spring of next year, we'll be coming again.
Good-bye, little cabin, may your long sleep be sweet,

Heavy Task of the Powers to Try to Bring About an Understanding Between Japan and China.

This is the eighth in a series of twelve articles. The next will appear on Sunday, Oct. 23.

VIII. China's Vital Interests.

No amount of pomp and ceremony, no amiable fictions, can disguise the fact that China will attend the Washington conference in the rôle of a minor among its guardians. An ancient monarchy, too decrepit to defend its interests against aggressive foreigners, has fallen before a very juvenile revolution, not yet grown up to dignity and power. The Celestial Empire of the Manchus was the sick man of Asia. The young republic is the enfant terrible. It has not yet struck its pace nor found its place. Nobody knows how fast it will go, nor the direction it will take. Anything so uncertain is terrible in the staid society of nations.

Mr. Bland has perhaps been too severely sarcastic about Young China in his recent volume on "China, Korea and Japan," but, even if exaggerated, his bill of complaint shows the nature of China's troubles. Two groups of not very experienced politicians—one in the North, the other in the South—claim each to be the constitutional government of the republic and carry on a civil war, which consists largely of mutual recriminations and attempts to undermine the loyalty of the opposing troops—which do not very often meet in battle. While this forensic conflict rages between Peking and Canton, the real powers of government are wielded by local satraps—the provincial Tuchuns—who are frankly more interested in emoluments than in the res publicae. Neither the government of the North nor that of the South can give its edicts force through any large territory. The strength which results from national unity—urged by the ancient sages as well as by modern advisers—does not now exist in China.

It was a wise move to invite China to send representatives to join in the discussion of Far Eastern affairs, but it would be a grave mistake to take them too seriously. It was wise because it shows our good-will toward China, and we want her good-will. It was wise because of its educational value. But the delegation will not in any true sense represent the vast mass of Chinese; they will be the agents of the clique now in control at Peking. We may be quite sure that at least half of the Chinese will denounce them as traitors, taking orders—and bribes—from Tokio.

Their position will not be unlike that of the Turks at the Congress of Berlin in 1879. Their fate will be the principal subject of discussion, but they will have to rely on others to defend their interests. It is not even probable that they will be able to define their interests convincingly.

They will arrive at the conference with a thick portfolio full of complaints—justified complaints against the high-handed aggressions of more powerful nations. But judging from past performances, it is not probable that they will be helpful in suggesting any practical and constructive measures to improve the situation.

The destiny of China, more strikingly than with almost any other nation, will be determined by her own people. Her undeveloped power in men, in material and wealth is tremendous. So is her present disorganization. There is very little that outsiders can do to help her, unless she learns to help herself. And when once she does acquire cohesion she will not need any outside help. But this internal weakness is the phase of her troubles which her representatives are least disposed to discuss; they are more likely to demand a paper recognition of unreal "sovereignty" than to seek the means to make the sovereignty real; more likely to complain of the abuses of extra-territoriality than to improve the administration of justice so that foreigners would have assurances of protection. They will probably demand that respect which other nations have had to win.

It is difficult to define the real interests of China, because in this matter, as in others, they are a house divided. But there would be little dispute that the problem which overshadows all others for them is their relation to Japan. Is it to be friendship and collaboration or hatred and conflict?

Recently a young Chinese student told me that he hoped the outcome of this conference would be the formal annexation by Japan of Manchuria and Shantung. "That," he said, "would give us just the Alsace-Lorraine we need to bring about national unity. We could stimulate a hatred of Japan, a desire for revenge which would bring us together as one man—as surely as the German menace has united France. And then," he ended gleefully, "when the inevitable war breaks out between you and Japan, you could be sure that every Japanese in China would be killed within three days." When I pointed out that this conference was called in the hope of avoiding war, of reducing armaments, he lost all interest. While his was a foolish and reckless proposal, it is based on a theory held—in somewhat more moderate terms—by many Chinese. It is rather like the old Fenian slogan, "England's distress is Ireland's opportunity." The Chinese of this school advocate playing America off against Japan, seeing nothing but gain for themselves in the anticipated conflict. It is to be hoped that the Chinese delegation at Washington will not act on this theory, intentionally troubling the waters in their eagerness to take home a great fish.

But it is a serious error to think that "Young China" is wholly anti-Japanese. Many more Chinese of "foreign learning"—the leaders of the student movement—have been educated in Japan than have gone to the schools of the West. And even if Japan is today the worst offender against China's interests, they realize that she is only tardily following the example of the nations which call themselves Christian.

Of course, the great illiterate mass of Chinese are utterly—if not blissfully—indifferent to the rival claims of those who scramble for concessions. Among the small minority who are interested in their country's place in the world those who call themselves pro-Japanese are quite as numerous as those who are anti. The frequency with which some of the "leaders" switch from one party to the other indicates that there is a great deal to be said for each side and that public opinion in China has not definitely decided between them.

One thing which generally surprises the Westerner is to find that even the Chinese who are the most angry and bitter against their fellow-countrymen whom they accuse of taking orders from Tokio are not really afraid of the Japanese.

The learning of their schools is primarily in the classics and history. They know how often they have been conquered and how they have always come out on top. Ghengis Khan was not the first, nor the last, invader who boasted of having subdued China and in the end was taken captive by her. They regard the Manchus, for instance, not as alien masters, but as a barbarian people to whom they taught civilization. And so the Chinese of today are not really afraid of Japan; knowledge of their past has given them faith in the future.

A prominent Chinese official is quoted as having said: "We ought to ask Japan to conquer us. She would give us a good Government, teach us all the new learning which has made her strong, and when the lesson is over, when Japan has taught us all she can, we will be strong enough to brush her aside."

Something like this is probably the natural trend of events. It was the sword of Caesar that brought civilization to Britain, and Bernard Shaw used to say that it was a misfortune for England that she had not been conquered by Napoleon. Some one has spoken of the Czechs as "Prussianized Slavs." And certainly a comparison of their orderly and efficient legions in Siberia with the Russian army of Kolchak indicated that they had learned some valuable lessons in the long years they suffered under Teuton oppression. Perhaps, if nature were left to herself, the only way she could think of to regenerate China would be to let the Japanese rule her for a half century or so.

But we are not content to let nature take her course. The one reason for this conference at Washington is to attempt to persuade "natural man," with his instinctive love of arms, to become more "civilized." We cannot be content to allow the civilization of the East to wait on the crude old processes of war. We must strive to arrange matters so that Japan and the other nations can carry on their educational work in China without shooting her up. We must try to furnish China with what she needs without making her pay too heavily.

The old maxim says that it takes two to make a quarrel; it is even more true that it takes two to make a friendship. And the latter is much the more difficult. Sudden and shortlived anger will start a fight, the establishment of cordial co-operation is the work of slow reason. It requires continuity of effort as well as good-will. But good-will on both sides is the condition precedent. The conference at Washington has a large opportunity for beneficent activity in trying to bring China and Japan toward the spirit of entente.

Once her relations with Japan were put on a secure basis, China could proceed with her internal reorganization. First of all comes finance, more of the money collected in taxes must be returned to the people in public service, and less of it go into the pockets of officials. The republic will not deserve respect until it has disbanded the irregular troops of the provincial Tuchuns and built up a loyal national police force, adequate for the task of restoring authority. Then, China needs all sorts of transportation facilities—railroads, canals, highways. Also improved mails and telegraphs. It is only with a good network of communications that national unity can be developed. Educational facilities demand attention. The old classical examinations have been abandoned and no new national system installed. China does not so much need foreign schools, where Lincoln and Gladstone will be held up as models, as her own native schools, where the fine heritage of her antique culture will be revered.

In such matters the foreigners can aid with advice and in some cases with capital and trained experts, but most of such work will have to be done by the Chinese themselves.

The one most valuable thing that the foreign nations could do to help China would be to invent some way to restrain their own citizens from corrupting Chinese officials with bribes.

This conference at Washington will accomplish more for the cause of peace if it works out plans of active co-operation than if it contents itself with pledges not to do this and not to do that. Much can be accomplished along these lines by the consortium, if all the four powers will get behind it heartily. But co-operation implies a fair sharing of the profits and we cannot expect any one to come into the consortium whole-hearted unless it offers him quite as much as he could expect to get by playing a lone hand. But if the agreement can be made mutually satisfactory, there is fair hope that Japan will gradually through such collaboration lose her suspicious fear of a China controlled by hostile foreigners. There is very little that the other nations can accomplish for the good of China if the Japanese are working against them.

Here also a great deal depends on China. So far the consortium has marked time, because the Chinese were suspicious. It is to be hoped that their delegates will go home from the conference thoroughly convinced that this offer of assistance is sincere and disposed to urge the co-operation of their people.

No Man for the Job.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Verily, the inability of man to find employment of any kind is most awful! I had four tons of coal to be put in, and, though I was willing to pay by the hour, thus making all due allowance for sabotage, I was unable to find any man so unemployed or so needy as to take such a menial task. The coal dealer said he could not supply such a man, so I finally had to fall back upon my housemaid. Yes, indeed, it is a most woeful state of affairs when men starving for lack of employment have nothing better than a coal shoveling job offered them.

A Telegraphic Error.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to correct an error which crept into a cable communication from Cherbourg, published in your paper on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1921. Therein it is stated that Nikolai Avskentieff, who is on his way from France to this country, represents "virtually all the groups opposed to the Bolshevist elements in Europe." This information is entirely erroneous. Mr. Avskentieff, on the contrary, was in hearty sympathy with the destructive movements in Russia, and, under Admiral Kolchak's rule, he was expelled from Siberia for pro-Soviet propaganda among the Russian troops opposing the Red army.

NADINE NASH WED TO J. M. BLACKWELL

SISTERS IN DOUBLE NUPTIAL

The wedding of James Madison Blackwell, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Blackwell of 42 East Eighty-first Street, and Miss Nadine Nash, a granddaughter of Stephen T. Nash and a sister of Henry P. Nash, was celebrated at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's Church, the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks officiating. The bride, who walked with her brother, was gowned in white chiffon and wore a lace veil. Her only attendant was her cousin, Mrs. Stephen P. N. Rhoades. Alexander Lambert Barbour was the best man, and the ushers were Arthur M. Du Bois, Stephen P. N. Rhoades, Francis M. Henderson, Merrill E. Gates Jr., Henry M. Polhemus and Marion W. Lee Misses Baumann Marry.

A double wedding took place at 6:30 o'clock last evening at the St. Regis when the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Baumann of 7 East Eighty-ninth Street were married. Miss Edith Baumann became the bride of Harold Benedict, a son of Mr. A. Benedict of this city, and her sister, Miss Blanche Baumann, was married to Maurice H. Frank, a son of Mrs. R. Frank of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Nathan Krass in the Louis XVI. suite.

The brides, who walked with their father, wore veils of old rose point lace made from their mother's wedding veil, and carried white orchids and lillies of the valley. Their only attendant was their niece, Miss Marjorie Wortman, as a flower girl.

Shaw—Van Ingen.

Captain Henry Mackay Shaw, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Shaw of Las Vegas, N. M., and Miss Elisabeth Van Ingen, daughter of the Rev. James W. Van Ingen of 109 East Hazelwood Avenue, Rahway, N. J., were married yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Rahway, the bride's father officiating.

After the reception at the home of the bride, Captain and Mrs. Shaw sailed for Camp Stotsenberg, Philippine Islands, where the Captain is attached to the Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, U. S. A.

Palmer—Wright.

The marriage of Miss Helen Estelle Wright, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Emerson Wright of 93 North Parsons Avenue, Flushing, L. I., and Stephen Alling Palmer of East Orange, N. J., took place yesterday noon at Flushing. Mr. Palmer was with the Tank Corps in France during the war. Upon their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will make their home at 310 Myrtle Avenue, Flushing.

MISS CARPENTER TO MARRY.

The marriage of Miss Marion Stires Carpenter, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. R. Carpenter of 907 Fifth Avenue, and Milton Dorland Doyle of 91 East Forty-ninth Street, a son of James B. Doyle of Mount Vernon, N. Y., will take place at noon tomorrow at the home of the bride's parents. No previous announcement has been made of their engagement, and the news of the approaching marriage comes as a surprise to friends of the couple. The wedding will be quiet and will be attended only by immediate relatives.

Miss Carpenter, who is a graduate of the Spence School here, is a member of the Junior League, having made her début two winters ago. Mr. Doyle served during the war in the aviation service. They expect to make their home in this city.

Beale—Willard.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Beale of Wallace, Idaho, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Beale, to Daniel Willard Jr. Miss Beale was graduated from Vassar last June. Mr. Willard, who is the son of Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, is a graduate of Yale class of '16, and also of the Harvard Law School, class of '21. He served two years with the artillery in France during the war. No date has been mentioned for the wedding.

Hellen—Dana.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edmund Hellen, who returned Monday from England on the Baltic, have made formal announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Shirley Semmes Hellen, to Gordon Dana, a son of the late Richard Henry Dana and of Mrs. Dana of this city. No date has been set for the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Hellen and their daughter are at the Hotel Gramatan, Bronxville.

Krusen—Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Addis Krusen of East Orange, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marguerite Krusen, to Edward Goodnow Williams, a son of Edward T. Williams of Norwalk, Ohio. Miss Krusen was graduated from Smith College and Mr. Williams from Cornell University.

Rose—Dunk.

The engagement is announced of Miss Carolyn Leib Rose, a daughter of Mrs. Arthur Middleton Rose of 604 112th Street, to Howard Walter Dunk, also of New York.

LEE SHIPPEY WEDS AGAIN.

Poet Marries in Mexico Girl Named in First Wife's Suit.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 20.—Lee Shippey, a Los Angeles newspaper man and poet, and Mlle. Madeline Babin of Paris, France, were married in Mexico City a few days ago, according to a special dispatch received by The San Antonio Light today.

Mrs. Mary Blake Woodson Shippey, the poet's first wife, recently obtained a divorce in Kansas City, naming Mlle. Babin in her action. Shippey met the French girl while serving with the Y. M. C. A. in France during the war.

LENOX COLONISTS VIE IN FLORAL SHOW

A. M. Cooley Displays 100 Varieties of Orchids, Mrs. H. White Many Kinds of Roses.

Special to The New York Times.

LENOX, Mass., Oct. 20.—Lenox society was interested today in the exhibition of flowers, fruits and vegetables staged in the Town Hall under the auspices of the Lenox Horticultural Society. This is the first display in Lenox since 1917, and although smaller than many exhibitions arranged before the war, it is fully up to the Lenox standard in quality. There are twenty-five exhibitors.

As one enters the hall two group displays attract attention. One, occupying 300 square feet of space, by Mrs. Henry White, is on the right and the other, consisting entirely of orchids owned by Arthur N. Cooley of Pittsfield, occupies all the stage, 160 square feet.

Mrs. White's exhibit is beautifully arranged. Conspicuous are varicolored crotons, with background of tall palms, ferns, asparagus and oak leaves, circular columns of pennesitum, an ornamental grass, are on either side, with tritoma, a brilliant red flower, and chrysanthemums for a groundwork.

Mr. Cooley's orchid display has never been equaled in Lenox. There are 100 varieties, including green lady slippers from India, magnificent cattleya from Hawaii, the Philippines and Equatorial Africa. The exhibit, which recently won two gold and one silver medals in Boston, is valued at $12,000.

Mrs. W. Murray Crane of Dalton received first prize for the most attractively arranged fancy basket of chrysanthemums for table decoration, with Mrs. Henry White second, while Mrs. White received first prize for a handsomely decorated basket of brilliantly colored outdoor flowers, fruits, grasses and berries, with Mrs. Crane second.

Mrs. White exhibited a vase of fifty roses in variety, including Columbia white Killarney, and Mrs. Dunlap showed a vase of "everlasting flowers." Mrs. Joseph H. Choate received first prize for six best cypripedium, while first prizes for pomposms went to Mrs. White, Mrs. Robert Winthrop and Mrs. Richard C. Dixey, with Mrs. William E. S. Griswold second.

FARRAND BECOMES CORNELL PRESIDENT

SCHWAB URGES DEMOCRACY

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Dr. Livingston Farrand was invested with the office of President of Cornell University today at a simple but most impressive ceremony in Bailey Hall. A host of educators and scientists from all parts of the country, and from some of the oldest universities of Europe and Canada, attended the exercises.

With Dr. Farrand's inauguration came the revelation that the hitherto unknown giver of $1,500,000 for a new chemical laboratory was George F. Baker of New York, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank. Mr. Baker, who was accompanied by Charles M. Schwab, personally laid the cornerstone of the new laboratory. Mr. Schwab made a short speech.

Mr. Baker had previously given $335,000 for the construction of the group of university dormitories known as Baker Court.

The day opened with a drizzling rain that threatened, for a time, to curtail the exercises. The program was postponed a half hour and then the picturesque and colorful academic procession to the scene of the inauguration was started. Delegates from the various educational institutions, numbering 125 in all, and including 50 university and college Presidents, led the procession.

President Farrand's Inaugural.

In front of Morrell Hall the procession was joined by Dr. Farrand, the retiring President, Albert W. Smith; Governor Miller of New York, Chief Justice Hiscock of the Court of Appeals, Mr. Schwab, H. H. Westinghouse and other trustees. Between two lines of university cadets the procession moved about the quadrangle and entered the hall where the inauguration ceremony took place.

Chief Judge Hiscock, Chairman of the Cornell Board of Trustees, inducted Dr. Farrand into office and Acting President Albert W. Smith passed to him the seal and charter of the university. The retiring executive, affectionately known as "Uncle Pete" to Cornell men the world over, received a mighty cheer as he retired.

President Farrand chose for the subject of his inaugural address the critical situation in which European civilization finds itself. He stated as his thesis "that European civilization is today engaged in a fight for its very existence; that this fact is not clearly recognized either here or abroad and that every opportunity must be seized to call attention to the critical aspect of the world situation, and for us in America, to our inevitable involvement in the outcome."

The most serious single factor, he asserted, was the depleted vitality of the European populations brought about by war conditions. He cited as particular illustrations the new republics of Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania, as well as the situation in Poland and the countries to the south.

President Farrand in drawing conclusions from the facts reviewed, argued that no solution to the problem could be hoped for unless international responsibility was fully recognized and accepted. Further, unless Americans accepted their share of this responsibility, disaster was inevitable.

"Sweeping aside all minor considerations," he said, "there is but one hope of solution and that is the spread of knowledge, coupled with a broad idealism, and above all a readiness to give that service which is essential to the survival of our modern democracies. There is one institution above all others to which out attention inevitably turns today, and that is our educational system. Perhaps the most serious fact of human psychology is that mental plasticity ceases with youth. The acquisition of new ideals is for the most part denied to those who have passed their earlier years. It is therefore in those who are still receptive that the new habits must be implanted. It is in those institutions to which this youth is entrusted that the new social language must be taught and the new social outlook must be learned. Of these there is none which carries the measure of responsibility which is placed upon the colleges and universities of the land.

"The world is being tried as with fire. Society is in revolution. Our civilization is not only under indictment, it is fighting for very existence. Solution is not to be reached by local adjustment. Acceptance of international responsibility is unavoidable. Dogmatism and intolerance, whether national or individual, will be fatal. An informed citizenship—a citizenship imbued with the ideals of true democracy and that spirit and habit of service without which democracy cannot stand—is indispensable. It is a long struggle in which we are engaged. It is to the rising generation that the world must turn for help. It is to a youth trained to see clearly, to view broadly, to judge fairly and to act fearlessly that we must look for better things.

Schwab Pleads for Democracy.

On behalf of the Eastern universities, President Lowell of Harvard then gave greeting to the new President. A similar courtesy was expressed for Far Western institutions by President Ray Wilbur of Leland Stanford University and for the middle universities by President Burton of Michigan. A greeting in behalf of the Southern universities from President Chase of North Carolina was read. Dean William A. Hammond and Foster L. Coffin conveyed the greetings of the Cornell Faculty and alumni body.

At the laying of the cornerstone by Mr. Baker, who used a silver trowel, Edgar Palmer Smith, President of the American Chemical Society, Jr. Edward L. Nichols of Cornell and Mr. Schwab were the speakers. Mr. Schwab made a plea for democracy.

"Any man," he said, "who goes forth from these hills with the idea that he has a different social standing from his fellowman is making a mistake from which he will never recover. The college man must have within his soul the true spirit of democracy and a feeling that the man by his side, no matter how lowly his station, is an educated man if he can do something better than the average man."

NEW GRISWOLD WILL FOUND.

Left $150,000 to Daughter Subsequently Cut Off With $500.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Alice Gerry Griswold, whose will left the bulk of her estate to Mrs. Mary A. Drischman, while her daughter, the Countess Anna St. Clair Cantubia, was cut off with $500, bequeathed $150,000 to her daughter in a will made in 1914, last document of the kind which she drew before her death, the will of Mrs. Drischman. This fact was brought out in the filing of a copy of the will this afternoon by counsel for the Countess, who is contesting the will.

The chief witness today was Charles Miller, who worked for years in the butcher shop conducted by the husband of Mrs. Drischman. Previous wienesses had testified to acts of cruelty by Miller while he was employed to take care of Mrs. Griswold during her last illness.

LORD LEE PAYS TRIBUTE TO ROOSEVELT MEMORY

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—There was a representative gathering of English and Americans in London at an at home given this afternoon by Lady Lee, the American wife of the British First Lord of the Admiralty, at Admiralty House, in connection with the British committee of the Women's Roosevelt Memorial Association. The memorial association wishes to establish a school of civics in the house in New York where Theodore Roosevelt was born, and today's meeting was designed to give his admirers in London, whether British or American, the opportunity of contributing to the work of thus showing appreciation of his vigorous upholding of the duties of citizenship.

Lord Lee of Fareham, who was a close friend of Roosevelt's for years, made an informal speech in the course of which he said he personally would found at his own school in England, Cheltenham College, a special Roosevelt scholarship for the best annual essay on "Roosevelt's Gospel of Public Service."

Lord Lee recalled that he served under Roosevelt in the American army in Cuba, and declared that Roosevelt regarded himself as a "100 per cent. American" and had a horror of hyphenated Americans or hyphenated Englishmen.

"While he was a true friend of England and an open and tireless advocate of the allied cause during the Great War," Lord Lee said, "he hated gush, and he once whimsically expressed the wish that all his friends would remember the eleventh commandment, which was 'Thou shalt not slop over.' It was a great grief to the soldier Roosevelt that he could not play a soldier's part in the campaign, but all his four sons served. All were wounded and one was killed."

LIVES PROLONGED BY HEALTH TESTS

Concrete proof that periodical health examinations prolong life was laid before the thirty-second annual convention of the National Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors at 1 Madison Avenue yesterday by Dr. A. S. Knight, President of the association and Medical Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The proof was based on the first analysis of a long term test of the efficacy of periodic health examinations and showed that in a group of nearly 6,000 men under observation there were actually 217 deaths in six years, whereas there should have been 412 deaths, according to the American experience table used in life insurance actuarial work.

The subject of cancer will be discussed today.

At the sale of Spanish and English antiques at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon a Spanish 17th century carved walnut table, 33½ inches long, No. 44, went to L. Lebier for $175; L. Elwin paid $100 for No. 41, a 16th century walnut library table, Spanish; Louis & Co. paid $120 for No. 56, a carved polychrome, Hispano-Moresque, late 15th century chest, two 16th century carved walnut arm chairs, Spanish, covered with crimson velvet of the period and studded with ancient brass nails, No. 57 sold to F. Baumeister for $110; a William and Mary oak bureau with molded top on bulbous feet, No. 64 was bought by Miss M. Green for $130 and Ginsburg & Levy paid $100 for No. 66 a unique carved walnut water bench, Spanish, Gothic period.

Two carved leather Spanish 17th century chairs were bought by E. Z. Noorian for $150 and Mrs. Hugh M. Martin paid $120 for No. 73, two carved walnut arm chairs, Spanish, of the 16th century. A mounted walnut Vargueno and stand, Spanish 16th century with solid framed fall front and enriched with gilded pierced heraldic panels on the original ancient crimson velvet, No. 81, was bought by W. B. Greenman for $440. A sapphire blue Navarra altar carpet, Spanish 17th century with central coronetted shield and name of maker in the border, No. 100 in rare condition, was bought by Mrs. E. Weston for $300. The returns for the day were $6,522. The sale will be concluded tomorrow.

$10,000,000 FOR CRIPPLES.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 20.—Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, Ga., Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, upon an official visit to Pittsburgh, told Shriners of this city last night that the organization had pledged itself to the expenditure of $10,000,000 for the care and cure of crippled children regardless of color, creed or sex.

Mr. Cutts said that, so far as statistics have been available, there are 400,000 crippled children within the jurisdiction of the Shrine and that it is the program of the organization to establish hospitals in various sections of the country to care for them. Already one has been established at St. Louis, he said, and this is to be the centre of the institutions under the present program. It is proposed, Mr. Cutts declared, to establish hospitals at Shreveport, La.; Montreal; St. Paul, Minn.; San Francisco; Portland, Ore., and one in Pennsylvania, the location to be determined.

PERSHING STARTS FOR HOME

PARIS, Oct. 20.—General John J. Pershing, who came to Europe to lay the Congressional Medal of Honor upon the tombs of the French and British "unknown warriors," left Paris for Cherbourg to-day on his way to the United States. He was accompanied to the station by a representative of President Millerand, several members of the Cabinet and many prominent military and civil officials.

Ambassador Herrick was too fatigued as a result of his experience yesterday, when a bomb exploded in his home, to go to the station. General Pershing told Minister of War Barthou that his trip to France had been one of the happiest events of his life, and that he hoped to be able to return in two or three years.

Federal Judge Arrested.

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 20.—Federal Judge Page Morris of Duluth, Minn., who has been sitting recently in Salt Lake City, was arrested here today after, according to the police, he had failed to stop and render aid to Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes after the automobile he was driving had struck and slightly injured her.

SOMETHING WRONG WITH MOON AGAIN

MUST CHANGE ALMANACS

Its Habits Have Been Growing Irregular for 30 Years—Mysterious Force Pushing It Ahead.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Daily Mail says that observations of the eclipse of the moon at Greenwich Observatory prove that the moon is off its path by a distance so small as to be negligible, but also that it is ahead of its expected position by over 12 seconds of an arc. It adds:

"Reckoning a second of an arc as one of our miles, the moon has deviated twelve miles. Dr. A. C. D. Crommelin, who took the observations, stated yesterday to a Daily Mail reporter that actually it is slightly more ahead, and the distance is quite a big one for astronomers."

Indeed, by going too fast, the moon has made a revision of astronomical and nautical almanacs necessary for 1923. Dr. Crommelin produced a table, showing that the erratic behavior of the moon began thirty years ago. In the first few years it gained only half a mile but later it quickened its pace. In 1915 it was 12.4 seconds ahead of the calculated position. Dr. Crommelin says there has been a slight further gain since 1919.

"Some unknown influences are acting on the moon," he said, "and we are at a loss to say what they are. For years efforts have been made to find out and some day we may know. We suspect that it is not gravitation and that possibly some magnetic force may be at work, but that is all we can say."

REPORT WOODHOUSE IN RENO

Vermonter Said to Be Preparing to Sue Wife for Divorce.

Special to The New York Times.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 20.—The statement is made here that C. B. Woodhouse is in Reno, Nev., preparatory to suing for divorce his wife, Mrs. Dorrett Van Deusen Stevens Woodhouse, who has sued his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Woodhouse, for the alienation of his affections.

L. E. Woodhouse is reputed to be the wealthiest individual in Vermont. He inherited millions from his father, C. W. Woodhouse, the founder of the Merchants National Bank here, and more money from one uncle after whom he was named, Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, a partner of Marshall Field. It is said that he inherited $12,000,000 from his uncle.

It is alleged in Mrs. Woodhouse's complaint that the parents of her husband stopped his allowance and otherwise endeavor to cause dissension between them.

STATUE OF POE UNVEILED.

Sir Moses Ezekel's Work Is Presented to City of Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 20.—Sir Moses Ezekel s statue of Edgar Allan Poe was presented to the city at unveiling ceremonies this afternoon by the Edgar Allan Poe Memorial Association through its President, Mrs. Lawrence Turnbull. Mayor William F. Broening received the statue in behalf of the city.

The statue is of bronze on a marble base and is larger than life. It is said to be the last work of Sir Moses. It was completed in his studio at Rome in 1917, but on account of the war was not delivered here until last Spring.

W. E. REIMERS DIES IN AUTO.

Chicago Hotel Manager Crushed When Car Turns Turtle in Race.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—William E. Reimers, Manager of the Palmer House, was instantly killed shortly after midnight this morning when his automobile turned over in a ditch three miles west of Evanston.

Evanston police were told by motorists who witnessed the accident that the car driven by Reimer and another one were racing. Reimer's car was forced to the edge of the road, skidded and turned turtle.

Reimers was alone in his car. The steering wheel crushed his chest and his head also was crushed. Scores of passing motorists stopped, but were unable to lift the car from his body.

KENNEDY JONES DIES; JOURNALIST-POLITICIAN

He Led Lord Northcliffe Into Journalism, and Later Became Member of Parliament.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Kennedy Jones, Member of Parliament for Hornsey, died here today. K. J., as he was generally known among his associates, was better known in journalistic than in political circles.

It was Kennedy Jones who led the present Lord Northcliffe, then Alfred Harmsworth, into daily journalism. He was acting as editor of The Evening News at a period when that paper was in dire financial straits. He obtained an option on its purchase and went to Alfred Harmsworth with a scheme whereby The Evening News might be transformed from a moribund publication into a live agency for the distribution of news. Harmsworth, who was eager to get into daily journalism, fell in with K. J.'s proposals. The Evening News became a success and The Daily Mail followed.

K. J. was known in Fleet Street as "L. s Cardinal Gris" of Alfred Harmsworth. Exactly what part he played in building up Lord Northcliffe's fortunes is a matter of much disputation in London journalistic circles. Two years before the war he was compelled by indifferent health to relinquish his journalistic position and he went into politics. He made no great mark at Westminster, but did useful work during the war at the Ministry of Food and Ministry of Transport. He recently published a book entitled "Fleet Street and Downing Street," which contained an acute analysis of the power of the press and qualifications of politicians.

Joseph Clement Coll.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 20.—Joseph Clement Coll, pen and ink technician, died yesterday in the Presbyterian Hospital.

The artist was one of the last men to stick exclusively to pen and ink as an art medium. He illustrated stories by Sax Rohmer and A. Conan Doyle. He was a member of the Society of Illustrators in New York.

Mr. Coll was born in this city, and started as an artist on The New York American.

Obituary Notes.

H. Z. TIBBALS, a "Forty-niner," said to be the oldest inhabitant of Dutchess County, died yesterday at his home in Washington Hollow, aged 96.

Miss E. ANTOINETTE ELY, 61 years old, head of the English Department at the Ohio Mechanics Institute for the last five years, died yesterday at her home in Cincinnati.

FREDERICK W. MORRIS, for half a century a dealer in rare books in this city, died yesterday at his residence, 71 East Ninety-second Street, of cerebral hemorrhage after an illness of only forty-eight hours. He was 73 years old.

Mgr. John Synnott Dies Suddenly.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 20.—Monsigner John Bynott, President of St. Thomas Prepartory Seminary, Hartford, Conn., died suddenly at St. Charles College at Catonsville, a suburb today. He was 63 years old. Physicians said he probably died from heart disease.

With forty other priests who graduated from the seminary of St. Sulpice, at Paris, Mgr. Synnott came to Baltimore to attend a celebration in their honor by priests at St. Mary's Seminary and the Sulpician Seminary at Washington. He was found dead in his home shortly after his return from Washington.

STILLMAN TO FIGHT WIFE'S NEW MOVE

Counsel Will Oppose Application to Join James Stillman's Heirs as Defendants.

UPSETS SETTLEMENT PLAN

Rights of Guy Stillman in Trust Funds Left by Banker Involved In Argument.

The order to show cause why the executors and heirs of James Stillman should not be made codefendants in the suit of James A. Stillman to divorce his wife, Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman, and cast off Guy Stillman, will be argued today before Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser at White Plains. The application, made by the defense, will be contested by Mr. Stillman, according to Cornelius J. Sullivan of Nicoll, Anable, Fuller & Sullivan of 61 Broadway, the banker's counsel.

The advent of the attorneys in the Westchester Court House, marking the second open court airing of the suit, may precipitate a legal tilt as sensational as that of last May, when Delancey Nicoll Sr., opposing the amount of alimony sought by Mrs. Stillman, made a statement going directly into Mr. Stillman's charge that his wife's relations with Fred K. Beauvais, Indian guide co-respondent, had furnished the basis for the suit.

The order, which was marked returnable at 10 o'clock this morning, was obtained on Monday night from Supreme Court Justice Albert H. P. Seeger in the Newburgh Court House. The application for it was made by Francis R. Curran, an attorney who acted for Job E. Mack, Poughkeepsie lawyer, who is guardian ad litem for the child Guy. The application was characterized as an adroit legal movement which might mobilize pressure on Mr. Stillman to cause him to listen to settlement plans.

The statement, however, that his counsel would vigorously oppose the move, disposed of the last hope that the suit would pass from public attention via peace negotiations. Attorneys admitted last night that it seemed as if the contest would be fought bitterly through to a decision.

Mr. Mack's application, designed to safeguard the rights of Guy's inheritance in the $37,000,000 fortune disposed of in the will of James Stillman, seeks to multiply the defendants in the original action. By alleging that he fears that his ward's rights in the estate might be in jeopardy, even though the infant might be adjudicated legitimate by decision of Referee Daniel J. Gleason, Mr. Mack will endeavor today to bind the executors and beneficiaries of the Stillman will to abide by the referee's decision.

It was said that he would argue to Justice Morschauser that additional defendants should be named on the ground that they and Guy are both heirs or have rights in certain trust funds established by the will. Those named in the Mack order to show cause why they should not be joined in the suit are: Mrs. Percy A. Rockefeller and Mrs. William Rockefeller, sisters to Mr. Stillman; his brothers, Charles Chauncey Stillman and Dr. Ernest G. Stillman, and their co-executor, Charles Stillman, an uncle to James A. Stillman.

Also named are the Stillman children—Anne, now in Paris; James A. Stillman (Bud) and Alexander, all of whom are lined up on their mother's side and consequently will offer no contest to the motion today.

Just what will form the basis of the opposition from the Stillman brothers, sisters and executors could not be ascertained from their attorneys. It was said, however, that they might take the position that Mr. Mack's application was irrelevant and aside from the issues of the suit, and that any decision by the referee already was legal and binding as to Guy's participation in the Stillman funds.

Helen Lyons, 25 years of age, of 637 Seventy-fourth Street, Brooklyn, whose disappearance from home was reported to the Brooklyn police Wednesday, almost on the eve of her marriage to Frank M. Ite of Great Kills, S. I., was brought home last night by her father and mother, who refuse to say where they found her.

ATTACKS 1914 TEST OF LANGLEY PLANE

HE DENIES IT COULD FLY

CURTISS INSISTS IT FLEW

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Griffith Brewer added another chapter to the long controversy as to whether Professor Langley or the Wright Brothers were the first to invent the successful heavier-than-air flying machine in a lecture today before the Royal Aeronautical Society, in which he attacked Glenn H. Curtiss's experiments with the Langley flying machine in the Summer of 1914. He asserted that Curtiss modified the machine so materially as to destroy its identity and did not accomplish a true, free flight.

Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, who presided, said that copies of Brewer's lecture had been sent to Curtiss, to Dr. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and to Dr. Zahm, who was concerned in the experiments. Walcott and Curtiss are making replies, which will be published in the December number of the society's journal.

At the conclusion of the lecture Lieut. Col. Ogilvy, an aeronautical expert, spoke briefly, holding that Brewer had proved his point.

Handley Page, however, in an account of his acquaintance with all the parties to the controversy, declined to express an opinion. There was, he thought, a certain lapse between Langley's theoretical work and his actual attempts at flight. All his published calculations showed, he said, that he was working with a flat plane, while photographs showed his machine had curved planes. He congratulated Brewer on his historical research and remarked how curious it was that, in order to decide a dispute between two patentees, Langley's machine, a historical relic, should be taken from a museum for the purposes of experiment.

Brewer, replying, suggested that Langley's failure might be due to his founding his theory on the use of flat planes.

Gives Results of Investigation.

A copy of Griffith Brewer's address, received here in advance of its delivery in London yesterday, in part reads:

"The Smithsonian Institution has always attributed the failure of the Langley machine in 1903 to a failure in the launching apparatus, and it has hitherto been generally accepted that the machine was wrecked without having had a fair opportunity to prove whether it was capable of flight. It is easy, therefore, to understand that since the Wrights, who had been working on the same problem, succeeded where Langley had failed, Langley's friends eagerly welcomed the suggestion made ten years later that it might still be possible to prove that Langley's machine was capable of flight.

"If Langley's machine could be flown, one of the most dramatic events in the history of aviation would be accomplished! Langley and the Wrights had been working concurrently, hundreds of miles apart, for several years, and both had approached the final stage of their independent experiments at the same time. Langley tested his machine a few weeks before the Wrights were ready to test theirs, and the attempts to fly the Langley machine failed. The Wrights, one week after Langley's second attempt, tested theirs and succeeded. Was it merely a mishap which robbed Langley of the credit of being the first to fly, or did he fail because the machine he had built was not capable of flight?

"It is not surprising, therefore, that when Glenn Curtiss offered to fly the old Langley machine, Secretary Walcott, who had succeeded Professor Langley as Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, should have welcomed the opportunity to have Langley's machine tested."

"The Smithsonian report and the inscription on the Langley machine are misleading and untrue," says Mr. Brewer, "no attempt was made at Hammondsport to fly the original Langley machine. At Hammondsport fundamental aerodynamic alterations were made to the machine which were not mentioned in the report by Dr. Zahm to the Smithsonian Institution. This Hammondsport machine was then put through so-called flying tests, altered after almost every test, and the tests were reported as flights of the original Langley machine. The Smithsonian Institution was led to believe and falsely proclaim that Langley had succeeded, where in fact Langley knew that he had honorably failed."

"It is untrue to say that Langley's machine of 1903 ever has flown or ever could fly. In both trials in 1903 the wings collapsed through faults in design of the machine, and not from any failure in the launching mechanism.

"The machine used at Hammondsport in 1914 differed from the original Langley machine in many important respects.

"The wings were of different area, different camber and different aspect ratio.

"The system of wing trussing, which in the Langley machine had failed, was completely changed at Hammondsport.

"The large keel surface of the Langley machine was altogether omitted.

"The Langley system of launching was abandoned, and a system developed after his death was used in its place.

"The original Langley propellers were modified and afterward superseded by a modern propeller, based on knowledge not possessed by Langley.

Not the Original Machine.

"At first it was necessary to change the machine to carry the engine, and then it was necessary to change the engine to carry the machine. Finally there was neither the original Langley engine nor the original Langley machine.

"The remains of the Langley machine were at last returned to the Smithsonian Institution, and were instructed to Mr. Reed for restoration to the original form of 1903. Mr. Reed did his work well, for when I saw the rebuilt Langley in the National Museum last April, it was very much like Langely built it. The wings had their leading edges restored, thus bringing them back to their former camber and area; the wings were stayed to the old guy posts, which were set forward again to their original but ineffective positions; the Langley propellers were restored; the pilot's car was again under the forward part of the frame; the Curtiss control gear had been removed. In fact, the whole machine had lost all appearance of having been out on an indiscreet adventure."

In a section of the lecture dealing with technical features Mr. Brewer cites eighteen alleged changes in the construction of the machine before the Hammondsport trials. He lists these as follows:

"1. New wings were constructed at Hammondsport in which all of that portion in front of the forward spar of the Langley machine was entirely omitted, and thus the forward spar formed the leading edge of the Hammondsport wings. The camber of the Langley wings was 1 in 12, while that of the Hammondsport machine was about 1 in 18. The area of the Langley wings was 1,040 square feet; that of the Hammondsport wings about 990 square feet. The Hammondsport wings also had a slightly different aspect ratio from that of the Langley machine. These changes, as is well known to all aeronautic engineers, produce a wing of entirely different aerodynamic properties from the original Langley wing.

"2. In the original Langley machine the wings were stayed by wires to single guy posts, projecting above and below the central frame. The part of the post above the central frame was replaced by two very much larger posts, having about twice the height of the original guy posts and forming an inverted V over the central frame. The single guy post below the central frame in the Langley machine was replaced by four much heavier posts.

Guy Wire Positions Altered.

"3. The guy wires at Hammondsport were attached to the spars at different points than in the Langley machine, the advisability of which change was made apparent by the breaks in the spars in 1903. These changes can be seen in some of the original photographs, but are not so clear in the plates.

"4. This whole system of trussing, which replaced the guy posts used by Langley, was moved thirty inches further back, so as to be near the normal centre of pressure on the wings. I have already called attention to the seriousness of Langley's lack of knowledge in placing these guy posts so far forward.

"5. The middle spar of each wing was strengthened by an additional spar underneath the ribs and extending outward for about two-thirds of their length. These middle spars, not reinforced, had collapsed in the tests of the Langley machine in 1903.

"6. The wings were further strengthened by the under truss work, diagonally braced, rigidly supporting the wings to about a quarter of their length out from the central frame.

"7. The ribs of the Hammondsport machine were made heavier than the box construction of the Langley machine, and were stronger.

"8. Hydroplane floats, unknown in the day of Langley and developed between the years 1909 and 1914, were substituted for Langley's original method of launching.

Curtiss Steering Post Used.

"11. The Penaud tail in the Hammondsport machine, instead of being merely adjustable and clown by a self-locking hand-wheel, as arranged by Langley, was coupled to a regular Curtiss steering post in the Hammondsport machine, and was attached to an upstanding bracket, instead of to a depending bracket, as used by Langley, which gave it a position about twenty inches higher than in the Langley machine.

"14. The forward corners of the original Langley propellers were cut off after the manner of the early Wright propellers.

"15. The Penaud tail rudder on the Hammondsport machine was made turnable about a vertical axis, a movement not intended by Langley in the machine of 1903. This tail rudder was connected to a regular Curtiss steering wheel.

"16. The Langley engine, which in the Langley memorial tests had given 52.3 horsepower on the bench for ten hours, was now removed, and a Curtiss 80-100 horsepower motor was substituted and placed about 3½ feet further forward on the machine.

"17. The Langley modified twin propellers were removed, and a modern tractor propeller, designed with knowledge acquired since Langley's day, was mounted in front of the machine about 16 feet forward of the location of the Langley propellers.

"18. The pilot's car was now removed and the pilot's seat was placed about 14 feet further back and about 3 feet higher than the seat in the Langley machine."

The British expert says that he visited Hammondsport in 1914, two weeks after the last test, and adds:

"I was told that the machine did actually make short hops, due to its initial speed, and I have no reason to doubt that this was true. This, however, does not prove that the machine was capable of 'sustained free flight,' since it is well known that a machine incapable of sustained flight may make hops.

"It is interesting to note that on June 4, 1915, more than a year after the so-called flight of June 2, 1914, attempts were still being made to fly the Hammondsport machine."

Consider Wright's Claims Proved.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The London Times, commenting on the Griffith Brewer lecture, says: "His report is grave and convincing. We cannot doubt but that he has securely re-established the claim of the Wrights to be the true pioneers of airplane flight and has refuted the posthumous claim made for Langley. Nor can we doubt but that the Smithsonian Institution will lose no time in abandoning the position into which they have been misled."

The Daily Mail says that Brewer has established incontestably the fact that to the famous Wright brothers belongs the credit of inventing and flying the first airplane capable of sustained flight. It adds:

"The Wright brothers have been the victims of a determined attempt to deprive them of the glory which belongs to them."

CURTISS INSISTS PLANE FLEW.

He Says Brewer Arrived After Tests With Original Machine Were Over.

Glenn H. Curtiss, who is in Rochester, N. Y., made the following statement over the telephone last night on Griffith Brewer's charges:

"I sent over to London to be read at the society's meeting a statement supported by affidavits and data from the Smithsonian Institution, substantiating my claim that I flew the original Langley machine. I also included photographs of the machine in flight. Perhaps the documents did not reach there in time.

"I did fly the Langley in its original condition and it more than made good. The facts are these:

"The Smithsonian Institution sent the machine to me at Hammondsport to be tried out. Brewer, who had heard about my intention to fly it, if possible, took a train for Hammondsport, but he came long after I had had the machine in the air. He arrived to see it flown with a larger motor and with other changes. The original Langley was capable of flying and did fly.

"One of the affidavits I sent over was made by Charles Manley, who built and installed the original motor. I do not know why Brewer brings up all this unless it is a question of the bearing on patents. That's all I have to say."

Szechenyi Coming Here As Hungarian Ambassador

BUDAPEST, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—The appointment of Count Laszlo Széchényi as Hungarian Ambassador to the United States will be published within a few days, according to information given The Associated Press today.

Count Széchényi is well known in the United States. He married Gladys M. Vanderbilt of New York in 1908.

PARLEY NOT TO DEAL WITH IMMIGRATION

American and Japanese Governments Reach Agreement to Exclude It at Washington.

DELEGATION CONFERS TODAY

Economic Basis for Armament Limitation Is Expected to Be Considered.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—It was authoritatively stated today that the difficult subject of immigation would not be raised at the Washington conference on limitation of armament and Pacific problems. Immigration, it was explained, had nothing to do with the conference nor the conference with it, and both from the American and Japanese viewpoints it was regarded as a domestic question. The situation in this respect is well understood by both American and Japanese officials.

The only change or addition since the announcement of the agenda a month ago has been the inclusion, at the instance of the United States, of the subject of Pacific electrical communications. There is reason to believe that China has been the only country to recommend topics not embraced by the agenda, but their nature has not been disclosed. Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Portugal are understood to have accepted the agenda subject only to such innovations as the developments of the conference might suggest.

Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador, acting upon instructions from the Tokio Foreign Office, is understood to have presented to Secretary Hughes a memorandum accompanied by verbal observations, in which the American Government is notified that the Japanese Government agreed to the proposal of the agenda on the whole, stating at the same time Japan's views on it. The Japanese decision was reached after many conferences among high officials of the Foreign Office, a Cabinet conference, and a meeting of the diplomatic advisory council. At first, it is reported, opinion developed among some elements of the Japanese Cabinet that Japan should insist upon the exclusion from the conference of "fait accomplis" but it is intimated that the official Japanese memorandum implies Japan's willingness that even such topics may come before the conference.

The American delegates to the conference, Secretary Hughes, Senator Lodge and Underwood, and Elihu Root will meet at the State Department at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when there will take place a more complete discussion of the policy which the United States will follow in the conference than was possible at the previous meeting. It is expected that the list of the American advisory council to be composed of twelve or fifteen members, will be announced in a few days, possibly by President Harding tomorrow. The delay in making the list public is understood to be due to the fact that all the acceptances had not been received.

It is probable that the subject to be most comprehensively considered by the American delegation at tomorrow's meetings and others to follow is the project of limitation of armament which will have an economic rather than a political basis, and will relate to national incomes rather than to the exact number of ships.

HOLLAND TO SEND KARNEBEEK

Foreign Minister Will Head Washington Conference Delegates.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 20.—Queen Wilhelmina has appointed the Dutch delegates to the Far Eastern Conference in Washington. The are Foreign Minister van Karnebeek, Belaerts van Blokland, Secretary of the Foreign Office and ex-Minister to Peking, and Dr. Moresco, Secretary of the Colonial Ministry, a newly appointed Vice President of the Dutch Indies Council.

The delegates will sail on the steamship Rotterdam Tuesday. They will be accompanied by many secretaries, attachés and experts.

WANT PREMIER'S WIFE TO GO

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Daily Telegraph says pressure is being exerted to induce Mrs. Lloyd George to accompany her husband to Washington, one reason being that she could possibly relieve him, to some measure, of purely social engagements and another that among the large Welsh population in the United States there are many who would desire to see the Premier's wife, even should her husband's public engagements prevent them from seeing the Premier in person.

"The probability is that Mrs. Lloyd George will find herself unable to undertake the Atlantic trip.

CAMBRIDGE STUDENTS MOB WOMEN'S COLLEGES

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—There were riotous scenes caused by undergraduates in Cambridge tonight after the Senate of Cambridge University, thanks to a crowd of non-resident members who went up to record their votes, had definitely refused to adopt the progressive attitude of Oxford and had rejected the "grace" which would have conferred limited membership in the university upon women.

The Cambridge Senate rejected a similar proposal last December, and later a proposal for the incorporation of Girton and Newnham Colleges into a university for women was rejected. This was followed by the compromise scheme embodied in the "grace" that was rejected today.

Early in the day the undergraduates held a mock funeral procession of "the last man at Cambridge," whose body was placed on a hearse and dragged through the town by undergraduates disguised as women. At night they indulged in a rowdy celebration of the women's defeat, which culminated in a raid on Newnham College and the smashing of gates.

A large number of undergraduates assembled outside the Senate house to hear the result of the voting. They kept up an incessant cry of "we won't have women!" and some hissing of women who were looking on was indulged in.

The result of the voting was received with a great outburst of cheering. Then some one shouted "Newnham and Girton!" and the crowd rushed down the streets in the direction of the women's colleges.

At the old hall, Newnham, the mob seized a handcart belonging to the college and used it as a battering ram against the gates. The cart was heavily weighted and the gates soon were smashed, but the arrival of a strong force of police prevented the crowd from storming the college.

Driven away by the police, the undergraduates then proceeded to Pelle Hall, where they forced their way into the courtyard. Proctors arrived on the scene and apologized for the conduct of the men, but were unable to put an end to the trouble. The men, laughing and cheering, battered at the door and tried to force their way into the college. Then the police reached the spot and finally dispersed the demonstrators.

The destroyed gates, which cost £700, were erected in honor of the first woman principal of Newnham.

Allies Drop America as Associated Power In Communiques About Versailles Treaty

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—From today it appears that the formula which has become so well known, "the allied and associated powers," is to disappear from official communiqués dealing with administration of the Treaty of Versailles. By the Washington treaty with Berlin now ratified, an associated power has dropped from the great combination which won the war and made the Peace Treaty.

The first instance of this change occurred tonight when the Reparations Commission issued a communiqué in which particular mention is made of the interests of the allied Governments and none of those of the formerly associated power. Her interests are presumably protected by her treaty with Berlin.

The communiqué in question deals with the attitude of the Reparations Commission toward the Loucheur-Rathenau agreement by which Germany is to deliver to France within three years building material to the value of 7,000,000,000 gold marks. After some days' consideration the commission has decided that it "entirely approves the general principles underlying the agreement." At the same time, however, it takes care to point out that the agreement involves certain departures from the Treaty of Versailles and is therefore outside the province of the commission, which was appointed solely for the administration of the treaty as it exists. The commission, however, undertakes to refer the question to the various governments represented on the commission with a recommendation that favorable consideration be given to it.

It is in the last clause of this official document that the phrase occurs which marks the end of the official connection of the United States with the Allies. The commission recommends that in case the arrangements are successful reasonable facilities for deferred payment should be accorded to France "subject to any safeguards which the Allied Governments may regard as necessary to protect their respective interests."

Once before, at the end of the Wilson régime, "Associated Powers" was dropped from considerations and communiqués of this kind, but then it was at American request. Now it is the Allies who have dropped the United States from their association in all matters referring in the Treaty of Versailles.

ACT FOR 6,000,000 IN ARMS LIMIT BODY

NAME PERMANENT OFFICERS

Orgalzation Is to Be Known as the National Council for the Limitation of Armaments.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Twenty-one organizations were represented at a conference held today which resulted in the permanent organization of the National Council for the Limitation of Armaments. The organizations have 6,300,000 members.

The delegates held the preliminary session at 532 Seventeenth Street Northwest, which the Council was taking over as headquarters. The building was occupied immediately after the Civil War as headquarters by General Grant.

The organizations represented and the delegates present at the session were:

National League of Woman Voters, Miss Katherine Ludington, Miss Marion I. Parkhurst; National Education Association, Hugh S. Magill, Secretary; General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. William Daly Phelan, Chairman of the Committee on Federal Laws; National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. F. V. Watkins, Executive Secretary; Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Samuel McClintock; National Consumers' League, Mrs. Edward P. Costigan; National Women's Trade Union League, Ethel Smith, Secretary; National Milk Producers Association, Charles J. Holam, Acting Secretary; National Board of Farm Organizations, Charles A. Lyman, Secretary; National Women's Christian Temperance Union, Mrs. Ella A. Yost, Chairman; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Edwin S. Bettelheim Jr.; American Association of University Women, Miss Harlean James, President; Friends of Disarmament Council, Harold Evans and Vincent Nicholson; Fellowship of Reconciliation, Paul Jones; Women's International League, Mrs. George T. Odell, member of the Executive Committee; Women's Peace Union, Mrs. W. T. Burch, member Executive Committee; Council of Women for Home Missions, Mrs. Frank Goodchild; American Union Against Militarism, Belle Rankin, Secretary; Women's Committee for World Disarmament, Emma Wold, Chairman; Society for Elimination of Economic Cause of War, Louis F. Post; Foreign Policy Association, Christian Merriman, Executive Secretary.

The Federal Council of Churches, with a membership of 19,000,000, was represented informally by Dr. S. O. Walters.

Permanent officers of the council were chosen today. Their names were withheld pending notification and acceptance. Communications have been received from similar groups in England and Japan assuring co-operation.

One of the chief functions of the organization will be the consolidation of public sentiment for the limitation of armaments in England, France and the United States.

WOULD MAKE LANDIS GIVE UP ONE JOB

Third Attempt in Congress to Make Him Choose Between Bench and Baseball.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, just now at loggerheads with Babe Ruth, may be compelled to choose between being a Federal District Judge, at $7,500 a year, or the High Commissioner of organized baseball, at $42,000 a year.

The compulsory choice is the object of a bill to amend the Federal judicial code which Representative Warren I. Lee of Brooklyn said last night he would introduce within a few days. Mr. Lee said his measure would add to Section 258 of the code, prohibiting Judges from law practice, these words "nor shall it be lawful for him, while holding such office, to hold any other office or position, public or private, from which he shall receive a salary or stated compensation."

Two other efforts to attack Judge Landis for his dual office holding have failed. On Feb. 14 the Judge was impeached in the House by Representative Benjamin Welty of Ohio, but action was dropped two months later. A bill which Senator Dial of South Carolina introduced to amend the judicial code was refused consideration by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

FOCH EAGER TO SEE AMERICA IN PEACE

He Has Already Admired, He Says, Her Activities and Efforts in War.

FRANCE CAN NEVER FORGET

On the Eve of His Departure the Marshal Asks "What Country Is to Be Disarmed?"

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—On the eve of his departure for the United States, Marshal Foch gave the following exclusive statement to The Chicago Tribune:

"I am delighted to go to the United States and see America in her peace activities after having admired the effort made by that great transatlantic nation and appreciated the importance of the help she gave us on the battlefield during the days when she did so much to bring about victory for the Allies.

"America helped us enormously with men, materials and money. The effective participation of the United States certainly covered a relatively brief period in the struggle which free nations had to carry on against the empires which trampled on every kind of right. Nevertheless the American people may be justly proud on having in the decisive moment of the war enormously helped in bringing about victory for the Entente by unhesitatingly throwing themselves into the conflict and accomplishing an absolutely unparalleled effort.

"The young American army which came to our aid from such a distance may be also justifiably proud, for from the moment its first blow was struck it displayed military qualities of the highest class and admirable characteristics of youthful enthusiasm, courage and heroism.

"France has not forgotten, nor can it ever forget the generous help and prodigious effort made by the whole American nation, nor can we forget America's sacrifice of 75,000 of her children, who fell in the struggle, fighting side by side with our soldiers, to insure the victory of liberty and right."

Asked to express his opinion of disarmament the Marshal replied:

"Disarmament—what country is to be disarmed? As a matter of fact, what is the question of disarmament? Certainly it is infinitely to be desired that some sort of an agreement be reached on this question. Everybody favors the formula itself, but disarmament is a principle of practical realization which must be clearly defined."

PARIS, Oct. 20.—The official list of those who will accompany Marshal Foch as French representatives at the American Legion Convention in Kansas City was made public today. It includes General Desticker, Major de Mierry, Captain L'Hopital, Lieutenant de Soubeyran, Dr. André, Professor of the Faculty of Medicine at Nancy and a reserve army doctor, and Count Charles de Chambrun. The mission will sail for America on Saturday.

WEEKS ORDERS SALE OF MANY OLD FORTS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Administration economy plans call for the sale of all Government-owned real estate under control of the War Department for which Secretary Weeks decides there is no present or prospective need for military purposes. This property will be sold to the highest bidder, subject to the necessary authority being obtained from Congress whenever this action is required by existing laws.

The property to be sold includes not fewer than thirty-nine old forts of the United States, including Fort McHenry, in Baltimore Harbor, which is associated with the writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner." The City of Baltimore has desired for some years to use this property for park purposes. In disposing of Fort McHenry, however, the War Department will see that appropriate provision is made for the plot of ground reserved for the erection of the national monument to Francis Scott Key, author of the national anthem.

Only two parcels in the State of New York are listed in the realty to be sold. These are the Ilion rifle plant, at Ilion, and Fort Tyler, on Long Island Sound.

CITY MAKES READY FOR BEATTY TODAY

GUEST OF MARSHALL FIELD

New York is preparing to give a rousing welcome this morning to Earl Beatty of the North Sea and of Brooksby, who commanded the battle cruiser squadron in the battle of Jutland, in which he turned the German fleet, and who succeeded Admiral Jellicoe as Admiral of the Grand Fleet after that much-discussed engagement.

Lord Beatty will arrive this morning on the Aquitania and after a reception by representatives of the Federal, State and City Governments and the military and naval arms of the service will drive up Broadway to the City Hall, where he will be welcomed by the Mayor. He will then go to the home of Marshall Field at 690 Park Avenue, where he will stay while in this city. Lady Beatty was Ethel Field, the daughter of the Chicago merchant.

Americans are well acquainted with his photographs, which generally show him with his hat cocked over his right eye. When the war began he was commanding the First Battle Cruiser Squadron, that small group of fast and powerful ships which first came in contact with the German fleet when it emerged for the battle of Jutland Bank. Beatty rushed them, although the main body of the Grand Fleet was far behind him, and attempted to cut them off, but he was not followed up and the Germans escaped.

Lord Beatty is coming to this country as the guest of the American Legion and will speak at their convention in Kansas City. He will be met down the bay by a committee including Admiral Hugh Rodman, Captain Bailey, the British Naval Attaché at Washington, and Paymaster Captain Sparkenelle. Lord and Lady Beatty and their children will board the Vigilant, which will take them to the Battery, where they will be met by Governor Miller and Mayor Hylan, Maj. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, a committee of the American Legion, and a guard of honor of soldiers and marines.

He will be greeted with a salute of nineteen guns from the battery at Governors Island, and the Vigilant will be escorted by destroyers. There will be 2,300 patrolmen along the line of march from the Battery to the City Hall and up Park Avenue to the Marshall Field home.

Lord Beatty's one public appearance in New York will be on Oct. 27, when he will be the guest of honor of the Pilgrim Society at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. He expects to leave for Chicago on Oct. 28, and will leave for Kansas City on Oct. 31 to speak there before the American Legion convention.

PRINCESS IS AMONG AQUITANIA NOTABLES

Ex-Premier Venizelos of Greece, and the Former Premier of New Zealand Also Aboard.

The Cunard liner Aquitania with a host of prominent passengers and 6,639 sacks of bail on board, will reach Quarantine early this morning, and come to her pier about noon.

In a speech Wednesday night at the concert aboard, Sir Joseph Ward, former Premier of New Zealand, said:

"At the coming disarmament conference, for the first time in history, a serious attempt will be made to abolish war. The world does not realize the immense significance of the possibilities which might be achieved. Small nations are looking with anxiety and trusting that Anglo-American unity will raise the world from its present state of chaos and save civilization."

The Princess Henriette Sava-Golu of Bucharest, friend of Queen Marie of Rumania, who precedes the Queen to America, will arrive on the Aquitania. The Princess is 25 years old and unmarried. She is one of the few European Princesses that have embarked on "careers." Under the pen name of Adrio Val, she is the author of poems and novels.

Among others on board are former Premier Venizelos of Greece, Miss Mary Gardner, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Sir John and Lady Ward, Lady Joan Capell, Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane, Miss Phyllis Schuyler Doane, Mme. M. Grouitch, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Guggenheim, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Huntington, Mrs. J. Lewisohn, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McCurdy, Stanley Mortimer, Stanley Mortimer Jr., Leslie Pantin, Portuguese Consul General at Havana; Mrs. A. Saks, J. C. Walker, Y. Watanabe, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Weil and Miss Joan Whitney.

On her eastward voyage the Aquitania made the fastest time of any transatlantic liner since the beginning of the war, reaching Cherbourg in five days and seventeen hours out from New York.

HOTEL THIEF SUSPECT SHOT BY DETECTIVE

Victim Puts Up Stiff Battle, but Finally Lands as Prisoner in Hospital.

Joseph Smith, chief house detective at the Waldorf-Astoria, captured a man he accused of being a sneak thief, after shooting him early yesterday on the fire escape on the Astor Court side of the hotel. Smith has been watching the fire escape every night for five weeks in the belief that a thief who had robbed a room on the fourth floor would return. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning he saw a man approach from the shadows of Thirty-third Street, climb up the façade to the bottom of the fire escape and start to ascend the ladder.

When the man reached the fourth floor, Smith poked his head out of a window, thrust his automatic toward the intruder and ordered him to put up his hands. The man pointed something that shone like the barrel of a revolver at Smith and threatened to "blow his head off." Smith fired at the man's hand, but the bullet drilled a hole in his chest. The wounded man skipped down the fire escape nimbly, but William Demarest, another house detective, was waiting for him. He fought "like a tiger," Smith said. The suspect was taken to the West 30 Street Station and then to Bellevue Hospital, where he was held a prisoner on the charge of suspicion of burglary. The "weapon" with which he had threatened Smith turned out to be a flashlight. The prisoner said he was Peter Hernando, 18 years old, a Montenegrin waiter, with no home.

Two "armed" men held up Harry Sobel, night clerk of the Hotel Paris at 480 Seventh Avenue, near Thirty-sixth Street, and three men and three women who were in the lobby early yesterday morning. They took $60 and two watches from a safe behind the desk and were searching the guests, whom they had lined up against the wall, when Sobel saw a policeman passing the door and called for help. The robbers fled.

Ten men who the police say were indulging in a game of chance in the home of Max Cohen, at 904 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, were robbed by three armed masked men of several thousand dollars in money and jewelry. Murray Wolfe, a salesman, of 1,223 Bushwick Avenue, told the police the robbers got from him $320 in cash and jewelry valued at $800. The robbers escaped.

VOTE FOR CHANGE 36 TO 30

Means Elimination Later of Provisions Exempting Incomes Gained in Foreign Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—After an all-day debate on the proposed foreign trade tax exemption clauses in the pending Tax bill, the Senate voted late this afternoon, 36 to 30, to strike from the bill Sections 4 and 5 of Part 1 of the income tax chapter. These sections define the terms "foreign trader" and "foreign trade corporation."

The motion to strike out was made by Senator La Follette. The adoption of the motion paves the way for the elimination of the exemption clauses when those clauses are reached, which probably will be tomorrow or Saturday.

Eleven Republicans joined with the Democrats in support of the La Follette motion, ten being from the West and one, Mr. Moses, from the East. The Republican members of the Finance Committee voted as a unit against the motion, the adoption of which was a defeat for the committee.

The Republican Senators who voted against the committee were, in addition to Senator Moses, Senators Borah, Capper, Cummins, Harreld, Kenyon, La Follette, Lenroot, Nelson, Townsend and Willis.

Elimination of the foreign trade defining clauses was the only progress made today toward a final vote on the bill, although Senator Penrose again reiterated that he expected a vote before the end of next week, and to have the bill ready for the President's signature by Nov. 1. There are Senators on each side of the chamber who believe his prophecy will not be realized.

Senator McCumber again defined the proposed foreign trade exemptions, while Senators Simmons, La Follette, Hitchcock and Jones of New Mexico opposed it.

Senator Hitchcock argued that the adoption of this new policy would cause corporations to leave the country in order to escape taxes, and that in the end the only result would be to increase the taxes on those concerns that continued to do business in the United States. He denounced the proposal as nothing more than offering a "premium" to American business engaged in foreign trade to do business in some country other than the United States.

Senator Edge of New Jersey spoke in support of the Smoot bill and the sales tax provision in that measure.

"I am convinced," said Senator Edge, "that the policy of the sales tax is more logical than any other form of taxation. It is a tax on expenditures and not upon production or thrift. In the final analysis, it would be a more acceptable tax because it is voluntary. No one has to pay it unless they want to by purchasing. The excise taxes on tobacco and liquor were comparatively never so objectionable, because they were unnoticeable as paid over to voluntary purchasers. My objection to special excise taxes is mainly because I do not believe in discrimination. A general sales tax will treat everybody alike.

"I am firmly convinced that it is a false economic conclusion to contend that the country would be more prosperous if in raising the revenue necessary to administer the affairs of the Government business should be taxed still further. I know not upon what ground this is founded. I am firmly convinced, however, that it is not a sound one.

"I attended a dinner of manufacturers in New York a few nights ago and discussed the so-called sales tax plan. From the enthusiasm with which they received the explanation it was plainly apparent to me that they more than approved of this system, and yet the tax is added to the sale price of their own products.

POLICE SAVE YOUTH FROM ANGRY CROWD

An Irish mass meeting at Columbus Circle was getting on famously with impassioned oratory about 10 o'clock last night when somebody on the outskirts of the crowd of about 500 persons made a slurring remark. The meeting and the oratory ceased. A young man who later was identified as Arthur Gerstner, 22 years old, a clerk, of 310 West Forty-second Street, was accused as the maker of the slur, and was attacked with blows and kicks from all sides. He fought his way to the street and hopped on to the running board of an empty taxicab going north on Broadway, and yelled to the driver to "step on the gas."

The 500 Irishmen, yelling "Stop him!" "Kill him!" and similar cries, ran after the taxi and overtook the cab at Sixty-third Street and Broadway, where Patrolman Herbert Meyer was standing. Gerstner jumped out, crying "Help! They're trying to kill me!" Meyer drew his pistol and fought his way to the wall with Gerstner, blew his whistle, which brought three other policemen to the rescue, and Gerstner was taken to the West Sixty-eighth Street tSation. With him went Frederick Murray, 39 years old, a chauffeur of 408 West Thirty-ninth Street, who said he was born in Ireland. The police said Murray was the most violent of the mob.

Magistrate Frothingham in Night Court discharged both prisoners.

AUTO KILLS A CHILD.

Motor Truck Wrecks Fire Engine and Driver Is Arrested.

Struck by a motor truck while playing in the street at Third Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street yesterday afternoon, Albert Anendolare, 6 years old, of 203 East Thirty-seventh Street, was instantly killed. Nathan Margolies of 248 East Eleventh Street, driver of the truck, was arrested on the technical charge of homicide.

Another accident yesterday was caused by an unnecessary alarm of fire following the explosion of a gas meter at 428 East 157th Street. Engine 71 responded. The fire engine sped along 159th Street just as a New York Telephone Company truck, proceeding along Melrose Avenue, reached that street. Instead of giving the fire engine the right of way, the truck kept on and was struck in the middle. John Stenicka, 20 years old, of 300 East 173d Street, driver of the truck, was hurled to the street and was taken to Lincoln Hospital. He was put under arrest on the charge of failing to give the fire engine the right of way.

MUSIC

By Richard Aldrich.

The New York Symphony Orchestra.

The New York Symphony Society began its season yesterday afternoon with the first of its Carnegie Hall concerts. The audience, which was large, manifested its pleasure in hearing again the orchestra and in seeing Mr. Damrosch, for whom there was a warm greeting, at his first appearance on the platform. The program comprised a new piece by Roger-Ducasse, called "Marche Française," heard for the first time in this country; Tschaikovsky's violin concerto, played by Paul Kochanski, and Rachmaninoff's second symphony in E minor.

Roger-Ducasse, one of the contemporary French composers, but not one of the youngest and by no means one of the most radical, has written his "Marche Française" under the impulse of the war. Its title belies it, in so far as the piece is not a march, but a symphonic poem; the program notes give the information that it is dedicated to Georges Clemenceau and Marshal Foch, and that it bears three sub-titles, "French March, Calm of Peace, Call to Arms," descriptions which the music itself presents no difficulty whatever in following; a suggestion of red-trousered regiments in the Champs Elysées—red before hostilities actually began; of nature in a benignant mood, man's apprehensions being forgotten; then a startling call to arms with a phrase from the "Marseillaise" and all the orchestral manifestations of war.

The war has not so far, apparently, fared very well in music. Vincent d'Indy did himself no particular credit in his symphony "De Bello Gallico"; Roger Ducasse does himself even less in this piece. There is as small expenditure upon it of musical ideas as well might be. The composer says very little. He has not, to be sure, availed himself heavily of accepted martial formulas; but that, after all, is not very significant if his own expression of warlike deeds and emotions are as musically empty. "Battle pieces" do not inspire, and never have. If the war is going to have an effect upon music it will be in some less obvious and tangible way than by fighting it over again in the orchestra. Mr. Damrosch put abundant spirit into the performance of the "Marche Francaise," but it made apparently no deep impression on the listeners.

Mr. Rachmaninoff's second symphony has been frequently played in recent years, especially since the composer has been living in New York. It has much that gives pleasure, especially the full lusciousness of its orchestration and the allurement of some of its characteristic themes. It has its prolixities that after a time seriously interfere with the enjoyment of the work; and it has vagueness, and in the treatment of the thematic material, a defective manner of development that seems to give the music at times a certain irresolution of outline. This effect is enhanced by the frequent lack of a vigorous and firmly moving bass. But the themes themselves and the warmth and color of the orchestration make an appeal that is not easily resisted.

M. Kochanski has strengthened the esteem which he gained last season from his public. He played Tschaikovsky's concerto with brilliancy and fire, with a tone of singular richness, fullness and searching quality, with something more than a virtuoso's concern with the difficulties and extravagances of the music. It was such a performance as prompted the desire to hear him in music of another and better sort.

Eva Gauthier in Modern Songs.

Miss Eva Gauthier is one of those who stand upon the watch towers noting the rise of the newest things in music. She gave in the Town Hall a song recital last evening whose program she made, courageously, entirely of "new compositions by the moderns." It was courageous on account of the demands the songs made upon the singer as well as on the listeners; yet her listeners were numerous and showed interest in the latest styles in songs.

Much might be said of the different "schools" of modern composers represented and of the various methods they pursue. There were the Englishmen Ireland, Goossens, Bax and Frank Bridge, whose settings of folk songs are charming and singularly appropriate in the model suggestions of the accompaniments otherwise pointedly modern, and whose variations—in the accompaniment solely—on a French nonsense song are amusing. The six who are now demanding attention as the latest development in Paris—Louis Durey, Georges Auric, Arthur Honegger, Francis Poulenc, Germaine Tailliefer and Darius Milhaud—were exhibited in songs that need not have made the bourgeois uneasy till Milhaud's "La Limousine" and "Chant de Forgeron" were reached—both harsh and discordant settings that must have given the singer a task in holding the vocal line, such as it was, against the assault and battery of the accompaniment. A group of American songs by Engel, Wintter Watts and Crist furnished less difficult problems, and Mr. Watts's really charming "Wings of Night" was repeated.

There was a special interest anticipated in Marietta's "Song to the Lute," from Erich Korngold's opera "Die Tote Stadt," to be heard this season at the Metropolitan; but in it the young composer, who was thought to have begun as a boy, in his Op. 1, where Strauss left off, roared as gently as a sucking dove. If satisfaction was lacking here, it must have been abundantly furnished by the doughtier champions of the new German school, Arnold Schoenberg and Franz Schreker, who make no concessions and no retreats; the former of whom produced a couple of songs of a dull ugliness wholly lacking in any vocal quality that completely met all the demands of his reputation. Schrekers' "Sie Sind So Schon," on the other hand was not without charm and musical expressiveness.

Another British act closed the program, including two ineffable productions by Lord Berners, which seemed to disclose the "trenchant sarcasms, mordant and sometimes cynical humor" attributed to him by a note on the program; and two really impressive settings by Gustav Holst of hymns from the "Rig Veda."

Several of the songs were encored; not apparently always for their musical significance so much as for some other striking feature, such as the mention of a Rolls-Royce motor in one of Milland's songs and the smart impudence of Lord Berners's French song. Mr. Leroy Shield played the accompaniments, some of them of uncharted difficulty, with skill; and was also given a chance with a piano solo in Tailleferr's "Pastorale."

Alexander Akimoff Sings.

Alexander Akimoff, a singer of the Petrograd Opera, of youthfully virile and musical bass voice, made a "first American appearance" aside from opera auditions last evening in Carnegie Hall. He showed his mettle in Verdi's airs from "Simon Boccanegra" and "Don Carlos," as well as that of Sarastro from Mozart's "Magic Flute," credited in the house bill to Handel. Dvorak's "Biblical Song," the Hebrew Psalm 23, was re-demanded, as were some of the later Russian pieces. Among these Boris Levenson accompanied his own, "Have Pity," while Jacques Wolfe played the rest. Mr. Akimoff gave added proof of versatility in Grieg's lyric, "Eros" and of English enunciation in H. T. Burleigh's "Deep River."

Guy Maier and Lee Pattison Play.

Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, who give to rare music for two pianos often velvet depths of interwoven and brocaded harmonies, played to a large matinee audience yesterday at Aeolian Hall. In Bach's double concerto in C minor, an interesting curiosity, they had the help of a string quartet including the Misses Durrell, Symonds, Golden and Ridley. From this and Harold Bauer's arrangement of Bach's A-minor fugue, they ranged to the modern Ravel "Mew Mell" of a lost Atlantis, Tailleferr's "Open-Air Games," Hutcheson's Rakoczy and rhythms as various as Rachmaninoff's "Valse," op. 10, and "A Jazz Study" by E. B. Hill.

EQUITY ACTORS TO REMAIN.

Four Principals in Cast of Cohan's "The O'Brien Girl" Continue.

The four Equity principals in George M. Cohan's production of "The O'Brien Girl"—Andrew Tombes, Georgia Caine, Ada Mae Weeks and Elizabeth Hines—must continue to appear in that piece, according to a decision just handed down by an arbitration committee of which Augustus Thomas was the head.

When the Actors' Equity Association decided to enforce the Equity Shop against Mr. Cohan, at the time that "The O'Brien Girl" was playing in Boston a few months ago, it was originally planned to call all the Equity players from the cast. The four principals mentioned, however, had signed contracts for the season of 1921-'22, and their cases were accordingly left to arbitration.

They are the sole Equity members of the cast, as even the chorus was replaced by non-Equity members.

Emil Telmanyi, Violinist, Welcomed

Emil Telmanyi, short and sturdy, a vital and tempestuous player of the violin, earned a warm welcome at his début in Aeolian Hall last night. He is one of those who singularly and spontaneously vivify and embody their music, ranging in this instance from the Spanish rhythms of Lalo's miscalled "Symphonie" to the very Hungarian dances that Telmanyi's countryman, the late Eduard Remenyi, first brought to the attention of Brahms. The newcomer was assisted in these by Sandor Vas, pianist, as also in a "duet" of Schubert's on an air from the "Muellerlieder," an adagio by Kodaly and the Tartini variations on a theme of Corelli, rescored by Kreisler.

'Welcome Stranger' Liked in London

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Brown Elected Lambs' Shepherd.

The annual election of the Lambs, held last night, resulted in the election of A. O. Brown to succeed R. H. Burnside as Shepherd. Mr. Brown has been for ten years manager of the Playhouse. Other officers elected were: Fritz Williams, Boy; Charles A. Stevenson, Corresponding Secretary; Edwin Milton Royle, Recording Secretary; Henry Smith, Treasurer, and J. Clarence Hyde, Librarian. The regular ticket was unopposed.

The following were elected to serve three years as directors: A. M. Briggs, Frank Case, Joseph R. Grismer, George Howell and Harry N. Allen. Edmund Breese was elected to serve two years and Harry S. Talmadge, Purnell Pratt and Will Deming to serve one year each.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Charles Cherry will be Grace George's leading man in "A Royal Scandal," to be produced next month.

"Her Salary Man," by Forrest S. Rutherford, has been placed in rehearsal by John Cort. Ruth Shepley and A. H. Van Buren have the leading roles.

Irene Castle is about to return to vaudeville. She will be seen at the Palace during the week of Nov. 21.

Lydia Lipkowska of "The Merry Widow" will be released from that role for a single night in December to sing the title role of "The Snow Maiden," with the Chicago Opera Company.

"The Mad Dog," which the Shuberts are producing with Conway Tearle in the leading role, will open in Stamford a week from tonight. George Scarborough is the author.

The Visitation Alumnae of New York have bought out the Playhouse for next Monday night's performance of "Wait Till We're Married."

The feature of the Commonwealth Centre's second program of music and motion pictures at Town Hall will be "The Little Diplomat," a French photo-comedy, directed by Luitz Morat. It will be shown this afternoon and tomorrow evening.

FOR ANTI-LYNCHING BILL.

House Committee Endorses Measure Providing Life Imprisonment for Mobs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Dyer anti-lynching bill, imposing heavy penalties on persons involved in mob action resulting in the taking of life, was ordered favorably reported today by the House Judiciary Committee.

The measure provides that any member of a mob which puts some one to death shall be imprisoned for life, or for not less than five years, and that State and municipal officials who, through neglect of duty, fail to prevent lynching, shall be imprisoned not more than five years or fined not more than $5,000. Federal district courts would have jurisdiction.

Any county in which a person is lynched, under the measure, would be required to forfeit $10,000, which would go to the family of the victim. The bill defines "a mob or riotous assemblage" as an "assembly composed of five or more persons acting in concert for the purpose of depriving any person of his life without authority of law."

Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri, author of the bill, said he would try to bring it to a vote in the House at an early date.

Nelson Illingworth Reappears.

Nelson Illingworth, whose delivery of song-texts, amounting to a keenly felt dissection of the emotions portrayed, aroused interest last season, reappeared yesterday afternoon at the Town Hall. The Australian artist lacks voice for the lyric beauty of Schubert's "Swan Songs" and others, of which the ghostly "Doppelgaenger," however, gave more scope to his method as actor. There were also an "Erlking," not of Schubert, but Loewe; the old Scotch "Tom Rhymer" and "Edward," Strauss's "Stonebreaker," Sinding's "A Wife," Moussorgsky's "Song of the Flea," and Schumann's "Two Grenadiers."

DOES NOT BEGIN TO SUGGEST WHAT YOU WILL SEE
No word or combination of words can describe the breath-stopping, blood-chilling climax that comes at the end of this mystic romance—
When the maddened waters of the swollen river crash through the bursted walls of the dam and carry millions of logs before it—and in the mad maelstrom of destruction you see the frail girl and giant men fighting—you will SEE WHAT NO MOTION PICTURE PRODUCER, DIRECTOR OR PLAYER EVER HOPED TO SEE PHOTOGRAPHED.
WHEN YOU HAVE SEEN THIS SOUL-GRIPPING CLIMAX YOU WILL UNDERSTAND WHY THE EYES OF THE CAMERAS POPPED.

"I don't know much about your balcony, Juliet,
But your cellar is a knockout," says WILL ROGERS in Doubling for Romeo
By Will Rogers, Elmer Rice and Will Shakespeare
(One of these boys was famous)
2nd Capitol Anniversary Week
National Goldwyn Week
For this particular week, the Capitol has extended itself to make a presentation that will be talked about for months. In addition to the feature, there will be a special production of the famous SCHEHEREZADE BALLET by a cast of forty. For the first time this exquisite pantomime will be presented in a motion picture theatre at popular prices. CAPITOL THEATRE—BROADWAY AT 51ST ST. Beginning Sunday.

DIRECTS SHIP BOARD TO REPORT DEBTS

Senate Adopts Resolution Calling for Statement Regarding Unpaid Claims.

POINDEXTER CHARGES FRAUD

Frelinghuysen Assails Old Board—Underwood Speaks of Sinister Movement Against Merchant Marine.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A resolution directing the Shipping Board to report the number of debts owed by the board to its subsidiary agencies, the amount of money the board now has at its disposal for the payment of these debts; the number and amount of unpaid claims outstanding against the board and how many of these claims have been investigated, and other information of a like nature, was adopted unanimously today by the Senate.

Charges of the gravest nature were directed against the old Shipping Board, Senator Frelinghuysen alleging that the books kept were worthless and that no statement of operations was made, while Senator Poindexter, the author of the resolution, asserted that "there has been the rankest kind of fraud perpetrated upon the American people in some of the matters which involve the Shipping Board."

Senator Poindexter said he recently went to the Shipping Board and sought from Chairman Lasker information relating to claims of citizens of the State of Washington against the board. The information was not given, he stated.

"I asked Chairman Lasker," Senator Poindexter continued, "what he was going to do about these debts, and he told me over the telephone that they were not his debts, and that he was not going to do anything about them. It is high time a full accounting was rendered the country."

Senator Frelinghuysen, defending the present board, said that it would be difficult for Mr. Lasker and his associates to supply the information desired because the former board practically kept no books. The present board, he said, was making every effort to straighten out the tangle in bookkeeping inherited from the old board.

"The books that were kept," said Senator Frelinghuysen, "were worthless, and this is evidenced by the fact that no statement has ever been made of the operations of the Shipping Board, and, furthermore, information that has never been challenged is that charges for cargoes have never been reported. The Shipping Board now in charge had practically to begin all over in an effort to get this information and they are still at work to that end."

Senator Underwood suggested that hearings be had before the Committee on Commerce and that the whole shipping problem be investigated from start to finish.

"For more than 100 years," Senator Underwood said, "there has been a sinister movement in this country to keep American ships off the seas. Since the war ended there have been all kinds of rumors and statements, in the newspapers and out, with reference to this agency of the Government that was created and built up in the emergency of war.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Irregular Advance on Stock Exchange—Sterling Rises to Season's Highest Rate.

Although railway shares advanced again on the Stock Exchange yesterday, with gains in a number of industrial shares also, the character of the market showed that the "strike negotiations" were losing interest since the result had been so universally taken for granted. The somewhat slower pace of recovery in the railway stocks may have indicated hesitation while the scope and conditions of the freight rate reduction are determined; but no sign of uneasiness was in evidence and the intrusion of various organizations with advice that the Transportation act be repealed caused little serious discussion. The Governor of Wisconsin's recommendations to the "Middle Western Governors" at Des Moines could not have been taken seriously by any one. A statesman who objects to the railroad law because it "guarantees a fixed return on the inflated value" of "greatly inflated railroad stocks" will be told by somebody to read the law, which he had obviously neglected to do.

The incidents of the day which attracted attention were outside the railway question. A 4-cent advance in sterling exchange carried the rate to the highest of the season, less than 5 cents below the $4 rate of May 19. The persistence of this rise in exchange on London is an important and reassuring incident. That the movement should occur on such a scale at the height of our staple export season, in the face of a London money market considerably lower than our own, and on the eve of redemption of the last of the $150,000,000 United Kingdom loan of 1916, is pretty sure proof of its underlying soundness. Other European rates advanced with sterling. German marks rose from 65½ one-hundredths of a cent to 69½ one-hundredths.

Next to the rise in sterling the weekly Federal Reserve reports attracted attention. The whole system's reserve ratio increased from 68½ per cent. to 70 1-3, the highest of the year and the highest since the early Autumn of 1917. Rediscounts decreased heavily during the week; outstanding reserve notes fell $35,400,000, to the lowest total since the armistice. Meantime the week's increase of $43,800,000 in the system's gold reserve, to much the highest recorded total, showed that the previous week's decrease must have been due to accidental causes.

From the Bank of France statement it appears that the French paper currency has been reduced 204,800,000 francs in the past week; this notwithstanding fresh advances of credit to the Government. While the outstanding sum total is still above the August minimum, it is less by 2,200,000,000 francs than at the high level of Nov. 3, 1920, almost exactly a year ago. This persistence in the beginning of deflation is as significant a movement in French economic history of the period as is the country's merchandise export surplus of 480,000,000 francs in the first eight months of the present year, against a 16,000,000,000 import surplus in the same months of 1920.

In the case both of the currency deflation and the reversed trade balance, it has been declared repeatedly since the beginning of 1921 that the movements were temporary, accidental, impossible of continuance. Nevertheless, they have continued. People who read history are aware that what is happening now is precisely what happened with France after 1871 and, in a less degree, after the fall of Napoleon. Nations, after all, have as much character of their own in matters of this sort as individuals.

MONEY.

THURSDAY, OCT. 20, 1921.

Call loans on the Stock Exchange ruled quotably unchanged from the preceding day, opening and renewing at 4½ per cent., with a later drop to 4. Liberal offerings sent the rate off after first rate was posted. Off the Exchange loans again were arranged at 3½ per cent. There is a very light demand for fixed period funds, the offerings continuing at 5½ per cent. for both classes, with the bid at 5¼. Renewals are being arranged at the maximum figure. Commercial paper is discounting unchanged at 5¾@6 per cent. for bulk of names, with a few exceptional sales at 5½. Bankers' acceptances ruled quiet but firm.

Steel Institute Dinner Nov. 18.

The semiannual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute which was to have been held at the Hotel Commodore on Friday, Oct. 28, has been postponed until Nov. 18, because Marshal Foch of France, the guest of honor at the gathering, will not reach this country in time to attend on the date first set.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Market Strong, Rates Up, Sterling in Particular—British Premier's Speech Factor.

The European exchanges were all strong and higher yesterday, exceptional strength being noted in sterling and German marks. London sent over higher quotations before opening here, presumably as a result of the speech of the British Premier in the House of Commons on Wednesday evening. Much stress was laid in Wall Street upon that part of the speech which dwelt on the need of righting the exchanges as an aid in the settlement of the trade depression, and bankers here believe that the recent advance in sterling has been due in large measure to British Government buying.

Sight checks on London started at $3.93, up 1⅜ cents overnight, sold up to $3.95⅝ and closed at $3.94⅜. German marks started at 65¼, one-hundredths of a cent, advanced to 69½, with a final of 68, compared with 65½ previous closing. French, Italian and Holland all started at or above Wednesday's finals, and advancing to higher levels maintained that improvement at the end. Of the Far Easterns, the Chinese rates were fractionally higher, evidently in keeping with the rise in price of silver. The mid-Europeans and South Americans were quiet and about net unchanged.

DECREASE IN IDLE CARS.

Reduction of 29,450 in a Week Caused by Improvement in Traffic.

Idle freight cars on Oct. 8 numbered 345,920, a reduction of 29,450 as compared with the Oct. 1 figure. Of this number, 202,950 were in need of repairs, while the remaining 142,970 were in good order and could be placed in service at once if traffic conditions demanded. On Oct. 1, the report shows, there were 172,420 surplus freight cars in good order.

Surplus box cars immediately available for use numbered 31,020 on Oct. 8, a reduction of 11,073 within a week, while surplus coal cars in good order totaled 82,535, a reduction of 15,513 within the same period. An increase in the current demand for freight cars which could not be immediately filled was shown, a shortage of 5,237 having been reported on Oct. 8 as compared with 3,627 on the first of the month. This shortage was made up of 3,521 box cars and 418 coal cars.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

No Halt to Upward Movement.

As a result of the reported disagreement among railroad labor leaders regarding the strike situation, yesterday's stock market continued the upward movement in prices. Both railroads and industrials moved higher, but the larger gains were confined to some of the so-called specialties. Those issues which attracted attention because of their gains included American Ice common and preferred, Burns Brothers, Haskell & Barker, May Department Stores, and numerous of the inactive issues.

The Oil Stocks.

Oil shares were again conspicuous in yesterday's market, and the domestic oils scored larger gains than did the Mexican issues. Part of the upward movement was explained by the further advances in the prices of both crude and refined oils; also to rumors of buying in certain issues by Standard interests. Ever since it became generally known that Standard Oil was reaching out for production, numerous rumors have been circulated that they were buying into this or that company. The Standard of California already owns a large block of Pacific Oil, but the recent advance in that stock has been attributed to the report that these holdings were being augmented. Aside from Pacific Oil, domestic issues which were active and higher included Phillips Petroleum, Sinclair, Cosden, Caddo Central and a few of the others.

Wages and Freight Rates.

Practically every railroad executive who was talked with yesterday concerning the strike developments expressed the belief that there will be no general walkout on Nov. 1. Nevertheless the unions will have gained much, according to one official, if they are able by this strike threat to wrest from the carriers their contention that reduction in freight rates must be concurrent with a further paring down of wage costs. "It is only by the closest economy that we are going to be able to slip through this year and still meet our fixed charges of $475,000,000," he said. "The pressure for reduction in rates has been tremendous, and we are anxious to comply with the wishes of the shippers, but it is difficult to see the result without like reductions in wages." The feeling yesterday was that the railroads would ask for additional wage cuts, with the promise that any saving would immediately be passed on to the public. Meetings of various associations of railroad officials are being held almost daily.

A Striking Reserve Bank Statement.

Much comment was made on the rise in the Federal Reserve system's reserve ratio as reported yesterday to much the highest percentage of the year. Last Autumn at this time rediscounts and note circulation were steadily increasing; both reached the 1920 maximum in December. During the past week, however, rediscounts on Government collateral and other collateral, and with them Federal Reserve notes, went to the lowest figures of 1921. The present total of the system's rediscounts is the smallest of any week since the war ended in November, 1918, and so is the outstanding reserve note circulation. Rediscounts decreased $61,000,000 in the past week at the New York Bank alone. The gold in the New York Reserve Bank, after deducting the 35 per cent. required against deposits, now amounts to 13½ per cent. of the bank's outstanding notes.

The Rediscount Rate.

Persistent rumors were again in circulation in the financial district that the rediscount rate will be cut. Such rumors have been heard heretofore during several days before each decline in the rate, and on some occasions, at least, they have hit the nail squarely on the head. However, no announcement of a change was made at the Federal Reserve Bank yesterday. Some bankers hold the theory that another reduction could do no harm and might do a great deal of good.

Shifting Changing Views on Germany.

There has been a considerable change in sentiment among bankers who are handling business for Germany within the last few days; probably for the reason that they are now on the other side of the market. Three or four weeks ago they were extremely pessimistic on the German situation. Several of them predicted an economic smash. They have now turned about with the rise in marks which reached .69 cent yesterday, as compared with the extreme low of .52¼ cent. The impression prevailed that private cables received from day to day from Germany are now more optomistic, that Germany's immediate obligations are extremely small and can be more than met by her balances here, and that the next reparations obligation matures far enough in the future for the accumulation of another reserve.

Telephone Financing.

It is generally believed in the financial district that the New York Telephone Company will do some new financing before the end of the year. The sum mentioned is $50,000,000, but of course this may be shaded down before the deal is finally ready for signatures. It was expected that some sort of an announcement would be made last night by the telephone officials and the bankers, but it was postponed until today. Application, of course, must be made to the Public Service Commission for authority to sell such an issue.

Predictions of Corn Products Earnings.

On fairly active dealings Corn Products common has been advancing of late and yesterday scored a gain of another point, closing at 80¼. The rise has been attributed to reports that the company's statement of earnings for the third quarter of the year, which is expected to be made public before very long, will make a favorable display. According to Wall Street's information, the statement will show in the neighborhood of $2.25 a share earned on the common stock as compared with current dividend payment of $1.50 a share, including the 50 cents extra declared each quarter up to the present. For the first six months of the current year earnings were equal to $3.58 a share on the common stock, which, together with the reported earnings for the third quarter, virtually equaled the full year's dividend requirements.

A Loan to Mexico.

The financial district is particularly interested in what Thomas W. Lamont will say in his formal statement before leaving Mexico. It was reported yesterday, in quarters which have close connections with Mexican interests, that whether Mr. Lamont announces it or not, he will come back with a contract for a $100,000,000 loan to the republic. Of course there are many ramifications to such a project. One of them is the fact that present outstanding obligations, in default since 1914, must be paid off; another undoubtedly involves recognition by this country of Mexico, while still another would be the probable attitude of investors here toward new Mexican securities. The market action of the outstanding Mexican bonds would indicate to a casual observer that some provision for at least a payment on account is about concluded.

The Action of The Bond Market is encouraging to all investors in conservative securities. The factors which are creating higher bond prices are fundamental and the days of high yields from long-term, well-secured mortgage obligations appear to be passing.

In view of conditions it would seem as if the average investor is justified in employing his liquid funds at once to buy bonds of the first grade. Upon request we will submit definite recommendations.

PEABODY DEFENDS SALARIES OF BANK

Former U. S. Controller Is Requested to Ask Senator to "Recall His Attack."

George Foster Peabody, a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York since its organization and a member of the committee of that institution which has general supervision of salaries paid by the bank, has sent a letter to John Skelton Williams, former Controller of the Currency, in which he defends the salaries paid to officers of the bank here. A Congressional investigation of the salaries has been ordered, on figures given to Senator Heflin of Alabama by Mr. Williams.

The letter, dated Oct. 19, says:

"I was greatly surprised to discover that Senator Heflin based his attack upon the Federal Reserve Bank of New York upon your utterances. I feel bound, inasmuch as I have had the honor of being a Government director and deputy chairman from the time of the organization of the bank, to write to you expressing my regret that you should have taken the position respecting this matter which, from my own personal knowledge, I must state is without any justification whatever.

Great Care Exercised.

"It has been the case that for a good portion of the years of the life of the bank I have been on the Committee on Salaries and for much of the time Chairman. I am, therefore, able to certify to the fact that the utmost care was taken and most thorough consideration given to this question of payment of the employes and officers of the bank by each and every director. Mr. Robert H. Treman has shared membership on the committee with me for the greater portion of the time. I am sorry that it should be at all necessary to assert the fact that no more conscientious director can be found than Mr. Treman has proved himself to be throughout his entire connection with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. His service, as you know, also dates from the organization of the bank.

"I venture to say that no bank directorate ever gave such thorough study to the problem of salaries as did the directors of the New York Reserve Bank.

"It is the fact that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, from the beginning, was such as regards morale and discipline that it was a high credit mark to every employe to have a satisfactory record of service with this bank. Because of this there were continually approaches made to employes and officers to take other positions. Very many did take advantage of these opportunities and the bank allowed them to go with a godspeed, because, fortunately, its organization enabled it to move up those who had proved themselves competent.

Tempting Offers Declined.

"There have been some cases, however, among the officers where their value to the bank was so great that it would have been difficult to secure fit successors for the vitally important services the bank was called upon to render during the period of the war and the various crises following the armistice. These several gentlemen, now officers of the bank, were so imbued with the sense of their public trust that they declined these offers and remained with the bank at large pecuniary sacrifice. I know this of my own personal knowledge.

"In view of the foregoing, it was a peculiarly unpatriotic as well as unsocial act for any one to make this attack, not only upon the officers and the directors but in effect upon all the thousands of employes of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. It was not surprising, of course, that the Senator from Alabama, without full knowledge, should have voiced such an attack, but it is a matter of not only great surprise but of extreme regret to discover that the attack was made by a former member of the Federal Reserve Board who had every possibility of close, confidential access to the Government directors as to others, and who had only to inquire into any specific cases to have any 'common report' exploded by the exact and unquestioned knowledge that was obtainable.

"I trust that this letter may lead you to make a careful examination into the facts of the case, which can be readily ascertained, and then that you will do what may be possible to counteract the evil effects of your utterances on this question. I particularly request that you advise Senator Heflin of the correction which you are called upon to make and ask him, when he shall have ascertained the truth of the situation, to recall his attack in as public a manner as he made it."

RAILROAD EARNINGS DROP.

Kansas City Southern's Report for September Shows a Decrease.

A decrease in both net and gross earnings is shown by the Kansas City Southern Railroad for September as compared with the August showing and also with September of 1920. This is the first complete report for September to be issued by any road in the country.

The road's net income after taxes, amounted to $414,438, a decrease of $83,870 compared with the August showing, and of $330,546 from September a year ago. Howeevr, in September of 1920, the carriers were operating under the freight increase of 40 per cent. and the passenger increase of 20 per cent., and traffic was heavier.

	Sept., 1921	Aug., 1921	Sept., 1920
Net income	414,438	498,308	744,984
	1921.	Changes.
Nine months' gross	$16,560,967	Inc.	$ 640,148
Net income	3,762,060	inc.	1,633,142

Kansas City Southern's operating expenses in September were reported at $1,304,168, a decrease of $246,858 from September a year ago, when the expenses for the months were $1,551,026.

BOND ISSUES OFFERED HERE

Chicago South Park District, Hickory, N. C., and Detroit.

An issue of $1,500,000 Chicago South Park District 4s of 1922 to 1941 has been purchased by the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, A. B. Leach & Co. and the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago and is offered at price to yield 5.40 to 5 per cent., according to the maturity.

The Blanchett Bond Company is offering $100,000 City of Hickory, N. C., direct obligation 6 per cent. bonds, which are offered at 99 and interest, yielding more than 6 per cent.

Approximately two-thirds of the $9,163,000 bonds of the City of Detroit, offered by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Hallgarten & Co. and Kidder, Peabody & Co. have been sold. The 5s yield from 5.05 to 5.50 per cent., the 5½s from 5.15 to 5.50 per cent. and the 5¼s yield 5¼ per cent.

Stewart-Warner Reports Profit.

The Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1921, reports net profits of $352,894 before allowing for Federal taxes. This compared with profits of $801,278 in the same period last year. For the first nine months of the current year net profits were $755,967, compared with $2,271,426 last year. The decrease was mainly due to the marking down of inventory to market value.

BANKER SEES TURN TOWARD MEXICO

ENDORSES OBREGON POLICY

Financial Progress Blocked by Our Failure to Resume Full Diplomatic Relations.

Sentiment favoring recognition of the Obregon Government is growing among American business men who have visited Mexico and studied conditions at first hand, according to George A. Evalenko, Vice President of Harvey Fisk & Sons, Inc., who described yesterday his impressions from a visit of six weeks, from which he has just returned. He went there to discuss with the Mexican Government some of their financial problems, in response to an invitation sent to his firm by General Obregon. He made the trip in company with George H. Eichelberger of Cleveland, Ohio, his attorney, who entertains a similar view of the Mexican situation. They thought the problem of recognition would soon be settled.

The financial system of Mexico, according to Mr. Evalenko, is being revised thorugh the initiative of Adolfo de la Huerta, Minister of Finance, who cannot be expected to succeed until Mexico has been recognized by the United States and other Governments. Mr. Evalenko and the Americans with whom he came in contact were convinced that the Obregon Government must fall eventually without recognition by the United States and other countries, and that in such event there is in sight no other leader or potential Government as well qualified to lead Mexico out of the wilderness.

Mr. Evalenko expressed a high opinion of Mr. de la Huerta, and added:

"The issues involving recognition have narrowed down to a question as to whether the treaty proposed between the United States and Mexico shall be signed before recognition is accorded or afterward. Inasmuch as it is highly desirable that the two Republics of North America be on terms of peace and friendship with each other, it is hoped and expected that an early solution of the present difficulties will be found.

"It would indeed be fortunate if the failure to recognize the present Government of Mexico by England and America would weaken or possibly result in the destruction of the present Mexican Government, as it is extremely doubtful if a Government as good as the present one could be organized in Mexico."

Mr. Eichelberger said he was surprised to find how orderly conditions were in Mexico. He asserted that one could go about Mexico City at any time of the day or night with perhaps a greater sense of safety that he could venture out on the streets of Cleveland or New York.

Mr. Eichelberger said that our failure to recognize the present Government in Mexico would simply mark the beginning of another phase of succeeding revolutions that have continued since the overthrow of Diaz in 1911, and he added:

"It is indeed difficult to say how our refusal to recognize the present Government of Mexico can be beneficial to American interests, as it may culminate in the collapse of the present Government, and in any event would result in the growth of irritation and bad feeling toward the United States and the interests of our citizens in Mexico.

"Diplomatic representatives from all of South and Central America, from Germany, Japan and China are in Mexico City and it only waits the word from our State Department to gain political recognition for Mexico from all the world and the revolutionary movement that has caused so much suffering to our neighboring republic will be at an end."

139,805 OWN PENNSYLVANIA

Decrease in Stockholders for September Was 765.

Stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad decreased 765 during September. On Oct. 1 the number was 139,805 against 140,570 for the previous month. This was the third consecutive month that the stockholders' list had shown a decrease, although compared with Oct. 1, 1920, the report showed an increase of 10,565. The high record this year was 141,075 reported on July 1.

	Number of Holders	Inc. or Prev. month	Average Holding
October	139,805	*765	71.42
September	140,570	*208	71.03
August	140,778	*297	70.98
July	141,075	335	70.78
June	140,740	581	70.95
May	140,159	1,760	71.24
April	138,393	2,927	72.15
March	135,466	723	73.72
January	133,068	1,953	75.04

*Decrease.

The average holding was 71.42 shares on Oct. 1 compared with 71.03 shares on Sept. 1. On July 1, the high record month in number of shareholders, the average holding was 70.78 shares, the low point up to the present time. According to the statement, women stockholders, numbering 65,710, owned 30.72 per cent. of the outstanding stock, with average holdings of 47 shares. They constituted 47 per cent. of the stockholders.

TERMS FOR PERUVIAN LOAN.

Eight Per Cent. Bonds for $50,000,000 to Be Sold In New York.

A $50,000,000 loan to Peru will be sold in the New York market within the next two or three months, according to present calculations, and, as in the case of Cuba, and probably Mexico, it probably will entail the formation of a fiscal agency which will be created to administer the loan. Bankers who are negotiating it probably will name the members of this agency. Dr. Fernando Fuchs, former Finance Minister of Peru, who is conducting the negotiations for his country, is expected to arrive in New York next week to complete the arrangements in person.

The bill, which has been introduced in the Peruvian Congress, provides for $50,000,000 bonds, bearing 8 per cent. interest. The bill provides for the emission, at 90, of a first instalment of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, dated Dec. 1. The proceeds will be used to liquidate the tax collecting company and the salt company, to complete sanitation projects and to purchase shares in a proposed national bank.

The Government will amortize 4 per cent. of the outstanding bonds annually at 105, at which figure the bonds may be redeemed after 1921. The maximum period will be forty years.

Tidewater Gasoline Sales Grow.

Sales of gasoline of the Tidewater Oil Company for August established a new high record in the company's history, according to report. Sales for the first nine months of this year are also reported to have averaged 1,000,000 gallons monthly over the corresponding months of 1920. As a result of this showing the company's earnings for the last half of 1921 are expected to make a more favorable showing than those of the first half of the year.

Bidding Keen at London Wool Sale.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—At the wool auction sales today 10,380 bales were offered. Trading was keen. There was more Continental buying. Virtually all the stocks were sold. Prices for the coarser descriptions showed a hardening tendency.

FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

Prices Steady at London—Inactivity at Paris.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Prices were steady on the Stock Exchange today. Old 2½ per cent. consols, ½ lower at 48⅝; British 5 per cent. war loan, 89⅛; 4½ per cent. war loan, 82¼, both unchanged.

Rand Mines, ⅛ higher at 2⅛; De Beers Mining, ¼ higher, at 11¼.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Trading was dull on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 40 centimes higher at 55 francs 60 centimes; 5 per cent. war loan, unchanged at 81 francs 45 centimes.

Exchange on London, 15 centimes lower at 54 francs 35 centimes per sovereign; American dollars were quoted at 11 francs 83½ centimes, against 11 francs 1⅛ centime yesterday.

FOREIGN BANK STATEMENTS

French Note Circulation Reduced Again—London Reserve Ratio Lower.

Yesterday's statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes for the last week:

Gold coin and bullion	decreased	£4,523
Reserve in banking department, gold and notes	increased	925,000
Notes in circulation	decreased	929,000
Loans on Government securities	increased	14,865,000
Loans on other securities	increased	6,044,000
Public deposits	decreased	222,000
Other deposits	increased	22,010,000
Notes in reserve	increased	930,000

Proportion of the Bank's reserve to deposit liabilities this week is 13.51 per cent; last week it was 14.86 per cent; two weeks ago it was 14.40 per cent. Highest reserve percentage for 1921 to date was the 18.61 per cent. of Sept. 29; lowest, 8.83 on Jan. 7. The lowest percentage of the war period was 7.30 per cent. on Dec. 30, 1920.

Ratio of reserve (per cent.)	13.51	10.25	13.73

The Bank of England's official minimum discount rate remained unchanged at 5 1-2 per cent. to which it was reduced on July 21. Prior to that a 6 per cent. rate had been maintained since June 23. At this date of 1920, it was 7 per cent. against 5 in 1919, 1918 and 1917, 6 in 1916 and 5 in 1915 and 1914.

Silver in hand	increased	265,000
Notes in circulation	decreased	204,826,000
Treasury deposits	decreased	16,146,000

The highest point which the French Bank's outstanding note circulation has ever reached was 39,644,392,000 francs, on Nov. 3, 1920. The highest point of the present year to date was 38,832,829,000 francs, on May 25; the lowest, 36,783,000,000 on Aug. 25. The Bank's official discount rate remained at 5½ per cent. to which it was reduced July 28, after a 6 per cent. rate had been maintained since April 8, 1920.

NEW OIL POOL OPENED.

The Elk Basin Consolidated Petroleum Company, through the Frantz Corporation, which it controls, has opened a new oil pool in the Catcreek Field, Montana. The company has drilled in a new well of 500 barrels a day on Section 26, Lot 15, Range 30. This is one and one-half miles from the nearest well on the company's property.

The opening of this new pool is expected to add considerably to the company's oil resources. A recent report of operations showed 1,620 acres of the West Dome and associated smaller structures capable of producing 20,250,000 barrels of oil. The Mosky Dome comprises 560 acres with a potential output of 4,950,000 barrels, and another 720 acres capable of producing 11,340,000 barrels. The total of these three sections is approximately 36,543,000 barrels, of which 1,300,000 barrels have been extracted. This, however, does not include the potential production of the new pool. The company's production in September was 160,525 barrels, or more than 5,000 barrels daily.

PENNSYLVANIA OIL UP ANOTHER 25 CENTS

OTHER GRADES ADVANCE

Production in the United States for the Week Ended Oct. 15 Shows an Increase.

Another advance of 25 cents per barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil was announced by the Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency of Pittsburgh yesterday. This is the fifth advance of a similar amount within less than a month and brings the price up to $3.50 a barrel as compared with $2.25 at the close of last month. The current price compares with $6.10 quoted at the close of 1920. Other grades of Eastern crude oil were also advanced from 15 to 25 cents a barrel. Corning is now quoted at $2.15; Cabell at $2.36; Somerset light at $2.40; Somerset heavy at $2.15 and Ragland at $1.15.

As a result of these advances it is reported that independent refiners have advanced the price of Western Kentucky crude 25 cents a barrel. The price of bunker fuel oil at this port has been advanced 15 cents a barrel to $1.60. Prices for the principal grades of Eastern crude are as follows:

Pennsylvania	$3.50	$2.25	$6.10	$5.00	$2.75
Corning	2.15	1.20	4.25	3.50	2.80
Cabell	2.36	1.11	4.40	3.42	2.70
Somerset, light	2.40	1.00	4.50	3.25	2.55
Ragland	1.15	.60	2.60	1.75	1.20
Lima	1.53	1.58	3.73	3.08	2.08
Princeton	1.52	1.27	3.77	3.02	2.17
Illinois	1.52	1.27	3.77	3.02	2.13
Midcontinent	1.50	1.00	3.50	2.75	2.00
Healdton	.70	.50	2.75	2.00	1.70
Gulf Coast	.80	3.00	1.50	1.00
Canada	2.88	2.63	4.13	3.38	2.58

While the Eastern producers are commanding a price of $1.25 a barrel higher than about a month ago, it is reported that they are in no haste to dispose of accumulated stocks. It is said that some resumption of drilling has been talked of, but according to authorities in the trade this contemplates chiefly the completion of wells on which work had been halted because of the low markets of recent months.

The daily average of crude oil production in the United States for the week ended Oct. 15, according to the American Petroleum Institute, was 1,166,150 barrels, an increase of 3,450 barrels as compared with the previous week, when output averaged 1,162,700 barrels daily. The strike of oil field workers in California is still reflected in the production of that State, which reported a daily output of 222,000 barrels, as against 215,000 barrels the week before. Recent normal output had been in excess of 300,000 barrels. Production last week increased in Oklahoma, north and central Texas, Wyoming and in the Eastern fields, while in Kansas, Louisiana, Arkansas and the Gulf Coast it declined.

Ruling on Queensland Bonds.

The Committee on Securities of the New York Stock Exchange has ruled that contracts for State of Queensland twenty-year, 7 per cent., sinking fund, external loan, gold bonds, due Oct. 1, 1941, "when issued" must be settled Oct. 25 by delivery of interim certificates. The committee has admitted to the list United Drug Company $12,500,000 temporary 8 per cent., twenty-year, convertible gold bonds, due June 15, 1941.

FIGURES OF GERMANY'S FOREIGN COMMERCE

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Figures showing exports from Germany during July, which have been issued here, show an increase for that month over June, while imports were also increased. The value of exports in July was fixed at 5,208,000,000 marks against 5,432,000,000 in June, while imports of July were valued at 7,585,000,000, against 6,409,000,000 in the previous month.

The valuations in the above summary are affected by the decline in the mark and the consequent artificial rise in German home prices. In June the mark ranged from 1.60 to 1.40 cents; in July from 1.30 to 1.25. The more accurate comparison is that which shows an import excess of 1,377,000,000 marks in Germany's foreign trade of July and an import excess of 978,000,000 marks in June.

Our own commerce reports show that in June we exported $23,800,000 more merchandise to Germany than we imported from her and that in July the excess of our exports was $26,500,000.

COTTON MOVES UP IN ACTIVE MARKET

Decided Improvement In Demand and Sentiment Causes Gain of 40 to 47 Points.

Cotton showed decided improvement yesterday in actual demand and in sentiment. Instead of yielding to pressure brokers were able to sell large blocks at advancing prices. Resistance became so marked that efforts to stem the rise met with no success. Liverpool, after declining 6 to 7 cents in two weeks, advanced a cent and sent buying orders to New York. Rumors of large ginning figures were circulated, but recent declines in all markets have anticipated such showing. Drastic liquidation in contracts has left less cotton for sale to supply improved demand. Advance in sterling to new high levels for the moment became a stimulating factor. Final prices advanced 40 to 47 points for the day.

Aggressive demand began on the opening. Large blocks of December and another of January were taken at an advance of 20 to 25 points. This urgent buying gave evidence of an over-sold technical condition, without sufficient pressure of actual cotton to prevent an upturn. Not only had been liquidated an extensive long interest during the steady decline in the last two weeks, but the railroad strike talk had induced speculative selling for a further break. Contracts thrown on the market had passed into trade channels, so efforts to cover found only a limited supply available. Liverpool advanced sharply, bringing demand to New York. Prices abroad gained nearly a cent before the close, indicating absence of selling pressure from the South. Recent liquidation in Liverpool has been even greater than in American markets. Spot cotton abroad declined more than 6½ cents, and January contracts nearly 7 cents since Oct. 8. Under these circumstances a firmer market was not surprising despite unfavorable news.

Buying increased after the opening, taking off cotton that appeared and advancing quotations until January showed a rise of 88 points from the low of Wednesday. A line of between 5,000 and 10,000 bales of January was taken quietly at 18.44 by several active traders, without being sold openly in the ring. This same line was for sale several days ago. Considering the extent of an over-night advance, there was less selling pressure than might have been expected. Southern holders have sold considerable cotton in the last six weeks and smallness of the yield reduces offerings on a declining price. Although contracts broke to new low levels on Wednesday, spot prices in the South did not decline at any point, and reports indicated actual cotton was difficult to obtain at quoted figures. In other words, while the contract markets have broken under disturbing news, holders of cotton have not been influenced to offer spots at material concessions.

The question of approaching ginning statistics received increased attention. It was generally conceded that the season had been unusually favorable for rapid picking, and high prices have stimulated early ginning. From time to time during midday trading, blocks of cotton appeared for sale, carrying prices off 25 points on January, but selling was concentrated and not general. The orders executed seemed to point to operations for speculative interests that sold Wednesday and Tuesday. Trading was lighter during early afternoon, little cotton changing hands.

A sharp rise in sterling and improvement in the stock market started an advance the last hour. All contracts thrown on the market earlier in the day had been absorbed, leaving few room sellers when late demand came. The rise started with a purchase of several thousand December around 18.70. This encouraged buying of later months; selling orders had been withdrawn. Trading became decidedly active, large blocks changing hands when all months went to new high levels for the day. Above 18.75 for December, a rush of buying ran that month beyond 18.90. January sold at 18.64, compared with 17.60 Wednesday. A drive was made by speculative interests at this point to prevent a high closing, and several thousand bales of January ran prices off 20 points quickly. This only served to attract buyers and all months closed active under good demand.

145 Oil Tankers Idle Oct. 1.

A total of 145 oil tankers were idle on Oct. 1 because of lack of business, of which 98 were American-owned vessels and 47 foreign. These vessels have a total deadweight of 1,129,781 tons, of which the American ships constitute 839,079 tons. On the same date there were 144 tankers under construction, with a total dead-weight tonnage of 1,373,780, or 20 per cent. of the tonnage now afloat. Of the vessels building 19 are American and 125 foreign.

American Light Earnings Larger.

For the third quarter of 1921 the American Light and Traction Company shows net earnings of $1,032,683 compared with $966,617 for the second quarter, and $259,864 for the first quarter. Dividend payments for the third quarter amounted to $773,701, leaving a surplus of $258,982. In the second quarter the surplus was $198,186, but a deficit of $503,334 was shown in the first quarter. The net earnings for September were $421,545 larger than any similar month since 1917.

PITTSBURGH STEEL PROFITS

$1,722,526 for Fiscal Year Ended June 30.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company for the year ended June 30, 1921, reports net profits of $1,722,526 after charges, Federal taxes and inventory adjustment. After allowing for the usual preferred dividends this was equal to $7.05 a share on the $14,000,000 common capital stock outstanding at that time. In the previous fiscal year the company's profits of $1,961,459 were equivalent to $17.52 a share on the $7,000,000 stock then outstanding. Gross sales aggregated $23,230,027 during the last fiscal year compared with $27,483,106 in the previous year. The detailed income account for 1921 and 1920 follows:

The general balance sheet as of June 30, 1921, shows a profit and loss surplus of $7,298,892, compared with $14,151,365 at the close of the previous year. The decrease was due mainly to the increase in the common stock from $7,000,000 to $14,000,000, the 100 per cent. increase being a stock dividend. Inventories, according to the balance sheet, were valued at $7,995,572, compared with $7,325,827 last year. Cash on hand totalled $1,140,958 against $1,757,167 and Liberty bonds $2,875,467, compared with $2,218,-009. Accounts payable were reduced from $2,617,252 to $1,386,590.

VIRGINIA IRON'S NEW ISSUE.

Roanoke Meeting Will Seek Approval for $5,000,000 Cumulative Preferred.

Officials of the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company have mailed a circular to stockholders in connection with the meeting called for Nov. 1 at Roanoke, Va., at which a vote of approval for the issuance of $5,000,000 of new 5 per cent. cumulative preferred stock will be asked. The company at the present time has no preferred stock outstanding and only $10,000,000 of common stock.

The company, it is pointed out, has earned a surplus charged out through real estate, plant account and other accounts, but recognized by State and Federal authorities as invested capital, of approximately $5,000,000. The purpose of the preferred stock issue is to increase the capitalization so as to make it equal invested capital. The new preferred stock will be subject to call after three years on sixty days' notice at 105, and no further lien may be placed on the properties without the consent of at least 75 per cent. of the preferred stockholders.

The circular also says that approximately the entire 6 per cent. dividend for the year 1921 was earned in the first six months, together with taxes for the full year, but that operations for the third quarter of the year were unprofitable.

STANDARD OIL EXTENSIVES.

Unconfirmed Reports Indicate New Drillings in Mexico and Bolivia.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is planning to extend its activities in both Mexico and South America, according to reports in the financial district yesterday.

As to Mexico, it was reported that the company is preparing to test out some new acreage and has entered into an agreement with the Atlantic Lobos Oil Company, which is controlled by the Atlantic Refining Company, under which both companies will carry on a drilling campaign on their respective properties. The Standard of New Jersey's interest is held under the name of the Compania Transcontinental de Petroleo. The acreage to be developed consists of 75,000 acres owned by the Atlantic Lobos located at Augada, while the Transcontinental's holdings consist of about 62,000 acres south of Tuxpan River and 60,000 acres in the Tempoal region.

The Standard of New Jersey was also reported to have obtained an option on the development of approximately 8,000,000 acres of potential oil lands in Bolivia. No wells have as yet been drilled on this land.

Wigmore Claims Total $8,000,000.

Benjamin B. Odell and Van Vechten Veeder, receivers appointed in an equity proceeding against the importing and exporting firm of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, Inc., reported to Federal Judge Mayer yesterday that 286 claims had been presented aggregating more than $8,000,000, and that only $300,000 of them represented purchase of merchandise, and that $4,800,000 represented claims by banks. The hearing was adjourned until Oct. 31, when an offer made by George A. Gaston, former President of the concern, for its assets, will be considered.

HOUSE ACTS TODAY ON REFUNDING BILL

Five Hours Are to Be Devoted to Measure—Acceptance by Senate Is Expected.

TOTAL DEBT SAFEGUARDED

One Provision Specifically Forbids Exchange or Cancellation of Any Foreign Obligation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Ways and Means Committee today reported favorably a measure to facilitate the refunding of the foreign debt to the United States. It has the approval of the Administration and would delegate full authority to negotiate and arrange terms with the foreign countries to a commission of five, one of which shall be the Secretary of the Treasury. The other members are to be appointed by the President.

Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee will present a minority report objecting to the full authority proposed to be delegated to the commission of five. The minority proposes that the commission shall have power to enter into negotiations, but that the terms of refunding to be arranged shall be approved by Congress.

The House tomorrow will devote five hours to the consideration of the bill. Indications are that the Senate will readily accept it. The Senate still refuses to act upon the original refunding bill reported by its own Finance Committee which would give unlimited authority to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Committee's View of Measure.

The majority report presented to the House today says:

"The bill herein recommended creates a commission consisting of five members, one of whom shall be the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall serve as Chairman, and four of whom shall be appointed by the President.

"When other than Cabinet officers are selected, the bill gives this commission, with the approval of the President, requisite authority to negotiate with foreign Governments and determine arrangements for the repayment to the United States of principal and interest of the obligations by various foreign Governments now owing to the United States, or hereafter received by the United States arising out of the World War.

"At the time these loans were being made the possible length of the war and the total amount that the advances of money by the United States might reach were not known. Fixed arrangements for repayment were not made, and agreements in regard to interest rates were indefinite. One thing was clearly understood, however, and that was that the money advanced by the United States would be repaid together with the rate of interest sufficient to reimburse the United States for what it cost this Government to provide the money.

"Considerable misunderstanding has existed in regard to the purpose of the legislation in question. The popular belief seems to be that authority is sought either to change the obligations of one country for the obligations of some other country or to cancel a portion or all of the principal and interest due.

"Such authority was not sought by the Secretary of the Treasury, and as a safeguard and to remove possible misapprehension, Section 3 of the bill expressly prohibits such exchange or cancellation of obligations. Section 3 is as follows:

"'That this act shall not be construed to authorize the exchange of bonds or other obligations of any foreign Government for those of any other foreign Government, or cancellation of any part of such indebtedness except through payment thereof.'

Lists Existing Obligations.

"The obligations of foreign Governments held by the Treasury amount to $10,141,267,585.68, in addition to certain accrued interest. These obligations were acquired as follows:

"For advances made under the Liberty Loan acts, $9,435,225,320.24.

"Proceeds of sale of surplus war materials through the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, $565,048,413.80.

"Through the United States Grain Corporation, $35,899,879.09.

"Through the United States Grain Corporation, $56,899,879.09.

"From the American Relief Administration, $84,093,963.35.

"Total, $10,141,267,585.68.

"In addition to the above, the following amounts of interest were due and unpaid, according to statements submitted by the Secretary of the Treasury June 29, 1921:

"Liberty Bond acts, $922,550,143.22.

"American Relief, $8,168,687.29.

"War Department, $10,029,130.39.

"United States Grain Corporation, $3,886,795.09.

"Total, $943,534,795.09.

"Due to lack of authority, the Secretary of the Treasury has been unable to deal in a satisfactory way with the debtor countries for the repayment of the obligations. To protect the interests of the United States and to secure the payment of the principal and interest of the debt is the purpose of the legislation herein recommended. The authority contained in the various Liberty Loan acts is somewhat confusing and open to question. It is essential that the authority be definite so that no question may arise in the future respecting the legality of negotiations.

"Without additional authority, the Secretary stated before the Finance Committee of the Senate that it would be difficult and in some cases impossible to proceed to procure new securities in a form that will protect the interests of the Government. The Secretary asked for broad authority that would cover any contingencies which might arise in the negotiations and states that it is essential to have new securities in the most substantial form so that they may be available to this Government for future use.

"The legislation herein recommended will permit negotiations to proceed so that these claims may be adjusted and refunding accomplished in a sound and businesslike manner. This is a matter of the utmost importance."

WANT JONES RATES LEVIED.

Middle West Shippers Ask Harding to Enforce Preferential Charges.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Harding was called on today by a committee of the Middle West Merchant Marine Association to enforce immediately the preferential rates of indirect foreign trade provided for under the Jones Shipping act.

Malcolm Stewart of Cincinnati, Chairman of the committee, told the President that the Middle West was "greatly alarmed and disturbed over the condition of American shipping." Members of the committee, after seeing the President, said they had found Mr. Harding deeply interested and felt certain that a constructive merchant marine program would be worked out within a few weeks.

TOKIO RECEIVES AMERICANS.

Chamber of Commerce Welcomes Business Men's Mission.

TOKIO, Oct. 19.—The mission of American business men which arrived here yesterday was tendered a reception tonight in the Imperial Theatre by the Tokio Chamber of Commerce.

VALUATION TRANSIT CRUX SAYS EXPERT

Dr. John Bauer Tells Economics Club Commission's Plan Is Too Complex.

Dr. John Bauer, former statistician and chief accountant for the Public Service Commission, in an address last night before the Economics Club at Columbia University, declared that the crux of the entire transit situation and the Transit Commission's plan was the commission's valuation of the roads.

"While a single unified system of all street railway properties, including subway, elevated and surface, would undoubtedly be desirable if it could be obtained on the proper basis, no satisfactory opinion of the commission's proposal can be expressed until the valuations have been made," he said. "This huge task involves tremendous difficulties. I am exceedingly skeptical whether the commission, if it establishes a unified system, will be able to effect a full 100 per cent. reduction—or 75 per cent. or even 50 per cent. This is the crux of the matter, and as yet we have been told nothing definite about it. The chief criticisms of the plan are as follows:

"1. The organization is too complex.

"2. The method of control would give the city a share only in the holding company concerned chiefly with problems of financing and would give actual management to the new bondholders, who would have practically no risk in the business.

"3. No provision is made for recognition of labor in the management of the operating companies.

"4. The barometer fund is a cumbersome and unwieldy arrangement. Similar funds used elsewhere have not justified their fixed, unelastic and arbitrary systems.

"5. The bonus to stimulate efficiency is faulty.

"6. The automatic flexible fare limits unduly the determination of desirable municipal policy. The city should be left free to meet the costs through any system of fares, or by partial taxation, or by special assessments, as future developments may indicate."

SOLDIERS' POSTERS TO HELP RAISE FUND

Artists Award Prizes in Contest for Designs to Advertise Armistice Day Helmets.

A poster contest was held yesterday at the Dug Out, club house and workshop for disabled ex-service men in charge of the National League for Women's Service. Seventeen men studying in art schools submitted posters to advertise the little A. E. F. helmet badges which all the ex-service men at the Dug Out and the Fox Hills Hospital are making by the hundreds to sell on Armistice Day.

The little helmets, attached to a bow of red, white and blue ribbon, have been endorsed as a badge by the American Legion at its New York State Convention, and it is expected that at least a million people will wear them on Armistice Day at 25 cents apiece.

Colonel Bradley delivered the prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the first, second and third posters. Simon Risberg, who is studying with the Society of Illustrators, won the first prize, Alfred W. Lowe the second and G. M. Behar the third.

Mrs. Edward McVickar, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Dug Out, will be glad to have individuals and organizations get their badges there as early as poss ble for the Armistice Day celebration.

ACCUSE IRON ERECTORS.

Are Keeping Men Idle by Contract Delay, Says Union Council.

Charges that the Iron Erectors Association is holding up large structural contracts in this city which would furnish thousands of unemployed with work in order to establish the "open shop and reduce wages, were made last night at the meeting of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and vicinity.

The council authorized an investigation and specific complaint will be placed before the Industrial Aid Bureau of the city, which is handling the unemployed problem.

James Sommerville, delegate of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, told the Council that construction work on a thirty-two-story building at Fifty-seventh Street and Broadway had been held up for nearly three months, although the iron and other necessary materials were ready. He said that this was believed to be due to the fact that the Iron Erectors' Association was attempting to establish the open shop and reduce the wages of the iron workers from $1.25 to 90 cents an hour. The work being held up on this building alone, said Sommerville, would furnish employment to about 200 iron workers and about 2,000 men in other trades.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Markets Show Irregular Trend—Wheat Lower, With Eggs Continuing Higher.

Price changes in the wholesale markets yesterday showed a good deal of irregularity, with advances and declines about evenly divided. The only noteworthy change was a drop of ½ of a cent in wheat, to a new low for the year, with the other grains unchanged. Coffee continued its recent weakness, dropping fractionally below Wednesday's quotation. Eggs are higher on good buying, with butter steady; lard scored a slight gain, with pork and beef firm. In the metals, iron and lead dropped back, with tin slightly higher, and in spot cotton there was a recovery of 45 cents per hundred pounds, with a minor recession in printcloths.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Thursday, a week before and a year ago:

RATIO OF RESERVE RISES ABOVE 70%

RESERVE NEARLY ALL GOLD

Influx Since First of January Reaches a Total of More Than $700,000,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Aggregate gains of $43,800,000 of gold and of $44,800,000 of total cash reserves, accompanied by net liquidation of $102,300,000 of earning assets and reduction of $35,400,000 in Federal Reserve note circulation, are indicated in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly consolidated bank statement issued as at close of business on Oct. 19, 1921. Deposit liabilities decreased by $7,200,000 since the date of the previous statement, and the reserve ratio shows a rise since Oct. 11 from 68.5 to 70.3 per cent.

All classes of earning assets show smaller totals than the week before—bills secured by United States obligations, by $43,100,000; other discounts, by $29,500,000; acceptances purchased in open market, by $7,100,000; Pittman certificates to secure outstanding Federal Reserve bank note circulation, by $6,000,000; other Treasury certificates, largely held under repurchase agreements by the New York Reserve Bank, by $46,100,000, and United States bonds and notes, by about $500,000. Total earning assets stood at $1,577,900,000, a record low total for the year, and 53 per cent. below the total reported about a year ago.

Of the total holdings of $459,700,009 of bills secured by United States Government obligations, $328,100,000, or 71.4 per cent., were secured by Liberty and other United States bonds; $103,200,000, or 22.4 per cent., by Victory notes; $9,100,000, or 2 per cent, by Treasury notes and $19,300,000, or 4.2 per cent., by Treasury certificates, compared with $341,000,000, $126,800,000, $20,300,000 and $20,600,000 held the week before.

Since Oct. 1 the amount of paper held under rediscount for other Reserve banks by the Federal Reserve Banks of Boston, New York and Cleveland has declined from $44,000,000 to $42,400,000. Rediscounts of the Richmond Bank with the New York Reserve Bank show a decline from $20,000,000 to $14,400,000. The Atlanta Bank reports a reduction in bills rediscounted with the Boston and Cleveland Banks from $16,400,000 to $14,100,000 and the Dallas Bank an increase in the amount of paper rediscounted with the Boston Bank from $7,600,000 to $8,200,000. Minneapolis resumed rediscounting operations during the week and reports $6,000,000 of bills under rediscount with the New York Bank.

Government deposits are shown $24,900,000 less than the week before; reserve deposits show an increase for the week of $14,800,000, while other deposits, composed largely of non-members' clearing accounts and cashier's checks, show an increase of about $2,900,000.

Federal Reserve note circulation shows a further decline for the week of $35,400,000, the October 19 total of $2,440,900,000 being the lowest shown since Oct. 4, 1918. In addition the banks show a decrease of $4,900,000 in their net liabilities on Federal Reserve bank notes in circulation, the October total of $93,000,000 being the lowest published since Dec. 6, 1918.

Cash reserves on Oct. 19 totalled $2,921,800,000, of which $2,772,700,000 was gold. Since Jan. 1 of the present year the gold reserves of the system have increased by $709,900,000, this increase being offset in part by a loss, during the same period, of $41,900,000 in other cash reserves—silver and legals.

W.P.G. HARDING A GRANDSIRE

Reserve Board Head Greets Infant—Discounts Rail Strike.

W. P. G. Harding, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, came on from Washington yesterday, laid aside his burdens as head of the Government's banking institution, and spent several hours in sizing up a new grandchild whom he met for the first time. The baby, at the Hotel Plaza with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Prince 2d, has been named F. H. Prince 3d.

At the Federal Reserve Bank Mr. Harding said that the prospects of a railroad strike had not made any particular impression upon him and that he did not think it would take place. "I believe the attitude of most normal people in considering the strike was not to take it very seriously," he said. "It did not alarm me. I did not rush out and buy a barrel of flour and a barrel of potatoes, in the belief that the supplies of these necessities would be tied up by a strike. I got the impression that it was not to be considered very seriously—in other words, the strike news left me 'cold'—and I believe that is the attitude of most normal people."

Mr. Harding again said that business, in his estimation, has turned the corner. He cited the railroad situation and taxes as two problems which must be cleared up before complete recovery. He was asked about probable re-exports of gold to the principal countries of Europe and said that it could be done at the present time only by the loaning of gold by individuals. He said that conditions abroad were improving.

While in New York Mr. Harding had a talk with Sir Reginald McKenna of the London City and Midland Bank, Ltd., who is in this country to attend the Disarmament Conference. He said that the talk was an informal one and nothing to do with finances.

RESERVE BANK POSITION.

Comparison of Yesterday's Items With Those of Other Periods.

The Federal Reserve statements of yesterday show that the high point of the year was reached this week by the total gold holdings and the ratio of reserve of the entire system. The low point of the year was reached by rediscounts, secured by Government collateral and by other collateral, and by reserve note circulation. The ratio of reserve of the New York bank failed to establish either a high or low level this week, the percentage being 83.0.

Yesterday's statements make possible the following comparison of highest and lowest figures of the reserve system statements for 1921 to date and for previous years (in thousands of dollars):

A Neat Bit of Salesmanship.

One of the neatest bits of retail salesmanship he had witnessed for some time was told yesterday by a buyer of men's furnishings for a local store. On a small counter rack in the department were a number of men's neckties with a dark ground crossed by a narrow diagonal stripe of white. Seen by the artificial light in which they were displayed, the ground color of all the ties seemed to be black. A customer, who was admiring them was asked by a clerk if he could be of service. The former replied that he would like to buy one of the ties, which were a real bargain, but that he preferred a navy blue one. The clerk swung the rack around, selected a tie, told the customer its ground was a dark navy and made the sale. "Where the neat salesmanship came in," the buyer explained, "was that all of the ties on the rack were dark navy blue, but that the salesman did not try to tell the customer so. The latter thought the ties on the front of the rack were black and white, and rather than tell him they were not, thereby planting a seed of doubt in his mind, the salesman simply took a tie from another part of the rack."

Where Should the Loss Go?

A certain retail buyer of women's apparel recently "staged" a sale that set half the women of his city talking about the wonderful values that could be obtained at "Blank's." The goods were really big bargains but, due to the uncertainty of the weather while they held the spotlight, the buyer incurred a loss of several hundred dollars. This loss was charged against his department by the powers that be. The buyer took another view of it. His contention was that the loss should be charged to advertising, in that the volume of word-of-mouth advertising the sale created would be of inestimable value to the store, but his view was not accepted.

Fur Sale Prices Advance.

Stimulated by an attendance of nearly 400 buyers, fur prices advanced materially over the annual Fall sale levels at the auction held here yesterday in the warehouse of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation. The total realized was unofficially set at $350,000, and buyers figured that the general rise in prices over the September sale averaged 25 per cent. throughout the list. An offering of about 800 wolf pelts was the "high spot" of the sale. This fur is used to a considerable extent for trimming purposes this season, in simulation of the popular monkey fur, and the pelts disposed of brought prices ranging from $5 to $15.75. These figures, according to buyers, ran from 50 to 125 per cent. above the Fall sale levels. Another feature of the sale was supplied by the Russian sable. One of these pelts, an extra dark large skin, brought $375, which was the highest price paid for any fur sold during the day.

Burlap Prices Easing Off.

Lack of buying in the local burlap market, coupled with no support from Calcutta, has brought about a very unsettled situation. The result is that the weakness in the primary centre is being reflected in local prices, and is added to by the decline of rupee exchange. Consequently, holders who were unwilling to "listen to reason" some days ago are now more anxious to sell. Buyers, however, continue to hold off, apparently believing that any increase in demand at this time will tend to strengthen the market. Spot and afloat 40-inch 8-ounce burlaps were quoted here yesterday at 4.10 cents by C. E. Rockstroh, broker, who also quoted the same goods for October shipment at 5 points higher. For spot and afloat 10½-ounce 40s the asking price was 5.40 cents, with October shipments held at 5.20 cents.

Tailor Offers Retail Discount.

One of the leading Fifth Avenue tailors has reduced prices, and at the same time is offering a discount for cash purchases. The reduction on suits amounts to $15, the price coming down from $150 to $135. The discount for cash is 5 per cent. It is understood that the reduction was made on the basis of lower costs derived from the greater efficiency of labor. Only a short time ago, the tailors were criticising the unwillingness of employes to turn out a normal or fair share of work. It was even said that many shops were closed down after the operatives refused either to take less for their services or to perform enough more work to allow a reduction in pay.

Sample Lines More Numerous.

An outstanding feature of the new lines prepared by clothing manufacturers for next Spring is said to be the large assortment of styles. One house reports, in fact, that in spite of having a warehouse almost full of salesmen's trunks, more had to be bought to carry the additional samples included in the Spring line. It was noted, this Fall, that the retailers were giving very close attention in their purchases to buying odd sizes and styles so that every possible customer might be suited. The same idea seems to have been carried out by manufacturers in preparing their lines for next season.

Cloak Men to Meet.

At the invitation of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association there will be a meeting today at the Hotel Ambassador, Atlantic City, of different market interests to seek a solution of some of the problems affecting the industry. Chicago, Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Louis and Toronto, as well as this market, will be represented at the conference. No set program has been laid down, but it is believed the manufacturers will discuss labor costs, sales, transportation, buying methods and many other subjects of interest. Some time ago, the markets outside of New York suggested a conference of the sort on labor matters. It is considered possible that a national organization of cloak men may result from today's meeting.

Demand Lower Wages.

It was reported yesterday in the garment trade that the manufacturers have already put forward preliminary demands on which the negotiation of a labor agreement may be based. The present agreement with the union comes to an end on Nov. 1. The manufacturers are chiefly interested in an understanding with their employes that will allow a lower cost of production. Their demands contemplate a wage reduction, a lengthened hour schedule, piece work and the right to discharge. A membership meeting of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association will be held on Monday evening to consider a program of action.

Further Decline in Raw Silk.

The local raw silk market continues stagnant and prices generally have receded from their level of last week in sympathy with the decline of the Yokohama market. The manufacturing situation here, H. L. Gwalter & Co., Inc., report, has not changed to any notable degree and although supplies at the mills are believed not to be plentiful and rather ill-assorted, buyers continue to hold aloof from the market and limit their purchases to the most pressing needs to keep their looms going. At the same time, offers of silk for resale on the part of the smaller mills are multiplying, which gives prices an irregular appearance and discloses either a condition of monetary pressure or a growing distrust in the stability of present raw silk values, notwithstanding a rather strong statistical position in all the primary markets. Business at Milan is quiet. The Yokohama market is dull, last reports showing a further recession of prices with Double Extra Crack at 1,630 yen, Kansai No. 1 at 1,560 yen and Sinshiu No. 1 at 1,550 yen. Trade is inactive at both Canton and Shanghai.

More Gray Goods Bids Made.

More bids than for some time were made in the local gray goods market yesterday, as a result of the rise in cotton, but the fact that many first hands tightened up on prices in proportion to the advance prevented the queries from being turned into sales. Sizable bids of 10¾ cents for 39-inch 68-72s were reported rejected by certain first hands, but second hands are believed to have traded at that level. For 38½-inch 64-60s first hands were asking 9¼ cents, but unconfirmed reports of sales of these goods at 9 cents from second hands made buyers somewhat wary. Sheetings were generally featureless throughout the day, but in the specialties sales of 72-60 pajama checks were reported at 12½ cents.

FAT WOMEN GETTING THIN.

One in Class of Fifty Has Lost Ten Pounds—Waistlines Smaller.

"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, athletic instructor of the fifty women engaged in reducing exercises so as to compete for prizes at the Health Exposition here next month, reported yesterday that some of his pupils already were showing a decided loss of flesh. The women turned out with enthusiasm for their exercises on top of Madison Square Garden.

Reductions also were confirmed by reports which reached the Health Department. One case was that of a woman who had lost ten pounds in the first three days of training. This woman weighed in at 208 pounds. Her delight when the scales registered only 198 pounds was unbounded. Another woman dropped from 180 to 175 and a third from 211 to 205. Diet and exercise have taken from one to three inches off some waistlines.

The team is looking forward to the hike announced for Sunday. Plans were not made public yesterday, as O'Brien does not want the route known. Whether the hiking costume would include the bloomers in which the women take their daily exercise was not indicated yesterday.

CEILING HITS SENATORS.

Debris Showers Pomerene and Swanson in President's Room.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The great gold chandelier in the President's room off the Senate Chamber was badly damaged today when part of the frescoed ceiling fell and broke gold and glass globes.

Senators Pomerene of Ohio and Swanson of Virginia were showered by debris but escaped injury.

ENCYCLOPEDIA CO. SUED.

Former Fire Commissioner Johnson Alleges Breach of Contract.

Joseph Johnson, former Fire Commissioner and Chairman of the State Boxing Commission, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against the Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., and Horace E. Hooper to restrain them from discontinuing his services as Vice President and Treasurer of the corporation. He alleges that the corporation made a contract with him on May 10, 1920, to pay him $1,000 a month and to turn over to him 450 shares of stock worth $250,000 if he remained an official of the corporation. He has received only fifty shares.

Johnson alleges that Hooper, who is control of the corporation, has threatened to discontinue his services, and will thus deprive him of his right to receive the remaining 400 shares of stock.

DAKOTA TAXPAYERS WIN.

Court Dissolves Order Restraining Deposits in State Bank.

BISMARCK, N. D., Oct. 20.—The North Dakota Supreme Court today issued an order dissolving the restraining order, issued at Jamestown Tuesday, ordering the Bank of Dakota not to receive further deposits. The order of the Supreme Court directs Judge J. A. Coffee, as plaintiff, to show cause on Nov. 1 why the order of the Supreme Court should not be made permanent.

The injunction is the result of an action brought by a group of taxpayers.

Marshall Field & Co. Say Foreign Purchases Are Small.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—John G. Shedd, President of Marshall Field & Co., issued a statement tonight denying charges made in Congress by Representative Fordney of Michigan that the firm is opposed to the American valuation plan in the emergency tariff law "because of its large purchases in Germany and Japan."

Mr. Shedd recalls that Mr. Fordney had previously asserted that the company owned hosiery factories in Japan and bought the entire production of factories in Japan and Germany to get the benefit of cheap foreign labor.

"Marshall Field & Co. have not bought the entire product of German hosiery or knit goods mills and have never bought or made hosiery or knit goods in Japan. In 1920 we did the largest volume of business in our history. In that year we paid for goods made in Germany less than one-half of one per cent. of our volume of business, and for goods made in Japan less than one per cent. In fact, all the money paid for goods made in all foreign countries was considerably less than 10 per cent. of our entire business.

"We are manufacturers in America on a large scale, owning and operating domestic manufacturing enterprises in several States, having in the neighborhood of 17,000 American citizens on our manufacturing and distributing payroll.

"Our experience in buying and distributing merchandise for more than fifty years convinces us that the practical and successful method of assessing duties in vogue for over 100 years should not be discarded for a theoretical, untried and impracticable plan that will inevitably increase the cost to the already overburdened consumer, and in our judgment bring disastrous results to the United States."

LEAGUE DINNER PRICE CUT.

It Will Be Held in Spite of Absence of Hylan, Craig and Hulbert.

Despite the announced defection of Mayor Hylan, Controller Craig and Dock Commissioner Hulbert from the ranks of invited guests to a dinner to be given for Democratic leaders in the Hotel Astor on Tuesday night by the American People's League, an anti-prohibition and blue law organization, officials of the league said last night that they were going ahead with their plans to hold the affair. The Mayor was said to have been angry because his name had been used in connection with the dinner. He also objected to the fact that tickets were $7.50 each.

Frederick Lawrence, Chairman of the league, following an executive meeting last night at the headquarters in the Astor, announced that the price had been lowered to $6 a plate.

McKENNA NOT DEBT ENVOY.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Answering a question in the House of Commons today, Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that the suggestion that Reginald McKenna while in America was to discuss with the United States Government the debt due it by the British Government had no foundation.

The Government, he said, was unaware of the nature of Mr. McKenna's business in America.

TWO BIG LEASES IN AUTO DISTRICT

Properties Involved Will Be Improved With Six and Eight Story Buildings.

$400,000 APARTMENT DEAL

John H. Scheier, who recently completed the seven-story Galvin Building, at 236-8 West Fifty-fifth Street, and who also owns the property adjoining on the west at 240 West Fifty-fifth Street, has acquired control of the three properties at 241-3-5 West Fifty-fourth Street, occupying a frontage of 57.6 feet.

The combined properties give Mr. Scheier a frontage of 117.6 feet in Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Streets. The two plots abutt in the rear and provide a site extending through from street to street.

The Fifty-fourth Street properties are bounded on the west by the Automobile Club of America, and on the east by the Pierce-Arrow Building. Directly opposite on the south side of Fifty-fourth Street, is a new twelve-story building occupied in largest part by representatives of the automobile industry.

The block bounded by Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Street, Broadway and Seventh Avenue, is the site of the proposed new twenty-six-story Hotel Commonwealth.

Mr. Scheier leased the Fifty-fourth Street properties through Albert H. Stout, from Charles Sommer & Bro., Inc., who have owned the property for more than half a century.

The three buildings were leased for twenty-one years and renewals, with an option to purchase. The transaction involves a net rental aggregating $1,000,000.

Mr. Scheier will immediately erect on the site, a new six-story store, office and apartment building, to be ready for occupancy next Spring.

New Columbus Circle Building.

As a site for an eight-story building to be devoted to the automobile trade, the northwest corner of Broadway and Sixtieth Street has been leased for a term of sixty-three years, at an aggregate rental of $2,520,000.

The property leased is known as 1,841 to 1,843 Broadway and 9 to 11 West Sixtieth Street, and is owned by Peter Doelger. It has a frontage of 58.4 feet on Broadway and is opposite the American Building, owned by W. R. Hearst.

The 1841 Broadway Real Estate Company has taken a sub-lease on the property from Margaret Lorentz. This company will take possession on Dec. 1 next for a period of twenty-one years, with the option of two renewals for similar terms.

For the first term the company will pay a net annual rental of $40,000 and for the two succeeding terms the rentals will be not less than that figure.

The leasing company, capitalized at $50,000, was formed by Algernon I. Nova, a Brooklyn lawyer, and has for its other two incorporators Isidor Staub and Alexander Cohen.

$400,000 Apartment Operation.

The Samuel Katz Construction Company has purchased as a site for a $400,000 apartment house speculation a plot with a frontage of 200 feet on the south side of Caryl Avenue, located about 400 feet east of South Broadway. The rear of the plot forms the dividing line between the City of New York and Yonkers.

On the site there will be erected two six-story apartment houses containing suites of two, three and four rooms. The houses will be finished in frontal style both on the avenue and park sides, and at the rear there will be no fence or wall.

New Company Buys Bronx Block.

The recently organized Massachusetts Holding Company (D. Molloy, J. O'Neill and T. H. Ray) bought from Emil Kaufman, Inc., the three-story building, 200 by 100, occupying the easterly block front of Lincoln Avenue, between 132d and 133d Streets. The seller acquired the property last August.

Westchester County.

A dwelling in Larchmont Manor, Larchmont, was sold by Chauncey B. Griffen & Co. for Mrs. M. J. Cherry to H. P. Hevenor. The property was held at $35,000.

Prince & Ripley sold for Charles Paul residence on Sterling Avenue, White Plains, to Frank E. Holloway. The property was held at $22,500. The same brokers sold for Barney Gerard colonial house on Park Circle, White Plains, to L. E. Paulin. The poperty was held at $16,500.

Two lots in the Fernciiff section of Scarsdale were sold by the Fish-Garmany Realty Corporation for Judson R. Swift to Mrs. Henrietta Roboson for improvement.

George Howe sold for John A. Rose the property containing eight acres of land, colonial residence and outbuildings on Glendale Road, Oaslning. The purchaser, Dr. Dorothy Smiley, plans to remodel the residence for occupancy. The property was held at $12,000.

Brooklyn Lots Sold at Auction.

Builders and investors bought lots at auction yesterday in the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange, 189 Montague Street, Brooklyn, offered by Joseph P. Day for the estate of Henry Hilton, in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn.

The lots were located on Meeker, Varick and Stewart Avenues, and Cherry and Anthony Streets.

The first lot offered was on Meeker Avenue, which sold for $525, the purchaser taking six more at the same price. The corner of Varick and Meeker Avenues, comprising four lots, sold for $2,100. Sixteen lots on Anthony Street, including the corner of Porter Avenue, sold for $135 each. Seven lots on Cherry Street brought $185 each.

TENANTS LOSE $1,500 RENT.

Their Attorney Tells the Court His Pocket Was Picked.

Justice Samson Freedlander in the Eighth Municipal Court yesterday granted a stay until Nov. 7 to tenants of 144 West 109th Street when he was informed in an affidavit by Clarence Nettles of 29 Broadway, attorney for the tenants, that the $1,500 rent he had intended to turn over to the court pending the litigation had been stolen from him.

"My pocket was picked and the money taken away," he said in his papers. He promised to make good the loss but the tenants instituted criminal proceedings and he is now held in $2,500 bail.

Manhattan Dwelling Sales.

The three-story dwelling at 267 West Seventy-first Street was sold by Coughlan & Co. for Gertrude A. Price to a client for occupancy. This was the first sale of the property in twenty years. The property was held at $30,000.

George W. Sasse sold for a client to Mrs. Mary Mulligan for occupancy 319 West 112th Street, a three-story dwelling on lot 16.8 by 100.

There were many women buyers. The greater part of the proceeds will be given to institutions here and abroad for the care of cats.

COMMERCIAL LEASES.

Baking Company Leases Big Space in Canadian Pacific Building.

One of the most important leases for office space closed in the Grand Central zone this Fall was consummated yesterday by the General Baking Company, of which William Deininger is President and Chairman of the Board, for a large amount of space on the fourteenth floor of the Canadian Pacific Building, Madison Avenue, Forty-third to Forty-fourth Street.

The space involved provides a frontage of 177 feet on Forty-third Street and will be used for executive offices.

This lease is indicative of the present and renewed activity in the movement of large corporations to the Forty-second Street district. The General Baking Company will take possession of the new quarters about Dec. 1. Cushman & Wakefield, Inc. agents of the Canadian Pacific Building, were the brokers in the transaction.

Jacob Rossbach leased the seven story building on a plot 43 by 75 at 55 to 57 Frankfort Street for a long term of years to the Star Company. This building faces the Brooklyn Bridge and connects with the several other properties recently leased to the Star Company, which is remodeling them prior to the installation of presses and machinery necessary for the publication of its various newspapers. Huberth & Hubert were the brokers.

Folsom Brothers leased for the Packard Commercial School the stone at 134 East Thirty-fifth Street, to F. J. Pasotti, for a term of years, for his business as a stationer and printer.

Royal Scott Gulden leased the store in the new building owned and erected by the John J. Hearn Construction Company at 48 East Forty-ninth Street, adjoining the Chatham Hotel.

The lease is for a term of ten years and the rental aggregates $52,500.

The store in 344 West Fifty-second Street was leased by Brett & Goode Company to Amzi Fischer.

The store at 45 West Twenty-seventh Street was leased by Bastine & Co. to Edgar Lehman. The same brokers leased to George C. Kindt & Co. the store at 19 West Twenty-fourth Street.

John R. & Oscar L. Foley leased for a term of years the corner store at the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue and Fifty-second Street to A. Massalian for a cigar and fruit shop.

L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co. leased for a term of years the fireproof garage on a plot 50 by 100, at 36 and 38 Beach Street, to the G. B. Express Company.

Folsom Brothers, Inc., leased for Packard Commercial School the store at 136 East Thirty-fifth Street for a term of years to Stanco Laundry Corporation.

New Owner for Hotel Winton.

The Hotel Winton, at the southeast corner of Park Avenue and 110th Street, was purchased by Meyer Weinstein from the Winton Hotel Company. It is a four-story building, fronting 75.8 feet on the Avenue and 39.9 feet on the street.

BANKRUPTCY SALES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York. In the matter of READY WEAR PUBLISHING CO., INC., Bankrupt.—No. 30,374.

Upon the annexed petition of MAX ROCKMORE, ESQ., the Receiver herein, verified the 18th day of October, 1921, and the offer of Benjamin Abrams, dated the 17th day of October, 1921, it is on motion of A. M LEVINE, ESQ., attorney for the Receiver.

ORDERED, that all creditors and other parties in interest in this proceeding, show cause at a term of this Court, appointed to be held at the Court House, in the Post Office Building, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 28th day of October, 1921, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as Counsel can be heard, why the offer of said Benjamin Abrams, or of any person who shall make the highest bid in excess of said offer for the assets of the bankrupt, exclusive of moneys, accounts receivable and other choses in action should not be accepted and the sale thereof to him by the Receiver should not be approved and confirmed.

FURTHER ORDERED, that any and all persons have leave to bid for the aforesaid property by submitting sealed bids therefor, accompanied by certified check for ten per cent of the amount thereof, to A. M. Levine, Esq., attorney for the Receiver, at his office, No. 15 Broad Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the 21st day of October, 1921, and that all such bids shall be reported to the Court on the hearing of this motion.

FURTHER ORDERED, that MAX CEDARBAUM, ALEXANDER LEWIS, and CLIFFORD G. LUDVIGH be, and they hereby are appointed appraisers, to appraise the property of the bankrupt, and that their report be filed on or before the 22nd day of October, 1921.

FURTHER ORDERED, that a copy of this order be mailed to each creditor appearing on the books of the alleged bankrupt at least 5 days before the hearing of this motion and be published in The New York Times and The Daily Trade Record on three days prior to the date when bids close.

Dated: At Chambers, the 18th day of October, 1921.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

State of Connecticut, Fairfield County, Superior Court, ss. Bridgeport, Oct. 14, A. D. 1921.

Upon the Complaint of the said Katherine Muller Saxe, praying, for reasons therein set forth, for a decree of Custody of the said minor children, now pending before this Court, having been returned thereto on the first Tuesday of September, 1921.

It appearing to and being found by this Court that Leslie John Saxe, the said defendant, is absent from this State and gone to parts unknown—residing in New York City, and that notice of the pendency of the complaint was given as required by order of notice heretofore issued, and now the Plaintiff asks for a further order of notice in the premises.

Therefore Ordered, that notice of the pendency of said complaint be given by publishing this order in The New York Times, a newspaper printed in New York, once a week for two weeks successively, commencing on or before the 21st day of Oct., A. D. 1921.

By the Court,
MICHAEL J. FLANAGAN,
Asst. Clerk of the Superior Court for Fairfield County.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE RIDGEWOOD NATIONAL BANK, located at Cypress and Myrtle Avenues, in the Borough of Queens, City and State of New York, is closing its affairs. All note holders and other creditors of the Association are, therefore, hereby notified to present the notes and other claims for payment.

Dated, September 1st, 1921.

HENRY A. BOHLEN, Cashier.

The above notice in regard to The Ridgewood National Bank is the legal notice required by law for every national bank going into liquidation or consolidating with another company. We are pleased to advise that The Ridgewood National Bank is now a branch of the MANUFACTURERS TRUST COMPANY, which has resources of approximately $50,000,000, and capital and surplus of $3,000,000. The MANUFACTURERS TRUST COMPANY has two other offices in Brooklyn and two in Manhattan and is in a splendid position to serve its customers to the fullest extent.

IS HELD FOR 4 FIRES WHICH COST $400,000

Charged with starting four fires, in which damage estimated at nearly $400,000 was done, Frederick Clark, a lumber handler, was locked up last night in the Fourth Street Station, Long Island City, on complaint of Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy, who said that Clark had confessed starting all of the fires "just for excitement and to watch the firemen work."

Clark, who is six feet two inches tall and weighs 245 pounds, is described by Marshal Brophy as "one of the most dangerous pyromaniacs ever encountered." The fires were all on the property of Clark's employers, the Astoria Mahogany Company of Astoria, L. I. Clark, according to the Fire Marshal, said that he had no grudge against his employers, but that he could not resist the temptation to start the fires so that he could help the firemen.

Denies Britain Plans New Navy Bases.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—The reports that Great Britain was planning the establishment of naval bases in the Bermudas, at Singapore or elsewhere were termed "pure imagination" today by an Admiralty official, who said he was unable to understand to what Premier Hughes of Australia was referring in his recent speech on the subject.

SALESMEN.
Take my case, for instance:

A year ago I was living in a dingy little flat in Harlem, paying $35 a month rent. $50 a week looked like a million dollars to me. I was out of work and had no money saved up.

And when I read a Business Builders' advertisement just as you are now reading this one, I doubted the opportunities it offered to average men, just as you are now doubting them, but I investigated. During MY FIRST WEEK with this organization I earned $109. During my first month I earned more than $1,000. Six months later I was promoted to an executive position, and shortly after received a second advancement.

My record was not at all unusual. Many men overshadowed me. I am only one of more than one hundred men who have been promoted by this institution during the past year.

I left school at the age of 15. It isn't probable that I have any greater ability than you possess.

The difference between average men isn't much when you come right down to it. I know what I'm talking about, for I am in charge of a Business Builders' sales unit of over 100 men.

Mr. Elliott, the head of this organization, says that the trouble in business is NOT the lack of men WITH ABILITY, but the terrible lack of ability of men to USE their ability.

Think that over! It's true, isn't it? I KNOW it was in my case. When I woke up and realized all I had missed through the year—a comfortable home, good clothes and the other things that money can buy—I wanted to take every man I knew by the shoulders and look him straight in the eyes and tell him my SECRET.

I wanted to say to him, "WAKE UP! The years are flying past and you must make good before you are 40. Your chance grow slimmer after the full vigor of your youth begins to go. WAKE UP!"

You are either out of a job or you aren't satisfied with the one you have. That's why you are reading this advertisement.

We need men and you need a job—so come up and let's talk it over.

We have contracts with seven corporations in different industries to furnish 450 men, trained for sales executive positions. These positions will pay salaries of $100 a week and up. Good jobs.

You earn your opportunity to be appointed to one of these positions by selling their securities. And don't be frightened by that word "securities." You're wrong about not wanting to sell securities. I felt very hesitant about selling securities, too, but that was because I had a lot of wrong ideas about them. Every business is financed by selling securities and these corporations are all established, successful companies.

You will earn a good living in commissions while you are learning in our training classes salesmanship and sales executive work.

I have tried as best I could to interest you enough to come up and see us. That's all. I only hope these words of mine will make you want to come up and investigate thoroughly for yourself. You owe it to yourself and your family to find out ALL about it.

I hope my effort will be the means of helping a few men to better jobs, for it has meant so much real solid satisfaction to me to wake up to my opportunities and really USE my ability and be able to buy the things in life that I saw other people having.

FLY BATTLE PLANE MOUNTING 30 GUNS

3,000 SHOTS IN 4 MINUTES

An armored military airplane mounted with thirty machine guns capable of spraying 3,000 shots in four minutes has been completed by John M. Larsen, an engineer and inventor, at his aeronautical plant at Central Park, L. I. Carrying Larsen, Brook Hyde-Pierson, pilot and M. Goodenough, mechanician, the craft will fly to Washington today to be inspected by army and navy officials.

The J-L attack plane, as it has been named, is of all-metal construction and has a cruising speed of 141 miles an hour. It has a wing spread of 49 feet and a length over all of 32 feet. A 400 horse-power Liberty motor supplies the power. Its radius of action is 400 miles.

The craft is a monoplane with cantilever wings which do not require exterior bracing. When manned with crew and equipped with 3,000 pounds of ammunition and necessary fuel the plane weighs 5,000 pounds.

Larsen places great stress on the manoeuvre ability of the plane, which, despite its size and bulk, can be manipulated as easily as the single seater he says. It can be put through aerial manoeuvers seen as the loop-the-loop, the Immelmann turn and the like, he declares.

The main battery of armaments consists of twenty-eight machine guns arranged in two sections inside the body. The first section of twelve guns is placed back of the pilot's seat, sixteen other guns are mounted to the rear. The remaining two guns are superimposed on the forward part of the cockpit, where they may be operated by the pilot and a gunner.

The two main batteries of guns are fired by means of three levers, two of them each firing a section and the third, a master lever, exploding the whole twenty-eight. Each gun has been tested to fire 1,500 rounds per minute. It requires only four minutes to replace fresh magazines in all the guns.

Each of the circular drums used in the Thompson machine guns on the plane contains 100 cartridges. The ammunition equipment consists of three drums each for the thirty guns, a total of 9,000 cartridges.

A particular feature of the plane is the armored protection afforded to vulnerable parts. The plane itself is constructed of duralumin, an alloye of aluminium, the metal sheets having a thickness of 25-1,000 of an inch. Vital parts are braced with armor 3-16 of an inch thick, sufficiently strong to deflect both rifle and machine gun bullets, it was said.

FEARS 'DEVILISH MACHINES.'

Senator Watson Demands Protection From Autos and Motorcycles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A demand for protection by Capitol police from automobiles and "that devilish machine known as the motorcycle" was made in the Senate to-day by Senator Watson of Georgia.

Referring to the Stars and Stripes floating from the Capitol dome as a guarantee "of life, liberty and limb" the Georgia Senator declared that Senators were compelled to jump from in front of motor vehicles, and that tourists and other visitors also were imperilled. The Capitol police, he asserted, gave virtually no protection against motor vehicles and, he charged, permitted roaming dogs to chase the pet squirrels in the Capitol grounds.
